Daughter Like Father.
Franklin and Johnson.
Russia Asks $400,000,000.
Gang Efficiency.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MISS ANNE MORROW, to be Mrs. Lindbergh, is revealed by eager reporters as an unusually intelligent, able young woman. The world already knows of her father's ability. And Galton's work on heredity proves that the ability of fathers is inherited by their daughters.

MISS MORROW and her mother are graduates of Smith College. The daughter, writing excellent verse and prose, proves her possession of a brilliant mind, and what is most important to the future generation, active imagination. Actual accomplishment in the father, and imagination in the mother, is the desirable combination. And in the engagement of Col. Lindbergh and Miss Morrow you have this combination clear enough to delight the most enthusiastic eugenist.

THE public will welcome this engagement for many reasons; among others, the fact that undoubtedly it will keep young Lindbergh on the ground at least PART of the time.

IN LONDON, a letter written by Benjamin Franklin, sent from Philadelphia to his sister in Boston, sold for $5,750.

A letter written by Samuel Johnson, sent to his wife, sold on the same day for $5,750.

FRANKLIN and Johnson are as far apart as kerosene lamps and electric light. Johnson believed in things as they were, everything old and respectable. Franklin, sending up his kite to capture electricity, believed in everything new.

Both were useful, Johnson teaching men to think, Franklin teaching them to act.

COMPETITION in the bootleg liquor trade diminished on the north side of Chicago yesterday.

Five members of one gang, getting the drop on seven competitors, lined them up against a wall and shot them down with machine gun fire, killing every one.

The "bump-off" squad left huddled in a heap seven victims, every one a man well known for his ability at "gun play."

THIS happened in Chicago's Forty-third Ward, lacking an alderman, sent two days ago to spend two years in Fort Leavenworth prison for leadership in "alcohol cooking" and bootlegging.

Two of the wholesale murderers were disguised as policemen.

This incident in crime life will interest Europe, studying our prohibition reform wave.

THE Russian government would like to borrow $400,000,000 in the United States, to be spent buying machinery for farms and for road making.

Thomas E. Campbell, of Montana, one of the greatest, most successful of wholesale farmers in the world, returns from Russia saying he thinks the Russians would pay. And what is more important, he declares that "Russia seems to have gone further than any of us in thinking out the application of industrial methods to the business of farming."

HENRY FORD apparently believes Russia will pay, or perhaps he collects his money in advance. At all events he shipped 2,500 of his tractors to Russia on one order and will ship many more from his tractor plant in Ireland.

GERMANY, determined to excel in the air, is demolishing the gigantic Zeppelin plant at Friedrichshafen, to arrange construction of a super air boat.

This ship, to be ready in 1931, is intended "to establish trans-Atlantic air service as reliable as a railroad train." If the Germans do not succeed this time, they will keep on until they do succeed.

THE Senate votes to sell, for $16,000,000, to Paul W. Chapman, 11 vessels belonging to the United States Shipping Board. One of these, the Leviathan, could not be built for $16,000,000 with several millions added.

Uncle Sam, through his government, officially confesses his inability to run steamships.

INTELLIGENT Mussolini changed the saying about writing the songs of a nation and letting anybody else make the law. To him the important thing is to write the captions on films. That he does in connection with the signing of the Vatican treaty. Films were submitted to the Italian ruler, who wrote what was to be said at the showing.

IT IS expected, in Rome, that the Pope will leave the Vatican in June to make a formal call on the Italian king at the Quirinal Palace. That will terminate the Pope's imprisonment within the Vatican limits that has lasted nearly 60 years.

THE cold wave spreads in Europe, reaching Italy.

The Riviera, and Rome, are covered with snow. All water-ways, except in Spain, are icebound.

Fuel shortage is acute, schools in Berlin close for a week and 300 are reported dead of cold.

Meanwhile, thousands of coal miners are idle in Wales and elsewhere in Britain.

TROTZKY, once ruler of Russia's army, is said to be a prisoner in the soviet consulate in Constantinople.

Trotzky would like to go to Germany to discuss with communists there the possibility of making Russia what he would call "truly communistic according to Lenin's ideals."

Unfortunately for him, Russia may decide to send him on a much longer journey.

In revolution, as in other things, pioneers usually travel a rough road.

THE Tenth Army Signal Company, carrying a portable radio in the Panama tropics, talked to Commander Byrd in the Antarctic, 8,000 miles away. Write that among genuine miracles.

How soon will man talk to the planet Mars, only 40,000,000 miles away, less than half the distance to the sun, at certain times?

His Act Ended

JACK OSTERMAN

ACTOR OUSTED FROM STAGE OF THEATER HERE

Jack Osterman, born and reared in the show business, was an ex-comedian today, so far the Davis Theater was concerned.

Osterman performed the apparently impossible feat of concluding a week's engagement in four days at the Davis last night when the lights were dimmed as he stood on the stage and Manager Charles E. Smith led him to the wings.

LAST CHANCE

"Mr. Osterman," Smith announced to the audience, "will never appear in this theater again as long as I am the manager."

Smith explained today that Osterman had not been sticking to his regular act, that he had been improvising about events and persons.

Osterman, who calls his act "Glorifying the American Boy," was rather indignant today. His explanation was that Manager Smith had been incensed at Osterman's mention before the audience of a prominent downtown night club.

SOME O'THIS-AND-THAT

"Osterman is supposed to give the same act on Thursday as he gives on Monday," Smith added. "That's what he's paid for and that's what he wasn't doing."

Osterman, 26, has been in vaudeville and Shubert revues for 10 years or more. His mother was long a stage favorite and his wife of four months was a showgirl in "The Three Musketeers."

Michigan Labor Asks Vote on Prohibition

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The Michigan Federation of Labor in convention here has gone on record as favoring a referendum on prohibition in the next state election.

A resolution adopted yesterday asks for a referendum and suggests the Legislature plan a modified law. The liquor law was called "one that has made drunkards out of mere drinkers and has been ineffective in solving the liquor problem."

Flies to 35,000 Feet But Misses Record

WRIGHT FIELD, O., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—After remaining aloft for two hours and 20 minutes in a flight to set a new altitude record, Lieut. Harry Johnson, Selfridge Field flyer, landed here at 1:50 p. m. today.

Johnson attained an estimated altitude of 35,000 feet. Trouble with the supercharger forced him to descend after reaching 35,000 feet, several thousand feet under the present altitude mark.

West Derry Homes, Garage, Autos Burn

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—A garage, two dwellings and part of a third, with nine automobiles, were destroyed by fire at West Derry, near here, today. Loss was estimated at $25,000. The buildings burned were the garage of the R. T. Stouffer Company and the dwellings of S. T. Miller and John Ault. Six of the automobiles burned belonged to Stouffer.

Marshal Foch Better, His Doctors Report

PARIS, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Marshal Foch again showed an overnight improvement, according to his three physicians, who this morning resumed issuance of official bulletins as to his condition.

U. S. PLANS 10-STORY BUILDING

Plans for providing $1,500,000 additional funds for Pittsburgh's new postoffice and allowing three additional stories to the proposed building were revealed today.

Postmaster George W. Gosser is hopeful that work of construction on the new building at Seventh avenue and Grant street will be started in early spring.

Word has been received that the authorities in Washington have acted favorably upon a recommendation of the special committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce for the purchase of a strip of land between the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad and Bigelow boulevard north of Seventh avenue.

The land is approximately 70 by 275 feet and is triangular in shape, containing about 20,000 square feet. The land is owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and is used as a billboard space and parking area.

Leave to Dr. Wilbur Fires Cabinet Rumor

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., 15.—(AP.)—Trustees of Stanford University granted an indefinite leave of absence to Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, university president, and Prof. Robert E. Swain, dean of the Stanford chemistry department, was appointed acting president yesterday.

Granting of leave to Dr. Wilbur convinced political circles here that he was slated for the Interior Secretary post in the cabinet of President Herbert Hoover.

Pershing, Gilbert On Way to Recovery

PARIS, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Two prominent Americans were definitely on the road to recovery after influenza attacks today.

General John J. Pershing was able to get around his room in a dressing gown, although he is receiving no visitors.

S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, is keeping indoors merely as a precautionary measure and has seen some friends. He plans to leave for Berlin Monday or Tuesday.

"Goodbye Kiss" Fails to Stop Parking Fine

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ray Foster, wife of a film cameraman, explained in court why her car was parked without lights:

"My husband was going away. I had to kiss him goodbye. We haven't been married long."

"Where was he going?"

"To put the car in the garage!"

"Where is the garage?"

"Three blocks away."

A fine of $2 was imposed.

COAL COMPANY OFFERS AID TO BORKOSKIS

William G. Warden, chairman of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, promised today that "the right thing" would be done for the family of John Borkoski, slain by coal and iron police in the company's employ.

Asked to specify what he meant by "the right thing," Warden said it was "in process of being worked out."

In the meanwhile, he added, the company will gladly co-operate with the public authorities in seeing that justice is done.

He said the killing of Borkoski was deplorable, but that it could not be considered as showing the whole coal and iron police system was wrong.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company, Warden declared, would be glad to have the state police its isolated mining towns, but such protection could not be obtained, he asserted, and the company had no other alternative than to use coal and iron police.

Warden said he doubted if the Legislature would repeal the law authorizing the system, but he expects some changes.

Temple Degrees for Fisher, Atterbury

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Honorary degrees were conferred today on Gov. John S. Fisher, Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Leon M. Conwell, mayor of Somerville, Mass., son of the founder, and Mrs. Frances Elliott Clark, of Camden, at the celebration by Temple University of the anniversary of the founding of the institution.

Mother, 5 Children Killed by Gas Fumes

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Killed by gas, five children and their mother were found huddled in a group today in their home here. All gas jets were turned on when police burst in after neighbors sent in a frantic call for help. The dead are Mrs. Mary Pasos, 35, and her children, Alfreda, 1; Melia, 4; Joseph, 8; Beatrice, 10; Cecelia, 12.

LAWMAKER COLLECTS EVIDENCE

M. A. Musmanno, Stowe Township attorney and member of the state House of Representatives, today is making a personal investigation at the site of the brutal killing of John Borkoski, Tyre miner, in the barrack of the Pittsburgh Coal Company's coal and iron police Sunday.

Musmanno questioned several witnesses to Borkoski's death.

Deputy coroners also are on the scene making a field investigation and rechecking evidence with which District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner hopes to fasten the death penalty upon Lieut. W. J. Lyster and Privates H. P. Watts and Frank Slapakis, now in the county jail charged with the murder.

DEATH PENALTY SOUGHT

After reviewing evidence involving three police officers of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in Borkoski's savage slaying, Gardner said that his course was clear. He declared that he would go into court and fight for a first-degree murder sentence with a recommendation for the death penalty.

Musmanno, author of a bill which will be introduced before the lower house to repeal the acts providing for railroad and coal and iron police, is making a personal investigation of the slaying and subsequent conditions, that he may be better able to answer any and

LINDY LANDS AT SAPELO ISLAND

SAPELO ISLAND, Ga., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed from the air here at 11:25 a. m. today to spend a few hours as the guest of Howard E. Coffin on his island estate. He planned to stay here only a few hours and then go to Washington.

He had luncheon here with a number of other guests. Among them were Caleb Bragg, of New York; Carl Fisher, Miami millionaire; Robert H. Tyndall, Miami, and George Boutillier.

It was probable that he would take off some time during the afternoon to go on to Washington, although there was a possibility he might delay the hop to go on a pheasant hunt this afternoon.

7 OFFICERS OF CLUB FREED

The Union Fishing Club, an organization of North Side politicians, was found guilty today in Federal Court of selling and possessing liquor, five counts in all.

Six of 13 individuals tried jointly with the club also were convicted. The seven others were acquitted. No one was convicted on the charge of conspiracy.

Those found guilty are Joseph P. Hilldorfer, former president; John Coney, assistant steward; Frank G. Peters, a waiter; Valentine Przeklassa, N. Allshouse and C. W. Bott.

CONVICTED OF SALE

All of these were found guilty of selling liquor, and Przeklassa and Allshouse of possessing and transporting, in addition. They were said to have sold liquor to the club.

Bott was charged with "shooting."

Attorneys for the convicted men gave notice that they would petition for a new trial.

The individuals found not guilty of any of the 13 charges in the indictment were W. H. Robertson, president of the club, city assessor, former councilman and a candidate for the Republican nomination for prothonotary; A. E. Gill, secretary of the club; Dr. F. H. Frederick, chairman of the board of directors, a member of the municipal Civil Service Commission, and William L. Trimble, A. G. Walter, William Bader and John F. Soutter, all directors of the club.

JURY OUT SIX HOURS

The verdict was reached at 9:45 o'clock last night after the jury had deliberated six hours.

Yesterday's court session was spent in final addresses by defense counsel and Assistant United States Attorney Joseph A. Richardson, and the charge to the jury by Judge Nelson McVicar. Members of defense counsel were allowed one hour and 15 minutes to make final arguments and the government attorney was alloted one hour.

By agreement of the large array of defense lawyers, the closing addresses were delivered by Attorneys C. B. Prichard, John Platt, W. W. Stoner and Samuel Rossiter, of Erie, Pa. The court directed the jury to return a verdict of acquittal of William A. Parchman, an alleged liquor dealer, who was represented by Attorney H. I. Hirsch. The court refused motions for binding instructions as to the other defendants.

HOLDUP MAN'S NOTE

RING RETURNED TO GIRL BY ROBBER

A diamond ring graced the second finger on the left hand of Theresa Basial, 24, in a downtown department store today and in her heart there was gratitude for a highwayman.

An envelope containing the $350 diamond and a note was dropped surreptitiously into the mail box at Miss Basial's home, 137 Moultrie street, yesterday.

Miss Theresa was held up near her home on January 28 by an armed Negro and forced to surrender the ring. The note said:

"Was just a joke. Sorry to put you to any trouble."

RISING STOCKS DROP AGAIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The New York Stock Exchange opened with a burst of strength today, as retention of the 5 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank last night precipitated a flood of short covering, but the movement soon spent itself and the market began to slip, a wide assortment of issues showing net losses of $2 to $11 by early afternoon.

The fact that the directors of the Reserve Bank held a session of nearly five hours yesterday caused considerable uneasiness.

Banks called $50,000,000 in call loans. Bankers' acceptance rates were raised for the second time this week, and time money rates were raised from 7½ to 7¾ per cent for some maturities.

Johns Manville and Radio, after showing net gains of $4 each, soon were selling $3.50 under last night's close. Coppers generally gave way. United Electric Coal lost $11, Allied Chemical $5.50, and Montgomery Ward, General Electric, International Nickel and Packard were among issues sagging $2 to $4.

DRY CHIEF ALLEGES PLOT

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—A direct charge that Chicago policemen yesterday had killed the six gangsters and a physician lined against a wall and riddled with machine guns, was made here today by F. D. Silloway, deputy prohibition administrator.

Silloway made the charge after he had exposed reports made by his private prohibition agents in an independent investigation of the slaying, the worst in the history of gangland, in which the entire "mob" of George (Bugs) Moran, North Side liquor king, was wiped out.

It was pointed out by Silloway that the automobile used by the murderers was a Cadillac, such as a police squad car, and that in the getaway all witnesses testified the machine had both a siren and a gong.

ACCUSES POLICE

Silloway said a police bureau squad had hijacked a cargo of the Moran gang's liquor, 500 cases, three weeks ago.

After detailing the hijacking and his belief that the police assisted in it, Maj. Silloway said:

"Leaders of the Moran gang told the police that they would no longer give them their regular donations for protection because of this job. So the police probably selected the new method of murder in retaliation. The fact that a police squad car with a gang on the side, which was seen by several witnesses, together with the fact that those in the garage apparently recognized two of the men in police uniform and admitted them without question, substantiates my theory that they were policemen.

FOUND CROWD, SHOT

"The murderers went to the garage with the intention of get-

THOUSANDS ENTER FLAG CONTEST

Approximately 10,000 children, between the ages of 14 and 18, living in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, are now competing for the 'Round the World Trip offered the winners of the Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association.

Information received from other Hearst newspapers throughout the country shows that school children everywhere are taking an enthusiastic interest in the Flag Contest.

Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association says:

"The undertaking is developing in a most gratifying way, indeed in a way exceeding our expectations, which were very sanguine. From present indications there is good reason to believe that the movement will become the biggest and most far-reaching patriotic youth movement in the history of the nation."

NEW QUESTIONS PRINTED

The third set of Flag Contest questions are published in the Sun-Telegraph today. All three sets will be republished in Sunday's Sun-Telegraph for those who missed them.

Schools, clubs, civic or patriotic organizations are invited by the United States Flag Association to establish Local Flag Contest Units.

The contest consists of answering 75 questions on the American flag and what it stands for and in writing a short essay that can be recited within five minutes, on "Old Glory's Greatest Glory."

RULES OF CONTEST

The condensed rules and regulations governing the contest are repeated herewith for the benefit of those who have not already seen them, and a complete set of these regulations will be furnished those who apply to conduct contests:

1. The contest is open to every boy and girl in the United States, regardless of race, creed and color, between the ages of 14 and 18, on Flag Day, June 14, this year, provided they, or their parents or guardians are not employed by any Hearst Newspaper or Hearst Newspaper organization. 2 BANDITS SHOT IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Two bandits were shot by a policeman here today after they had held up a grocery store and kidnaped a chauffeur to make their "getaway."

In the exchange of shots between the policeman and the bandits, the chauffeur was wounded.

The men shot by Policeman William Katelhut were Harry Meyer and Robert Manning, both of Detroit. The chauffeur was Walter Harris.

Katelhut commandered a passing automobile and the revolver battle, in which the bandits returned the fire, took place as both machines were speeding at 50 miles an hour.

(Third Group)

17. In addition to the Act adopting the Flag and the subsequent laws affecting its design, what laws has Congress passed affecting the Flag? (Value five points)
18. How is the misuse, abuse and desecration of the Flag legally guarded against outside of the District of Columbia? (Value one point)
19. Has your State a law against the improper use or desecration of the Flag of the United States, and if so, give briefly its principal purpose, including the penalty prescribed for its violation? (Value seven points)
20. What do you feel it your duty to do regarding violations of Flag laws and how would you go about discharging such duty? (Value two points)
21. How many stars are there in the Flag today and how are they arranged? (Value two points)
22. Which State does the first star in the blue field of the Flag represent and when did it ratify the Constitution? (Value one point)
23. Which State does the last star represent and when was it admitted into the Union? (Value one point)
24. When is the star added to represent a new State that has been admitted into the Union? (Value one point)
25. Are there any Federal or State laws prescribing how the Flag shall be displayed, or how it shall be saluted? (Value one point)

Today's Flagism

The United States battleship "Maine" was blown up in Havana harbor on February 15, 1898. A few months later, victorious American forces had humbled the one-time mighty Spanish nation and had planted the American flag in Cuba, principal territorial asset of the defeated Spaniards. That war, it is said, firmly established the place of the United States as a world power in the minds of the nations of the old world. To Cuba, the coming of Old Glory meant literally a new era of prosperity, freedom and development.

ting the Gusenberg brothers and Clark, Moran's brother-in-law, who accused the police of aiding in the hijacking job. When they entered the garage and saw four other men there, they impulsively shot all present."

Moran, Maj. Stilloway said, is in Detroit, where he has been for two week. He said he expected to obtain from another man, Henry Finkelstein, described by him as the brains of Moran's gang, the details that led up to the shooting along with the names of the slayers.

CHIEF SAYS "ALL ROT"

Commissioner Russel characterized Maj. Silloway's theory and statement as "all rot," but added that "no matter who did it, I am out to get them and clean this case up." He was attending the coroner's inquest when he made the statement.

The coroner's jury, with Bert A. Massee, manufacturer, as foreman, assembled at a police station and viewed the bodies, then went to the garage to view the scene of the executions. Upon their return to the police station, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, coroner, ordered all curious persons to leave. Dr. Bundesen said that an autopsy revealed that each one bore from 25 to 30 bullet wounds.

Russell ordered a roundup of all criminals and gangsters inhabiting well-known saloons and gambling resorts. The federal government is sending assistant United States district attorneys to attend the inquest.

City and county agencies believe the key to the solution lies in the finding of Moran, who was variously reported in hiding, fleeing the city and critically ill of influenza.

Forty men have been rounded up and are held at the detective bureau for questioning.

Mercer Sheriff To Use Dog "Wardens"

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 15.—Sheriff D. K. Callahan, Mercer County, is going to use dog guards instead of men to see to it that none of his prisoners escape. He believes that the dogs will keep better watch than the wardens. He already has purchased one huge German police dog which will patrol the outside walls of the jail, while another will be used to do sentry duty in the jail yard.

all questions directed against his bill.

Senator H. P. Brant is in Harrisburg personally directing his move for a legislative investigation in connection with the situation. Advices also were that Senator Frank P. Harris, of Crafton, was in Philadelphia seeking a solution to the coal and iron police problem.

Meanwhile, the storm of public indignation stirred by the brutality surrounding Borkoski's death continued unabated. Letters to every member of the Pennsylvania Legislature demanding revision of the law relating to the coal and iron police were mailed last night by the Pittsburgh branch of the American Civil Liberties Union.

This action followed a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Building late yesterday when resolutions were adopted denouncing coal and iron police, and ways and means were discussed for bringing pressure to bear for the prompt punishment of Borkoski's murderers.

WANT DECISIVE ACTION

"Western Pennsylvania is aroused and is demanding in no uncertain terms an investigation of this latest outrage," it was stated in the letters to the legislators. "In arms as a result of a long series of brutal and tyrannical acts, the community is calling for decisive action not only against the particular troopers involved in this case, but against the whole system of the coal and iron police.

"We are satisfied that nothing less than a basic revision of that section of the law which deals with coal and iron police, closed towns and related subjects will suffice."

The three officers accused in Borkoski's death were placed in a standup of other county jail prisoners yesterday. Watts was picked out as the coal and iron policeman who several months ago beat an Oakdale man unconscious. The identification was made by Ellwood Roedler, 21, of North Fayette.

John Higgins, friend of Borkoski and witness of his death, was questioned again yesterday. Half a dozen times he told the same story of the brutal beating administered to the slain man in the barracks of the Pittsburgh Coal Company's police at Imperial.

He told how Watts and Slapakis had come to the home of Mrs. Anna Blossick, Santiago. Both, said Higgins, appeared intoxicated. Watts drew forth a pint of moonshine and, according to Higgins, offered him a drink. He said he drank with the officers and Patsy Caruso, a friend.

RELATES KILLING STORY

Then an argument between Blossick, the officers and Higgins' friends developed, and the coal and iron police attacked Blossick and Blossick's mother screamed for help, Higgins said. Watts, said Higgins, beat Borkoski unconscious and took him and Higgins to their private police headquarters.

At the barracks Lyster entered, and, announcing that he was ready for a workout, grabbed a poker and began beating Borkoski, Higgins said, while Watts leaped on Borkoski's chest, crushing his ribs. Borkoski never regained consciousness.

Detective officials announced that they are not satisfied with the explanation of Corp. Mechling, in charge of the barracks during the beating, and of Constable Ross Schaffer, of Glenfield, who said he was asleep while the beating was in progress.

Mechling said that he was at his desk working at the time and Schaffer claimed that he was so tired that he slept throughout the affair. Both will be called as witnesses for the commonwealth.

3 PAJAMA-CLAD GIRLS FLEE DETENTION HOME

Police today were seeking three girls, garbed in blue smocks over pajamas, who strolled out of the Juvenile Detention Home in Fifth avenue, near McKee place, last night.

The girls went to bed at the prescribed hour last night, according to Juvenile Court authorities. About 11 p. m. they donned the smocks and walked out the front door while their jailer was in another part of the building.

Those sought are Susan Pillar, 17, of 417 George street, Braddock; Catherine Schrock, 16, of 2831 Jane street, and Mary Marculaitis, 16, of Brentwood. All were about to be placed in the Gumbert Home for Girls, it was said.

A sister of the Schrock girl notified the Missing Persons Bureau that a boy friend of Catherine had reported seeing her in the South Side early today. All were arrested on incorrigibility charges within the last few weeks.

TO SEEK ARCTIC BIRDS

PLANS ARCTIC TRIP

Alone, George M. Sutton, former member of Carnegie Museum staff here, will strike out into the Arctic in search of rare birds. He will be financed by Mr. Semple. Sutton (the taller) is shown with an assistant examining a Pennsylvania bird.

BRAVES ARCTIC FOR BIRDS

A lone young man, for some years on the staff of Carnegie Museum, will spend 13 months in the Arctic circle, with a half-dozen Eskimo families his only companions.

He is George Miksch Sutton, artist and state ornithologist. Leaving Pittsburgh early in July, Sutton will have Southampton Island, north of Hudson Bay, the homeland of some of the world's most beautiful birds, as his ultimate objective.

Once there, he hopes to study and gather the birds of the island, of which nothing definite is so far known. Reports of the natives say that the beautiful Snow Geese nest there; that there the white gyrfalcons live in the cliffs and nest; that walrus and caribou frequent the coastline, while swans of majestic beauty live in the inland tundra.

TO TAKE RADIO

The solo expedition is being financed by John Bonner Semple, of Sewickley, a patron of the sciences who has financed and made many trips to enrich the collections of Carnegie Museum. It is assured, as a result, that the Pittsburgh institution will have a North Country habitat group, containing probably a white gerfalcon, snowy owl, whistling swan and some of the other more spectacular types.

Mr. Sutton will spend all the days of his trip made available by temperate weather, in seeking birds and studying them, and the long winter days will be given to mammal hunting. His base of supplies will be the Hudson Bay Company's trading post at the southeastern corner of the island.

Besides the radio, with which he hopes to receive programs from Pittsburgh, he plans to take a complete photographic outfit. He hopes also to make field drawings of the birds in their native haunts.

FIFTH TRIP TO NORTH

The trip will be Sutton's fifth to the Far North. Last summer he studied the birds in the district contiguous to the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

In 1920 he was in the Cape Chidley district; in 1923 he was in James Bay, where he obtained blue geese, and in 1926 went by canoe down the eastern shore of Hudson Bay, around the Labrador Peninsula.

Mr. Sutton was formerly bird artist and collector under Dr. Clyde Todd, curator of birds, Carnegie Museum.

Senate O. K.'s Medal For Colombian Flier

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—A bill to authorize award of a Distinguished Flying Cross to Capt. Benjamin Mendez, in recognition of his "extraordinary achievement" in linking North and South America by air, was passed today by the Senate and sent to the House. Capt. Mendez, piloting a seaplane, flew from the Northern Atlantic coast of the United States, to Giradot, Colombia.

NEW RUM RING TRIALS OPEN MONDAY

The government's second attempt to obtain convictions in the so-called rum ring conspiracy, involving police, politicians and alleged racketeers, will be made next week, it was announced today.

United States Attorney John D. Meyer notified 25 defendants in the North Side group and approximately 50 in the South Side to appear in Federal Court Monday morning when one set will be placed on trial and tentative dates announced for arraignment of the others.

Charles Faulkner, police inspector of the North Side district, and John O'Donnell, Republican chairman of the Twenty-second Ward, are among the 25 North Side defendants grouped by wards.

They were reindicated last month by a special federal grand jury after they and 21 others named in the original indictment had been acquitted in December.

The South Side group will be tried jointly under the original indictment charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

Return of Borglum To Memorial Denied

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—G. F. Willis, president of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association, has issued a statement denying that Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, who was dismissed by the association in 1925, would return here to complete its memorial to the Confederacy on Stone Mountain.

Answering the sculptor's statement in Des Moines that he intended to return and resume work, Willis said: "There is not a word of truth in the statement."

M'BRIDE CHIDED FOR HARBORING OHIO PAROLE

An official frown was levelled at the Parting of the Ways Home by President Judge James B. Drew of Criminal Court today for harboring "reformed" criminals who cannot claim Pennsylvania as their native state.

Judge Drew issued a court order for the appearance of Rollo H. McBride, superintendent of the Home, after two defendants with prison records had told of being "put up" at the Home.

ADMITS ERROR

McBride, answering the summons, had a private conference with Judges Drew and Ambrose B. Reid. He admitted later he had made a mistake when he opened his doors to one George Down, 23, after Down was paroled from a reformatory at Chillicothe, O.

Down apparently failed in his attempt to reform. Today he pleaded guilty to larceny of several hats from the Sol Mintz store at 410 Federal street. He was sentenced to three to six years in the workhouse.

McBRIDE DENIAL

McBride denied the story of Albert Kechele, 35, that he had lived in the Home. Kechele, a North Sider, pleaded guilty to larceny and testified that McBride had brought him to Pittsburgh from Ohio State penitentiary where he was paroled.

Kechele admitted stealing $146 from the Jacob Moresky store at 529 Taylor avenue and was sentenced to five to 10 years in prison.

McBride said he had been instructed by the jurists to confine his attention to Pennsylvanians.

DEFENSE REST IN BROWN CASE

The defense rested today without calling to the witness stand Guy W. Brown, former state senator and churchman, on trial in Federal Court, charged with embezzlement.

Called in rebuttal, Mrs. Andrew W. Brown, widow of the former president of the Fayette City National Bank, testified in flat contradiction to testimony previously given by Jesse R. Brown, a brother of the defendant.

She denied that the defendant, Jesse Brown, had ever come to her home to confer with her husband regarding rediscounting of notes and loans as had been stated by Jesse Brown.

Jesse Brown was the first called by the defense, and the rigid cross-examination consumed far more time than that required for direct testimony.

He testified that a certificate for stock of the United Coal Mining Corporation, a Brown enterprise, issued to Peter Zemo, his chauffeur, as collateral for a $20,000 note of Zemo, was in the collateral files of the bank, although not entered on the books, it was developed on cross-examination.

Russian Government Studies Snow Plows

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis.—A representative of the Russian government visited here recently to investigate the operation of snow plows in this country with a view of gathering first hand information for Russia where caterpillar power will be used in driving snow plows.

GUY W. BROWN

Brown, former state senator and Presbyterian elder of Fayette County, now of South Aiken avenue, Pittsburgh, on trial in United States Court accued of embezzling about $130,000 as vice president and managing head of the Fayette City National Bank.

TRAFFORD BANK TRIO PLEADS GUILTY

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 15.—After nearly a dozen of state's witnesses had identified them as being implicated in the holdup and $13,000 robbery of the First National Bank of Trafford, Edward Motes, Samuel Fucci and Patrick F. Trader, on trial in Criminal Court here today, entered pleeas of guilty to robbery, pointing firearms and carrying concealed weapons. Sentence was deferred.

Six witnesses, among them O. M. Kimmell, the yardmaster of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, who was kidnaped by the bandits after the holdup when he attempted to delay them, gave such positive identification of the three suspects that the defense, after a conference, asked the leave to withdraw the pleas of not guilty and substitute pleas of guilty.

The holdup occurred November 23. Police still are seeking the fourth member of the gang who it is believed escaped with the bulk of the cash.

Woman Risks Life In Leap to Aid Man Afire

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Glancing through her apartment window, Mrs. Della Rooney saw Charles Bitter, 65, converted into a flaming torch as his clothing blazed from a broken gas stove connection. Running to the fire escape, she jumped the seven-foot chasm between the two buildings, threw water on Bitter's burning clothing and rolled him in blankets until the fire was out. Her heroic measures were in vain, however, for Bitter died a few minutes later.

REMOVING SEVEN VICTIMS OF CHICAGO GANGLAND MASSACRE

Police ambulances in the rear of 2122 North Clark street, Chicago, removing seven members of one gang lined up at guns' points and mowed down with machine guns, shotguns and revolvers of a rival gang. The liquor war, police believe, brought on the massacre.

POLICE RAID OUTSIDE OF LAW

Frederick Woltman, a philosophy teacher at the University of Pittsburgh, scored an overwhelming victory against the city police today when Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, advised by the city law department, discharged Woltman and three members of the International Labor Defense group who had been arrested for holding a meeting without a permit.

W. Ellison Chalmers, an official, with Woltman, of the American Civil Liberties Union, indicated that the union was considering damage suits against the city or the arresting officers.

Benner

Assistant City Solicitor Thomas N. Benner advised Rothenberg that the police had exceeded their authority when they arrested the four men at a meeting in Labor Lyceum Wednesday, in that no permit was needed for such a meeting.

The raid was conducted by Lieut. George Hook. He took, besides Woltman, Fred Merino, David Maits and E. P. Cush, who were at the meeting held to protest against workhouse sentences imposed upon three Beaver County men convicted of sedition for speeches at a Sacco-Vanzetti meeting.

The four prisoners remained in jail three hours and at their hearing yesterday challenged Rothenberg to permit them to claim their bonds and go back to cells.

U. S. PLANS BIG P. O. BUILDING

the Chamber of Commerce committee, the question of additional space was raised and, according to the latest advices, a 10-story building will be erected instead of a seven-story structure originally planned. The architecture will be modern, with a monumental entrance for the Seventh avenue front of the building.

It is estimated that an additional appropriation of $1,500,000 will be required. Representative Stephen G. Porter, it is said, has taken steps toward inserting this sum for Pittsburgh's needs in the general deficiency bill which will be passed by the present Congress.

With this amount assured before March 4, it is believed that the recommendation for the purchase of additional land can be carried out without delay.

EARLY ACTION AWAITED

With the plans for the new building practically completed, the entire project can be carried forward with no further postponements, it is held.

Radical changes have been made in the plans, according to information from Washington. Instead of patrons of stamp windows, parcel post and registry divisions and the money order departments being compelled to climb to the second floor, as they would have done in a building as originally designed, these departments will be on the street floor at the Seventh avenue entrance. Escalators will be provided from Grant street near the Liberty avenue front.

Four additional court rooms for the Federal Court will be included if the three additional stories, making the building 10 stories instead of seven, are provided.

NAVY FUND BILL REPORTED OUT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Carrying $12,370,000 for the first two years' program of the newly authorized cruiser construction, the Navy Department appropriation bill was reported to the Senate today by its Appropriations Committee.

The Navy Department bill carried a total of $360,712,517, as it went to the Senate today, compared with the $347,750,448 voted by the House.

Earlier in the day Representative Tilson, House Republican leader, and Director Lord, of the budget bureau, conferred with President Coolidge about appropriations for commencing construction of the cruisers.

The committee upheld the decision of the sub-committee to make $700,000 of the funds available for an immediate start on five of the 15 cruisers.

President Coolidge yesterday recommended that the first allotment of funds for the cruisers be used during the approaching fiscal year, beginning July 1. The committee has decided, however, to make $700,000 available during this current year.

This is the second time Coolidge's wishes as to the cruiser bill has been disregarded by Congress.

JUNIOR LEAGUE TO EXHIBIT PUPPETS

Pittsburgh society is going in for puppeteering on a scale that vies in magnitude and originality with that of Tony Sarg. That the society puppeteers are not mere dilletantes, but hold a high professional acumen, will be demonstrated this afternoon and tomorrow morning when the Junior League stages its marionette show for charity at the parish house of the Church of the Ascension, Ellsworth avenue. "The Voyage of Bobby Jones" is the title of the three-act puppet show. The first presentation will be given today at 4 o'clock, for league members and their friends, and the second presentation tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock, for public school children.

PURELY LEAGUE SHOW

Everything in connection with the show has been devised by Junior League members. The play was written by one. Others designed and made the puppets and their costumes. The miniature stage and settings were designed and executed by members, and the marionettes will perform, with members manipulating the strings and speaking their lines.

The puppets are clever and dainty creations. They are made in such a way that they can do virtually all of the movements of the human body. By moving a number of strings, attached to head, feet and limbs of the marionettes, the operator makes it possible for the puppet to do a dance, walk, shake his head, or do a somersault.

14 CHARACTERS

The cast comprises 14 characters. The leads are Bobby Jones, Cinderella, Alice in Wonderland, lame Prince, Princess, Pirate, Dragon, the Bear Family.

Mrs. C. L. Snowdon, Jr., is in charge of the show, assisted by Mrs. Herbert A. May, with Mrs. Oliver J. Keller in charge of music; Mrs. A. V. Wasson, of diction, and Mrs. Joseph M. Scribner, of marionettes. The puppeteers are Mrs. Snowdon, Mrs. Wasson, Mrs. J. S. Hammond, Mrs. R. Kent Hanson and Mrs. C. Dudley Armstrong. Mrs. George M. McLaughlin is in charge of properties. The ticket committee includes Mrs. Dorwin Donnelly, Mrs. Thomas M. Jones, III, Mrs. Felix B. Snowdon and Mrs. May.

EDWARD ROBERTS

Roberts, 50, arrested by Vandergrift (Pa.) police at the request of South Bend (Ind.) police when he came to Vandergrift to collect insurance left him by his third wife, buried Sunday. Authorities seek to determine if she had been poisoned.

DEATH OF WIFE PROBED, MAN DETAINED

By AL GOUGH.
Staff Correspondent.

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Feb. 15.—Edward Roberts, 50, South Bend, Ind., who came here to collect the insurance on his third wife, whose body was exhumed to determine the cause of death, will remain in jail until the contents of her stomach have been analyzed by a chemist, Chief of Police Dwight L. Johnston declared today. The chemist's report is not expected before Saturday.

Meanwhile, South Bend authorities, who asked Roberts' detention, are investigating reports from Roberts' neighbors that he purchased poison a few days before Mrs. Roberts became ill about two weeks ago. Roberts, according to South Bend authorities, told the druggist he wanted the poison to kill a cat. He told Vandergrift police his wife died from eating wieners.

SISTER REFUSES TO COMMENT

The burial permit which Roberts brought with him from South Bend when he arrived with the body of his wife last Saturday gave the cause of death as heart trouble.

Mrs. J. R. Bell, of 128 Lafayette street, sister of the dead woman, declined to discuss the case, saying that she knew nothing other than that South Bend authorities had requested her brother-in-law's arrest. She said Roberts arranged for the funeral here and had stayed at her home after his arrival.

Mrs. Roberts was buried Sunday at Apollo, but her body was exhumed Wednesday upon receipt of the request from South Bend police. Dr. G. R. Kennedy, of Vandergrift, is making the examination.

MARRIED THREE TIMES

According to authorities, Roberts had been married three times, all of his wives having died. A son by his first wife, William Roberts, 20, resides in Pittsburgh. He is living with Dr. J. A. Soffel, of 23 Shiloh street, Mt. Washington.

The youth says his mother died 17 or 18 years ago and that his father married the second time a few years later. This wife died about four or five years ago in Pittsburgh, according to the youth, who declared he had not been living at home during the past year.

His father had resided in South Bend for about three and a half years, he said, having moved there shortly after his marriage in Vandergrift. Mrs. Roberts was a native of Vandergrift, her maiden name having been Jack. She had been married once before.

Palestine Campaign Fund Teams Meet

The second meeting of the executive committee and captains and majors of the teams of the United Palestine Appeal campaign was held today in the private dining room at Kaufmann's. Leo Lehman addressed the luncheon.

Further reports on the program of the movement, which has for its purpose the reconstruction of the Jewish homeland, were made by officers. The campaign enters its second week Sunday and is scheduled to wind up February 24. The goal of this region is $125,000, of which Pittsburgh is to raise $75,000.

Millionaire Wins "Friendly" Divorce

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—A "thoroughly friendly" divorce action has freed Ashton Rollins, Boston millionaire banker, from his wife, Mrs. Amylita Phinney Rollins, it was revealed today. The decree was obtained secretly in Dover, N. H., Monday, Rollins admitted.

Mrs. Rollins is said to have received a cash settlement of $250,000 and a life annuity of $6,000, but Rollins said these figures are "exaggerated." The couple's daughter, Nancy, aged 8, was awarded to the father for four months of the year and to the mother for eight, Rollins said.

HAPGOOD TOILS IN COAL MINE

DENVER, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Powers Hapgood, Harvard graduate and writer, of Pittsburgh, today is working as an ordinary miner in a coal mine near Lafayette, 20 miles north of Denver.

Hapgood

With his wife, Mary Donovan Hapgood, who was a candidate for governor of Massachusetts last fall, Hapgood lives in a modest cottage near the mine and his wife fills a large dinner pail for him daily which he packs into the underground workings.

"I'm just resting—and earning a living," Hapgood told interviewers who found him living quietly in the mining camp, "and because everyone has been kind to us here, we plan to remain indefinitely."

Hapgood denied that he was in search of "color" for a book or "investigating conditions in the Colorado coal fields." He said he was "much interested in the union labor movement and the only way to take part in that movement is to become a worker and a member of the organization."

Powers Hapgood is well known in Pittsburgh as a labor sympathizer. He formerly resided at 1607 Buena Vista street. In the fall of 1927 he ran for county commissioner on the Labor party ticket.

First Caterpillar Of Year Reported

MARTINS FERRY, O., Feb. 15.—Finley Davis, local postoffice employe, claims the distinction of seeing the first caterpillar of the year. He says he saw it crawling over the snow on a day when the mercury was 10 degrees above zero. Davis supports his claim with a witness, Ringland Grayson.

HOOVER VISITS FLOOD REGION

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
International News Service.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 15.—In his lifetime role of a skilled and competent engineer, President-elect Hoover set out from his pre-inaugural headquarters here early this morning for a two-day motor trip that will carry him nearly 500 miles through the area hardest hit by the Florida hurricane last September.

It was Mr. Hoover's desire to view the locale personally, to the end he would be better qualified to consider relief measures after assuming the presidency. The President-elect's itinerary will carry him through the Everglades and around Lake Okechobee, where more than 2,000 people perished when the storm literally hurled the water out of the lake and over the countryside. There is a distinct drainage problem if the possibility of another such disaster is to be averted, and he wants to test his own engineering skill in that connection.

Accompanying Mr. Hoover were Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of Army engineers; Representative Frank Reid, Republican, of Illinois, chairman of the House Flood Control Committee; Gov. Doyle E. Carlton, of Florida, and the state's experts and engineers. A cavalcade of 20 automobiles was necessary to carry the whole party.

Today's trip will cover the 233-mile stretch between Miami Beach and Clewiston, on Lake Okeechobee. Arrangements have been made to put the Hoover party up over night at Clewiston.

Hiking Club Plans Haysville Walk

The regular Sunday walk of the Pittsburgh Hiking Club will be led by Grace Moorehead, from Haysville, to Emsworth. Those attending will take a train leaving Pennsylvania Railroad Station at 1:30 p. m. All those interested in walking are cordially invited to attend.

WOMEN ARTISTS TAKE SIX PRIZES OUT OF NINE

For the first time since Pittsburgh artists began presenting their work in exhibits 19 years ago, women have won the majority of prizes offered by the Associated Artists in their annual show.

Today six pictures by women hang on the walls of Carnegie galleries with prize tags on them, while only three tags decorate the paintings by men. Among the women prize winners are the first honor, that for the best portrait, for the best black and white and for the best flower picture.

The three men who won were John Kane, erstwhile house painter who has consistently placed high in recent shows here, with the $250 best group prize; Samuel Rosenberg, who took second honor and $100, and Vernon Purnell, who won the best water color prize and $25.

GIRL TAKES FIRST PRIZE

To Ray Motz, of Squirrel Hill, student in the sophomore class at Carnegie Tech, went the first honor and prize award of $150. Her winning picture, "Bishop's Lodge Hill, Santa Fe," was painted in New Mexico.

Marcella Comes, a young woman who recently showed a picture for the first time in the Corcoran American show, Washington, won the $100 portrait prize with "The Swiss Guard;" Esther E. Topp, of the Carnegie Tech staff, won the flower prize of $50; Mary Ballou Shaw, for the best painting by a woman, got the $25 award; Virginia Frances Wallace, of Swissvale, took the $50 black and white prize, and Martha Levy, the third honor prize of $50. Miss Levy, a former Pittsburgh girl, now lives in New York.

An extraordinary feature of the exhibit is the tribute to Charles J. Taylor, late head of Carnegie Tech's school of design, in the form of a group of five of his pictures.

The one-man show includes 27 oils by Clifford Adams Bayard, for the most part landscapes and homelike scenes painted in pastoral sections of Western Pennsylvania and Vermont, where the painter now resides.

The exhibit, which opned today, is the largest in the history of the organization, more than 400 pieces including oils, water color and pastels, black and whites and sculpture being shown. There are only a few examples of the carver, due, perhaps, to the lack of prizes in this class. The most favored medium has been oil.

BOY, 16, EXHIBITS

Several new names appear on the pictures, one being that of John Kucera. Represented by five pictures, the youth, only 16 years old, makes his debut after having spent several years in Russia. He lives in Carrick and is the youngest to have passed the jury on entrance in the history of the exhibition.

'ONE-ARM' AUTO TRIAL DELAYED

The failure of the state's star witness to appear in Criminal Court this morning, caused Judge J. Frank Graff, of Armstrong County, to postpone the trial of John Brizzle, alleged "one-arm" driver, charged with manslaughter, to February 25. Genevieve Fitzpatrick, the witness, who had entered a plea of no defense January 29, had not been subpoenaed.

Brizzle's car is alleged to have struck Mike Stefanick, 20, 969 East Ohio street, while driving along East Ohio street, Shaler Township, with one arm around Miss Fitzpatrick. Stefanick died on the way to the Allegheny General Hospital.

Yelloway, Greyhound Bus Lines Combined

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Consolidation of the Yelloway Lines and the Greyhound Lines, bus companies, with a combined investment of more than $12,000,000, was announced here yesterday by O. S. Caesar, president of the Motor Transit Corporation, and W. E. Travis, president of the American Motor Transportation Company.

The two lines will be united under the name of the American Motor Transit Corporation, to form the largest long-distance bus transportation system in the country, officials said.

"GLORY BARN" GONE, SPROUL DEFIANT

"I'll build another tabernacle in Pittsburgh, if necessary."

This was the challenge Evangelist John W. Sproul today flung at what he termed the "powers of darkness which are trying to undo the great work we have been doing in the Glory Barn."

The huge tabernacle on West Carson street was seized last night by a deputy sheriff in behalf of the Center Lumber Company, 1848 Center avenue, his creditors.

Sproul's radio broadcasting station in Frankstown avenue also was seized and padlocked.

The padlocking of Glory Barn made it impossible for the evangelist to hold healing and evangelistic services there last night, but he obtained the use of station KQV to broadcast a sermon.

Sproul said he is looking around for a theater in which to hold services. He will broadcast from KQV at 3 and 7:30 p. m. today.

Young Peoples' Head To Attend Banquet

Dr. R. A. Pollock, of Denver, chairman of the national committee of directors of young people's work, will be the principal speaker at the tenth annual banquet of the Inter-Presbyterial Young People's Christian Union, to be held at McCreery's dining room, Sixth street, at 6:30 p. m. tonight. Congressman Clyde Kelly will be toastmaster. Young people from the Presbyteries of Allegheny, Beaver Valley, Butler, Chartiers, Chicago, Cleveland, Colorado, Conemaugh, Hudson, Kiskiminetus Lake, Mansfield, Monongahela, Steubenville, Wheeling, Westmoreland and Xenia will attend.

MELLON BOOST OF DRY FUND 'TOO SMALL'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Southern drys in Congress today refused to accept the proposal of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to raise prohibition enforcement appropriations $2,570,000 as a substitute for their extra $24,000,000 fund in the first deficiency bill.

The first deficiency bill apparently having been scuttled in conference through disagreement over the dry fund, the Southern drys were preparing to add the $24,000,000 amendment to the second deficiency bill.

HARRIS TO FIGHT ON

"I am glad that the administration has recognized the principle I have been fighting for," said Senator Harris, of Georgia, author of the $24,000,000 amendment.

"I am disappointed that the President has not seen fit to recommend a larger fund. I will continue to attempt to have Congress set aside a larger fund for the purpose of real prohibition enforcement."

Senator Harris made only one exception to his attitude. If President-elect Hoover declares that he does not want the extra money for dry law enforcement, he probably will drop the fight.

LEADERS FOR MELLON

Administration leaders of the House indicated they would adopt the Mellon plan and boost the present dry fund of about $35,000,000 a year by the $2,570,000 requested. Mellon proposed to give $1,700,000 to the prohibition bureau and to use the rest among other agencies enforcing prohibition.

Another proposal of the Treasury, as an offset to the Southern drys' demand, was presented to the House Interstate Commerce Committee today.

Secretary Mellon, in a letter to Representative Hoch, of Kansas, recommended legislation authorizing increase of the officer personnel of the coast guard from 455 to 588. The request was embraced in a bill considered by the House committee.

Mellon explained that expansion of the coast guard has been necessary to meet the duty placed on it by Congress of breaking up liquor smuggling rings.

Herrin Officials Guilty as "Wets"

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Mayor Marshall McCormack, of Herrin, Ill.; his brother, Elmer, a policeman, and Chief of Police John Stamm were convicted of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act in a verdict returned today in United States District Court.

Two Families Flee As Home Is Burned

Fire caused by an overheated furnace early today damaged a duplex dwelling at 1401 Beechview avenue to the extent of $2,000. The families of P. S. Deasey, occupying the first floor, and of Isadore Green, occupying the second floor, fled safely to the street.

Fink Waives Hearing In Girl-Arrest Case

Magistrate A. D. Brandon announced in Morals Court today that Harry Fink, private detective, had waived hearing for court on charges growing out of his payment of a $25 fine for Betty Milton, arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

M'KEES ROCKS MAN JAILED IN KILLING

Adolph Odochowski, of Race street, McKees Rocks, was committed to the county jail on a charge of murder today, as a result of the death in the Mercy Hospital this morning of Anthony Churlonis, 62, a boilermaker, of Russelwood street, McKees Rocks.

An autopsy at the county morgue showed that Churlonis had died from injuries alleged to have been received when beaten by Odochowski Monday night.

According to the report to the coroner, Churlonis was visiting friends in Rosemont street, McKees Rocks, when he was attacked by Odochowski, said to have been mentally deranged.

Churlonis went home apparently uninjured, and the following day was sent to the hospital by Dr. H. E. Clark. Members of the victim's family then preferred charges against Odochowski before Justice of the Peace Alex Boehm, and Odochowski was committed to jail pending the outcome of the victim's injuries.

Dollar Plans 2 Giant Plane-Carrying Ships

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—R. Stanley Dollar, vice president of the Dollar Steamship Company, announces that his company has asked for bids for the construction of one or two ships to be the largest commercial vessels ever built in America. The ships fitted to carry airplanes for ship-to-shore passenger and mail service, would cost $7,000,000 each.

$500,000 Oil Deal Made in Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 15.—The Sun Oil Company, of Philadelphia, has purchased the Hugh B. Hamilton interests in this city, handling Sun Oil products, for $500,000. The Youngstown branch will be in charge of E. G. Kemena, of Pittsburgh.

COL. LINDBERGH ANNE SPENCER MORROW

Some of the readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph see strong resemblances between Col. Lindbergh and Miss Morrow, his fiancee, and telephone to say so. What can you see in these similiarly-posed portraits?

STORY LINDY'S MOTHER WILL WED FOUND FALSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Cupid struck only once in the Lindbergh family, it became known definitely today, although a report had attempted to make a double-barreled blast out of the colonel's engagement announcement with the additional rumor that his mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, was engaged to Capt. F. A. Anderson, of the liner President Wilson.

Mrs. Lindbergh is due here February 19 on the Wilson from Turkey, where she taught school for several months.

The New York newspaper first carrying the report of Mrs. Lindbergh's engagement to Capt. Anderson printed a picture showing the couple standing together. The same paper today printed an apology to both Mrs. Lindbergh and the captain, explaining that the Italian photographer who took the picture had been "misinformed."

From London came the explanation that the word "fianco" on the photograph caption, which means "standing next to," may have been misconstrued as meaning "fiance."

Capt. Anderson has been married 39 years, and his family is happily awaiting the captain's homecoming in Oakland, Cal.

YOUTH HUNGRY FOR ADVICE, GIRL SCOUT REPORT SAYS

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Girls in their teens still hunger for guidance, even though the days of the old-fashioned chaperone are gone, Mrs. James Decter Rippin, national director of the Girl Scouts, declared in the annual report of the organization.

This guidance is being provided for 190,309 members by 22,622 volunteer leaders, she said, adding:

"We strive to provide leadership endowed with an insight into the character of girls, eager to enrich their lives and to substitute reality for shadow romance and shadow living.

"Defiance and revolt of modern youth disappear when youth is confronted with a well-planned program, stimulating and wholesome companions. The old doubts and conflicts are forgotten. The independence remains, but instead of being sullen or rebellious, it becomes a radiant, friendly and constructive force."

Present membership in the organization has reached a new high level, the report stated. With every state represented, the number of active girl scout troops is 7,684, representing 2,816 communities.

During the year awards were made of 32,286 proficiency badges for homemaking, 20,112 badges for health and 12,306 badges for handicraft.

"Lindbergh Party" Saved from Yacht

KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Mystery today surrounded the identity of a party of nine persons which late last night was taken off the yacht Diana shortly before she sank on a shoal off the coast. Coast guardsmen brought the party to a hotel here, where they were registered as "Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh and party." Reports that the Lindberghs were relatives of Col. Charles Lindbergh could not be confirmed.

Stricken Senator Better, May Live

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—United States Senator O. A. Larrazolo, of New Mexico, near death yesterday following an attack of appoplexy, was said to have improved slightly early today. His physicians said he had a fair chance to recover. The Senator formerly was Governor of New Mexico.

Botanist to Talk On Spring Flowers

"Spring Wild Flowers" will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. O. E. Jennings, professor of botany, University of Pittsburgh, and curator of botany of the Carnegie Museum, in the Lecture Hall of the Carnegie Museum, Sunday at 2:15 p. m. Dr. Jennings will tell some interesting things about wild flowers in the Pittsburgh district. He has studied them in Western Pennsylvania for more than 20 years.

Husband Gets Bulk Of Ringwalt Estate

Mrs. Mary Ringwalt, of Penn avenue and Richland lane, disposed of a $50,000 estate by her will, probated today. To her husband, Henry L. Ringwalt, she leaves the home and two-fifths of the remainder of her property. One fifth goes to her sister, Mrs. Barbara P. Miller, and the other two-fifths to her brothers, George E. and William Peebles, equally. The husband and the Commonwealth Trust Company are named executors.

Portes Gil Bans Meet To Protest Life Plot

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The disapproval of President Emilio Portes Gil today caused cancellation of orders for a demonstration Sunday protesting the recent attempt on his life. The president thought the demonstration, in which labor and social organizations were to be enlisted, "would attempt to give undue importance and keep public attention fixed on an affair which would be better forgotten."

GOOD WIFE, MOTHER REAL AIDS TO SUCCESS, FORD VIEW

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
International News Service.

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 15.—Declaring that "work" is his formula for success, Henry Ford, the richest man in the world, today amplified that assertion by adding that a good wife or a mother who exerts the right influence also plays a tremendous part in helping an ambitious man attain his goal.

"I cannot estimate the amount or credit my wife should be given for whatever success I have achieved," said Mr. Ford with some feeling. "It has been incalculable."

PRAISES WIFE

"Fully 50 per cent of the credit," interjected Harvey Firestone, millionaire rubber man, who was listening to the interview which took place on Mr. Ford's beautiful tropical estate, where he has been in semi-seclusion.

"Yes, all of that," said Mr. Ford.

I reminded Mr. Ford that his old friend Thomas A. Edison, world's famous inventor, had stated on his eighty-second birthday last Monday that he did not know a single person who was happy.

"Do you know one happy person?" I asked him.

"Yes," he replied. "I think Mr. Edison is the happiest man I know. He has reasons to be happy. He always has been busy.

"Edison's work has always been constructive and genuinely worthwhile. That is the thing that makes for happiness.

"Looking back on your own successful life, what achievement, or what moment, gave you the biggest thrill?"

Mr. Ford smiled and then replied, cryptically:

"The last moment. That's the best moment for everybody. You feel better today than you did yesterday. You have learned something. You have gained experience. Now I enjoy the manner in which you are interviewing me."

PRAISES YOUNG FOLKS

"What is your impression of the young people of today? Are they going in too much for luxuries and amusements?"

"No sir, they are all right, they are alert and active and they are going in for experience. I confess I don't know what luxury is. If having more things is implied, I think the viewpoint is wrong, for what they are really getting is experience."

"How is your health, Mr. Ford? Do you diet and exercise?"

"I feel fine," he replied. "If I don't, I know it's my own fault. When you do not feel right it is generally because you have overeaten or have eaten the wrong things.

"Not too much, is a safe plan, and do not mix the three different foods. I mean fruit, protein and starch. They should be eaten separately, an all-fruit meal, an all-protein meal and so on."

"Do you play golf or tennis?"

"No, when I want exercise I run or chop wood, a brisk run on rising in the morning and just before retiring at night is a great thing for the system. I like to get a good workout in this way. I can get my exercise quickly, and just when I want it. If I feel badly, I stop eating and run it off."

Discussing Mr. Edison's experiments with rubber plants which the famous inventor undertook for the purpose of giving the country a big home-grown rubber supply in the event of a national emergency, Mr. Ford predicted that Edison "will find something that can be grown all over the country."

(Copyright, 1929, by INS.)

(This is the second of three interviews with Henry Ford. The third, dealing with prohibition, war, crime and capital punishment, will appear tomorrow).

BOBBED HAIRED WOMEN NEEDN'T HAVE GRAY HAIR

Nature Will Keep Hair Youthful Shade Free Of Gray

LIFELESS GRAY HAIR REGAINS OLD BEAUTY

Everybody knows if color glands and hair roots are healthy and active, the hair will continue indefinitely a rich, natural color entirely free of gray or streaked locks.

A doctor several years ago asked himself this question: If I can stimulate digestion, liver, heart, etc., with a tonic, why not rub a stimulating tonic into the scalp that will revive those inactive glands so nature in her own natural way will resume putting plenty of pigment into the hair tubes—surely the hair will then resume its original beautiful shades of youth regardless of user's age or previous condition of their hair.

REMARKABLE DISCOVERY

The doctor's search led to endless experiments. He didn't want a dye or tint, and it, of course, must be harmless even if a person used it many years. Under the name, Lea's Hair Tonic, anyone may now purchase the tonic he finally perfected. For several years hairdressers, scattered over the country have been using it. Results are so nice and gradual men use it too. It doesn't stain the scalp, and as a test one need only apply it to some small spot a few days to watch results. Shampoo as often as desired.

Most people are first induced to try Lea's for gray hair, but it primarily was intended as a tonic to put the scalp, hair roots, pigment glands and hair in a healthy, vigorous condition. Of course, with a healthy scalp comes a change in appearance of hair and a restoration of the natural shade of brown, red, black, auburn, or blonde. There are some three thousand shades of color in human hair—no dye expert can paint one's hair as exquisitely as nature. Lea's merely stimulates nature to renewed activity, puts nature back on the job, you might say, and the tint she imparts to your hair, once the scalp, roots and glands become healthy, is natural. What is more beautiful or becoming than nature's own choice of shade to match your eyes, complexion and beauty?

If a reader desires to try Lea's Hair Tonic on guarantee of complete satisfaction they should get a bottle at drug store or pin dollar bill to this advertisement and send to Lea's Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md., for generous size bottle, full directions.

Experts cannot detect the use of Lea's Hair Tonic.

DRUNKENNESS SHOWS INCREASE UNDER "DRY" ACT

NATION SEEKING PLAN FOR REAL TEMPERANCE

Statistics available from 584 police departments of the United States, as the result of a national survey of prohibition in 1928, reveal to contestants in the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest the amazing conditions which have resulted despite attempts to enforce the Volstead act.

These figures as made public recently show:

1. In 584 towns, cities or localities arrests for drunkenness increased from 640,125 in 1924 to 676,708 in 1925; to 695,928 in 1926, and to 707,104 in 1927.

2. In 518 places arrests for drunkenness in 1927 reached 238 per cent of the figures for 1920, the first year of national prohibition, which was the lowest year for drunkenness.

3. In 388 places from which figures were available from 1914 to 1927, inclusive, arrests for drunkenness in 1927 were higher than in any previous year, save only at the war-boom peak of 1916. The 1916 peak was 559,364 arrests for drunkenness, and 1927 almost reached it, with 557,369 cases.

The report of this survey, made at the instance of some of the most distinguished citizens of the United States, including presidents of life insurance companies, heads of great industrial corporations, university professors, churchmen and civic leaders, declared:

"When we consider that drunkenness generally has already increased to the pre-prohibition level, and that drunken children have increased far above anything ever known before in this country, we cannot escape the conclusion that the Volstead act has failed utterly to do what it was intended to do, namely, promote temperance and sobriety. Moreover, since conditions have become worse, not better, each year, and with the 'next generation' drinking as never before, there seems to be no hope that the Volstead act, in its present drastic form, can ever accomplish its purpose.

Bone-Dry Failure

"From the experience, before national prohibition, of the states which had restrictive laws, from the experience of the whole country during the restrictive years 1918-1919, and from the experience of the Canadian provinces and the Scandinavian countries, we believe that a greater degree of temperance can be attained by a wise restrictive law than by a bone-dry law which does not command the respect of a large part of the people.

"We are also of the firm conviction that such a policy of wise restriction would have the incidental advantage of eliminating almost entirely the scandalous corruption and bribery of public officials, would stop the growth of the bootlegging industry, would check disrespect for law, and would in addition, produce a handsome national revenue."

Reference librarians in public libraries, college heads and officers of clubs throughout the country write in requests similar to the following from Miss Eunice E. Christiansen, reference librarian of the Davenport, Ia., public library, and the showing the nation-wide interest in the temperance contest:

"We have frequent calls for details concerning Mr. Hearst's temperance prize contest and would be very grateful for any information which could be sent to us."

All such inquiries, it should be noted, may be referred to any of the temperance contest editors of the newspapers mentioned in the list of the rules of the contest, or may be sent directly to the contest headquarters at No. 220 South street, New York.

Further comments from men of affairs on the temperance prize contest and the principles involved in its conduct, as given by representatives of Hearst newspapers, are subjoined:

Benjamin F. Affleck

Benjamin F. Affleck, president of the Universal Portland Cement Company and president of the Union League Club, Chicago:

"I am a believer in temperance in the use of alcoholic beverages as well as other kinds of drink, food and habits, and no one recognizes more fully than I the evil of excessive indulgence in alcoholic beverages and the evils of the old-time saloon.

"But correction or removal of this evil I do not think can be accomplished by legislation. If we say, 'We will not,' the matter is settled, but if someone else says, 'Thou shalt not,' the question is not settled.

"Human conduct cannot be controlled by prohibition, compulsion, coercion or restraint. Those forces are effective only so long as and to the extent they are applied, but so long as human nature is what it is (and it has not changed for thousands of years) human beings will not obey laws which they think are wrong and which a very substantial minority, at least, of the population think are wrong.

"The Eighteenth Amendment was, in my opinion, such a wide departure from the principles of the constitution that I think I would say it was unconstitutional.

"The idea that an act committed in this country is criminal which, committed in nearly every other civilized country in the world, is not, seems most inconsistent."

Morris M. Feuerlicht

Rabbi Morris M. Feuerlicht, head of the Indianapolis Reform Temple and one of the most prominent rabbis in the United States:

"The Hearst offer is very good. I like the angle of approach he takes. It is one of the sanest things done so far to solve the important problem. I also like the angle of temperance which he stresses.

"As for myself, I believe in temperance rather than in prohibition. The people who believe in temperance rather than prohibition should be a little more aggressive in bringing their viewpoints before the country. The extremists on both sides of the prohibition question have been heard. The opinion of the intelligent people who favor neither extreme has not been prominent enough.

"The prize offered by Mr. Hearst will encourage the more intelligent and dispassionate persons to voice their opinions. I am most heartily in favor of Mr. Hearst's plan to encourage a scientific discussion of this great question."

George E. Q. Johnson

George E. Q. Johnson, United States district attorney, Chicago:

"The academic discussion of the prohibition law which Mr. Hearst's plan will promote will bring to light both its strength and weakness and is the American way of settling every question.

"The merits or demerits of the prohibition law are in a sharp field of controversy. It is one I have studiously refrained from entering.

"The thing I stress most and have always stressed is the practical necessity for all law enforcement officers to recognize that the law is on the statute books, and the disregard of it by such officers can only bear fruits that result in corruption, violence and murder."

Meredith Nicholson

Meredith Nicholson, distinguished Indiana novelist:

"I believe the Hearst temperance prize contest is a good thing. Prohibition is one of the most serious questions with which this country has to deal at present. The more suggestions to make people think seriously upon this matter, the better it will be for our country.

"I certainly hope that the Hearst contest will bring out some real suggestions."

James J. Nejdl

James J. Nejdl, of Whiting, Ind., state senator, a Republican, and one of the most powerful figures in the Indiana Legislature:

"I am glad to hear that Mr. Hearst is approaching the temperance problem with his eyes open and that he is not committed to any indorsement of the present practices under the prohibition law.

"It is only by attempting to solve this question with an open mind that tangible results can be obtained. Surely the generous offer of Mr. Hearst will lead to the discovery of intelligent suggestions for remedying a really terrible state of affairs now existing.

"It is a shame that other great publishers throughout this land do not tackle the temperance problem so honestly."

7 Rules of $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close on April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

Ida M. Tarbell Lauds Hearst Contest

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 15.—Miss Ida M. Tarbell, writer and publicist, and author of "He Knew Lincoln," one of the most widely read of the many lives of the martyred President, has indorsed William Randolph Hearst's $25,000 Temperance Prize Contest to obtain a workable substitute for prohibition. Miss Tarbell is the guest of friends in Detroit. She said:

"In my opinin, prohibition never can be enforced until every one is converted to it. The lawlessness growing out of the failure to enforce it is creating disrespect for law in general and is a great detriment. Many persons who never drank before now are going to extremes.

"There is a large minority that believes prohibition is contrary to the spirit of freedom.

"A serious contest such as is being conducted in the Hearst papers will set people to thinking as to whether there is a solution to this grave problem. If through it Mr. Hearst succeeds in finding a workable solution, he will have done a vast good and conferred a great and lasting benefit upon the country."

Policemen Chain Guns and Clubs To Balk Theft

NEWCOMERSTOWN, O., Feb. 14.—To prevent thieves from stealing their equipment, following thefts of fire department equipment, Mayor Marion Mercer has ordered police to chain their clubs and revolvers to their belts.

Gillespie Bequest Goes for Dormitory

An appropriation of $50,000 drawn from a bequest made by the late David L. Gillespie to the Presbyterian Board of National Missions has been made by the board for a girls' dormitory at the Gillespie Normal and Industrial School, Coredale, Ga., a Negro mission school.

The school was organized in 1901 with 27 pupils. Today the students number 412. It is one of the 118 day and boarding schools of the Board of National Missions.

MARS FIRE LOSS $60,000

MARS, Pa., Feb. 15.—Fire early today swept through the business district of Mars, leveled half a block to the ground and for a time imperiled the whole town. The loss was estimated at $60,000.

Frozen fire plugs and ice hampered the firemen in their battle.

The blaze was discovered in the Huggins restaurant in the Norton Building. Awakened by smoke, Miss Blanche Huggins and Mrs. Edna Hennan, a cook, occupying an apartment above the restaurant, fled to the street and turned in an alarm.

The flames destroyed the Huggins Restaurant and the A. & P. store in the Norton building, the Lee Groom hardware store and the W. L. Shannon store, all in Grand avenue.

CHILDREN ESCAPE

Grant Groom, his wife and one child, living above the hardware store, and W. L. Shannon and his wife and boy, occupying an apartment above the Shannon business establishment, were routed by the flames.

The fire companies of Etna, Valencia, Evans City, Zelienople and Wexford aided in fighting the blaze.

SURVEY SHOWS EMPLOYMENT HERE BETTER

After a steady improvement of more than a year, Pittsburgh's employment situation is now in good condition and the demand for skilled labor in industries also is considered fine, according to results of an employment survey just tabulated by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

The last six months of 1928 were much better than the same period of the preceding year and they also showed an improvement over the first half of 1928, H. W. Correll, statistition for the chamber, stated in making up his report.

Personnel managers of several companies have notified women employes they will be expected to resign immediately when they are married, the report states. It is said that married women with husbands working are a demoralizing element in an organization because they know they will not suffer if they become insubordinate and resign.

Held in $70,000 Bail In Poison Rum Case

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 15.—Russell Higgins, 25, indicted on a first degree murder charge for the death of Cannon Waters, 23, of Pine Grove, W. Va., to whom he is alleged to have sold poison liquor, was released from jail today under $70,000 bond furnished by relatives to await trial. The date of trial has not been set.

Etude (C minor) op. 25 No. 12) .... Chopin
Berceuse .... Chopin
Polonaise (Ab Major) (op. 53.) .... Chopin

The Twentieth Century Club presented Frank Sheridan in piano recital at the club rooms yesterday afternoon. The program was not planned to arouse any stormy emotions, even the bravura compositions coming under the player's spell of conscious calm.

If Sheridan's music had greater variety, he might be considered the pianistic counterpart of Albert Spalding. His playing is meticulous, and further characterized by its sparkling tone, whether in brilliant or singing phrase. There is youthful charm in all he does, a thorough musicianship, and a straightforward approach without any affectation.

Three arrangements of Bach pieces and a Rameau "Sarabande," given as encore, all reminded one that these compositions are far finer as their composers originally intended them. In Cesar Franck's suite there are beautiful moments, but the group is tedious, unless one is a devotee of tone color. Sheridan's interpretation of the "Jeux d'eau" was sylvan; it is a more virile bit of writing when made into a picture of pagan gods and nymphs of the waters. Stravinsky's Etude was a relief to the ever-present Chopin study.

Weather Conditions.

The barometer is relatively high over the Atlantic Coast states, with a ridge of high pressure extending westward over the middle of the country to a center over the plateau section. Low pressure areas are centered over Manitoba and over Alberta and south of the high over Southern Texas. This distribution of pressure is producing considerable cloudy weather over the country and rain over Eastern Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas. The rains were light except at Mobile, where 2.26 inches fell. It is somewhat colder than yesterday morning over the upper Ohio Valley states and in the Central Rocky Mountain states; elsewhere there was a change towards warmer.

River Conditions.

There was little change in the river conditions. The Pittsburgh pool is free of ice, but there is some light ice running in the pools below Dam No. 6. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.9 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.7, and Dam No. 6, 8.1. The dams are up.

Voice 'Off,' Walker May Take Vacation

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Mayor Walker today was contemplating a trip to Florida in search of his voice. Hardly able to speak above a whisper as the result of an attack of influenza, he yielded the chair to President McKee of the Board of Aldermen, yesterday. The trip may be timed to permit him to witness the big fight at Miami Beach February 27.

FIVE DRY RAIDS MADE; FOUR ARRESTED

Conducting four raids in the Hill District and one on the South Side yesterday, Federal prohibition agents reported arresting four persons and seizing large quantities of home brew, wine and moonshine.

After confiscating a small quantity of wine in the store of Sam Brookner, 61, at 66 Roberts street, the agents visited his home at 74 Roberts street, where several bottles of moonshine were found, according to their report. Brookner was released in $1,000 bail.

A 35 gallon still was found in the home of Tony Gialanella, 40, at 1533 Clark street, and large quantities of moonshine in the residence of Frederica Earloyi, 45, at 41 Clay way, the raiders declared. Both were arrested.

Breaking into the saloon of Anthony Pastorius, 27, at 2411-13 West Carson street, after finding the doors locked, the dry raiders arrested Pastorius and seized several cases of home brew and moonshine, they said.

"IN KONJOLA I FOUND MY FIRST AND ONLY RELIEF"

Pittsburgh Resident, Happy With Renewed Health, Pays Glowing Tribute to Famous Medicine; Says It Ended Two Ailments.

Surprising as it may seem, this new and different medicine, Konjola, that is creating such a furore in Pittsburgh and vicinity, is at the very peak, the apex, of its powers in cases that have defied all other medicines and treatments.

MR. S. J. SHAWICKEY

Konjola contains 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices from Nature's own roots and herbs; Konjola contains 32 pain-banishing, disease-ending, health-giving ingredients. Konjola is a medicine that brings results, not words; accomplishments, not promises. All who suffer and who would be well again are invited to call on the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company, formerly McCulloch's, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, and hear his personal explanation of the merits of this amazing medicine. He will point out case after case wherein Konjola proved the first and only remedy that gave relief from years of suffering. It was the happy experience of the Konjola Man to hear the glad report of Mr. S. J. Shawickey, 5408 Carnegie Avenue, Pittsburgh, who graphically told what Konjola had done in his case. Mr. Shawickey, who is an accountant, made this report to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"In Konjola I found my first and only relief from a complication of three ailments that had refused to yield to any other medicine or treatment. I was the hapless victim of stomach and liver trouble and with a slight case of catarrh. If anyone had told me that Konjola would relieve these ailments I would not have believed them. I actually hated the thought of meal time, because after each one I suffered for an hour or so from indigestion pains. Improper functioning of my liver made me tired and sluggish. I might add that the catarrh gave me no little amount of discomfort.

"This was my exact condition when I started on Konjola. I thought that my case was pretty severe for one medicine to help, but I did not know Konjola. Not for a minute did it hesitate in going to the source of my troubles. Almost immediately I could feel it going to work. My organs started functioning better and the tired, lazy sensation gave way to one of glorious energy and strength. The stomach and liver troubles seemed to melt into the air and once again I am able to eat three healthy meals a day without suffering the slightest bit. I intend to take Konjola a short time longer for the catarrh, although my head is a great deal more clear. I hope that this statement will reach others who may be in poor health and be the means of benefiting them as it has me."

Konjola contains no alcohol, nerve-deadening drugs, nor heart-depressing chemicals. It is all medicine, every drop and every drop works. All that Konjola asks is the chance to make you well. Avail yourself of this opportunity for new, abundant and glorious health.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company, formerly McCulloch's, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Our Daily Short Story

NO DUD

By
WALTER E. BIDWELL

IT seemed to Bert Anderson that years and years had elapsed since he began keeping company with Bessie Scoops. And just of late the idea had found lodgement in his mind that their romance was and always had been a sort of a drab, lack-luster affair. They had met in a matter of fact way and gradually been drawn together—the whole thing pretty much a matter of propinquity.

Bert had always longed for a big, burning, cataclysmic affair, during which the stars would fall and the world stand still.

It seemed somehow that he had missed some of the lovelier things of life; the beauty and color and starlight of it all. He knew single couples and even a few married ones who always seemed to find a burning light in each other's eyes, and who were so very considerate, reaching across the table and warmly holding hands, patting checks and arms and all that sort of thing.

"So silly," Bessie had said; and of course Bert had acquiesced in this. But down deep in his heart these things were so sweet and priceless, so utterly rare and beautiful, that Bert loved them and stored them away in his mind.

Oh, to be sure Bessie was all right, a wonderfully fine girl, true blue and all that. Not exactly the type to set the world on fire or make dynasties fall. Passably good looking, well put up and very proficient.

And too, there had to be some of the dependable sort, some who could quickly do up the morning work and go off to a job in a department store, where work began at 9:00 and quit a 5:30. It was all very well, fine in fact. But—

It was a heavy high-class drama which Bert detested. It was agreed that he would take Bessie in and leave her with friends while he sauntered around on the outside, browsing along the street and quite generally doing as he saw fit.

"Ah, what th' deuce," a friend said to Bert. "What you livin for—dragging along through life like a doped snail. Pull yourself together. Get some kick out of life."

"Come with me and meet a friend." This man, Billy Snyder by name, dragged Bert down the street. Protesting a bit as he went Bert was nevertheless quite willing to dragged along.

"This girl I'm gonna take you to, Bert—. Well, just listen. She will knock your eye out, that's all. I'm not of the steady, matter of fact type, like you are, Bert. I'm a regular fellow. But this dame—Oh, boy, she's a peach."

After introducing Bert to his friend and quite generally making himself agreeable around the house, Billy Snyder withdrew.

When Bert reached the theater the doors were locked. The build-

Until indigestion betrayed her

Oh, the sorrow of it! How was he to guess she did not mean those unkind words? How could she make him believe—how could she even tell him that indigestion was to blame for her loss of temper?

A single attack of temper-trying stomach trouble may change the whole course of one's life. You can't afford to consider a weak or disordered digestion as a little thing.

Get and take Triner's Bitter Wine regularly before each meal. This pleasing, stomach warming combination of California wine, cascara and herbs stimulates digestion and overcomes constipation—whets the appetite. Nothing else is like it. Starchy foods yield quickly. Far better and safer than habit-forming preparations. Two sizes, 75c and $1.25 at all druggists.

Our Daily Short Story

ing had an appearance of utter desolation. How could it be that a place so vibrant of life and so brimful of enthusiasm a short spell ago should suddenly become so still and dark and forbidding?

Bert looked at his watch. "By heck!" he said. "Is it possible—2 o'clock. I'd better call Bess."

But on second thought he knew that this would not do at this unseemly hour. Instead he boarded an "owl car" and, wilting down in a seat, was carried in the subdued hours of the morning to his rooms.

Quite early that day, before working hours, he called a taxi and hurried down to where Bessie lived, a rather crestfallen lad, planning that he would if possible square himself with his fiancee.

Bessie's father, who met him at the door, was quite cool and offish. But this was not surprising, so early it was and so unannounced was his call.

At first Bessie was loathe to see him. "Just gettin' her things on and a bite to eat," her mother explained. "She will be in directly."

And directly Bessie did come in. But for some reason she seemed changed. Not so put out as Bert had expected; simply changed.

"Really you didn't need to come down here. Might have 'phoned. I'm late now. You must excuse me."

It seemed that Bessie wanted to get rid of him. He wondered why. Finally she broke the ice. "You left me flat and I didn't stay in there long," she explained. "Cornelius had been seein' me from time to time. And Bert, I'm awfully sorry. We were—well, we were married last night. I shall ask him in."

No doubt he did come in, but Bert was gone. He was speeding down the walk. He didn't even wait for a street car or a cab.

Bessie and Cornelius stood on the porch watching the receding form. "Going right straight to the river," wailed Bessie. "I knew it all the time, and I told you last night. I just know he will jump in, and Bert never could swim. I'm a murderer, Cornelius. I—"

"Hold on, little one. Cut it short," remonstrated Cornelius. "Can th' sob stuff. I know men. They are not all single-track fellows. Bert is no dud."

Five minutes later Bert had reached the house of his recent conquest and was holding in his perspiring palm the hand of the girl he had on the previous evening made love to.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR: UNUSUAL VARIETY MARKS PROGRAMS

CRUMIT RADIO HEADLINER; OLD FIDDLERS IN CONTEST

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

VARIETY is outstanding in features on the air tonight.

A war romance, music of the fireside, the dance hall, the concert stage and the opera, as well as an old fiddlers' contest, will give fans a fine evening's entertainment.

Frank Crumit, Miller and Lyles and half a dozen other stars will be heard on a new program through WJAS at 8:30.

"Rose Marie" selections will be sung by Jessica Dragonette and Colin O'More during the Philco Hour, KDKA.

While everything to be desired may be found emanating from local stations, those who like to twist the dials may find interesting attractions at WLW, WOS, WBAL and a few other stations.

It is one of those nights when "10 Best Bets" seem insufficient to tell of all the good things on the ether.

GUNS—DOPE—CRIMINALS.

The slums of a big metropolis will form the setting in which Mortimer and Gwendolyn, the hero and heroine of this series, will be found. The story tells of the activities of a ring of opium smugglers and drug peddlers. Gwendolyn, in the part of a newspaper reporter, is endeavoring to discover the master mind of the gang. To "get her man" she disguises herself as a girl of the streets and loiters about the smugglers' rendezvous. There she meets Mortimer, in truth a secret service man in the guise of a dope addict. Both disguises are so perfect that both are fooled, but their true natures urge them to help each other. The result is that we have a mutual reform society with Gwendolyn endeavoring to lift Mortimer from the slough into which drugs have thrown him, and Mortimer tries to raise Gwendolyn from her immoral life. The love element enters in, and we find them both in love, and the denouement is reached when the couple, aided by government men, overpower the smugglers in a terrific fight and reveal their true identity and their love for each other.

WAR ROMANCE.

Tonight finds Mary and Bob on the beach of Miami, where, as they play in the sands, they dig up a true romance of the World War. It occurred in 1918. A young couple in love with each other engaged in a courtship, hiding from each other their real names. When the United States entered the war the two were separated, and, having known each other under aliases, reunion was difficult. Mary and Bob will tell how they found each other.

Frances Doherr's Story in Sunday Sun-Telegraph

Frances Doherr, one of three women station managers in the United States, tells a very interesting story of her experiences this Sunday in the radio section of the Sun-Telegraph. Illustrations by R. F. Reamy. Mrs. Doherr is manager of WCAE. Every radio fan will get something out of this excellent feature.

WIDOW SHOCKED.

The Widow Esterbrook comes into the story, her moral sensibilities shocked by the red flannel parade in the moonlight last week. If Louie's jealousies could have been calmed down; if the last $5 in the garage till had not been spent for Louie's new music book; if the sheriff hadn't acquired a way of walking in to make arrests at unexpected moments, things would look brighter for Gus and Louie tonight.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Heed the Warning of SORE THROAT

Bear in mind when you notice throat irritation, inflammation, difficulty in swallowing and other symptoms of sore throat that such conditions are serious and call for prompt and careful treatment. Neglect or improper treatment may be dangerous.

To be sure of prompt relief use only Tonsiline, made especially for sore throat and proven dependable by over 30 years' successful use. At druggists, 35c and 60c. Hospital size $1.00

COSTS BUT 50c TO HEAL SKIN WITH POSLAM

The most wonderful thing about Poslam is how little is needed to heal even stubborn cases of skin eruptions. Often a single 50c box will clear away a patch of eczema that has been an itching torment for years. All druggists sell it.

WHEN YOUR SKIN IS SALLOW AND DULL

Nature intended that every skin should be attractive. From babyhood to old age she strives to make the outward appearance beautiful.

But Nature cannot do the impossible. So long as the skin gets rich red blood it will be attractive. When that blood carries a lot of heavy foreign matter the skin gets greasy, then sallow, then rough and dry.

Where does this skin poison come from? Why, whenever congestion occurs in the mucous membrane, which lines the body, the system is affected. That is what catarrh does for you.

Many a woman would be beautiful if she would drive catarrh from her system. Catarrh checks digestion, numbs the liver, prevents the kidneys from throwing off the poisonous matter. Constipation, foul breath, sour stomach and many other ailments—all these things are fatal to beauty. When catarrh is their underlying cause—as it is in most cases—recovery of health and beauty is only possible when that catarrh is gone.

We have literally thousands of letters from grateful men and women who tell us how they have taken ten years off their age with World's Tonic, how this new medicine has cleared up the whole system, restoring spring to the step, brightness to the eyes and beauty to the skin. They will convince you of these facts.

Sold by all Dow Stores (formerly McCulloch) and all other reliable druggists. (A-77)

Gossip From Photoplay Studios and Theaters of Pittsburgh

POLLY MORAN TO SING ON AIR AND CAMILLA HORN TO GO TO DARKEST AFRICA

By DOROTHY HERZOG.

(Copyright, 1929, Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15.

POLLY MORAN figures if M. G. M. fails to renew her contract she'll have to return the gorgeous refrigerator purchased on the installment plot. And there's only one payment left. Forward all contributions M. G. M. studio.

Incidentally, Polly has agreed to warble over the radio this evening—Station KTM. Her theme song will be monikered: "ANY PLACE I MAKE MONEY IS HOMESICK HOME TO ME, EVEN IF IT'S IN POVERTY ROW." And by way of a contractural boost for La Moran, she will make whoopee with Karl Dane and George K. Arthur in "China Bound." Chuck Reisner is the director.

Camilla Horn.

Camilla Horn, United Artists' blond import from Germany, is enjoying conglomerate emotions. Her husband came a-visiting her around Christmas time, but departed for home last Saturday. As his going-away present to the fair Camilla, he gave her a sigh-y ermine wrap. Camilla's first. Naturally, she yearns to join the ermine nighters. But the odds 'pear against her. For Camilla journeys to Darkest Africa early in March, along with other members of the "Trader Horn" troupe, to be gone about six months. An ermine wrap is as practical in middle Africa as French heels in the Yukon. So Camilla is following instructions concerning the African wardrobe and storing the ermine in favor of knickers, skirts and similar approved jungle styles.

ONE of the most widely acquainted stars in motion pictures is Marion Davies. Few famous personages come to Hollywood and fail to seek her. Her charm as a hostess, her sincere interest in others, her humorous conversational powers, her graciousness may explain in part this popularity. Miss Davies has consented to pen her reactions to some of the international and national folk we all know by name. There follows the first of the series, written exclusively for this paper:

By MARION DAVIES.

Col. Lindbergh—a bashful youth, especially with women. He shakes hands quickly but firmly. He doesn't smoke, drink or dance.

Margot Asquith (writer)—Not like she writes. Extremely gracious.

Sir Thomas Lipton (sportsman)—Tells amusing stories of his eventful life. Most entertaining.

It happened last week at the Tommy Loughran-Emanuel fight. Among those ringsideing was Betty Bronson. Enter the main battlers. Loughran espied Betty. He's known as a fast man. He lived up to the rep. Having met Betty in New York, he renewed the acquaintanceship. After the bout, to be sure. Asked if he might come a-calling. And did Betty say uh huh? Righto. So he came. To her mother's home.

Betty Bronson

Howard Greer, fashion director, says:

Lois Wilson knows the grace and charm of a simply cut dinner frock of chiffon. One of her most recent dresses, of apple green, made over a slip of paler satin, has a slightly molded bodice with two circular flounces forming the skirt. A one-sided collar of chiffon, knotted in a soft bow on one shoulder lets its streamers fall to the ground and trail in diminutive train behind her.

Dolores Del Rio Back at Studio

SCREEN SCRIBS: Dolores Del Rio returned after sundry weeks locationing with "Evangeline," Director Edwin Carewe, et al. Carewe still has a broken ankle hangover. . . . Mrs. Lionel Barrymore trailed to town, but has returned to New York. Lionel is still directing "Madame X" . . . Roy D'Arcy is steering clear of loneliness. 'Tis nodded about he is showing the village to Elene Aristi, Universal's new Grecian import. At least a friend who has seen Miss Aristi's date book vows that Roy's name is at the top and bottom of every page. Stellar billing, I calls it . . . And—that's all!

MORE SCREEN TALK

Well, did you ever! Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Nancy Carroll, starred in the new all-dialogue picture, "Close Harmony," find a new use for the telephone, and make a laughing matter out of double vocal exposure.

Movie Man Convicted For Show on Sunday

MARTINS FERRY, O., Feb. 15.—Louis F. Eick, head of a motion picture theater that tried to operate on Sunday last fall, was convicted by a jury in Belmont County court of a charge of giving a theatrical performance on Sunday in violation of the state laws. He has filed motion for a new trial.

Richard Dix Gets Stage Talent For Talkie

Richard Dix has begun work on "Nothing But the Truth," his first talking picture, at a Long Island studio.

Elvia Enders, in the current comedy success, "The Little Accident," plays opposite Dix. Helen Kane of "Good Boy" has a featured role and will sing two songs especially written for her.

Orchestra Concert For Syria Mosque

Tonight the Minneapolis Orchestra, Henri Verbrugghen conductor, will give the sixth concert in the Pittsburgh Orchestra Association's series in Syria Mosque. Another program will be given tomorrow afternoon. Tonight's program will feature Brahms' Symphony No. 4. Other numbers will include Prelude and Fugue in C sharp minor, orchestrated by Mr. Verbrugghen; "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Dukas; Mozart's Adagio from Divertimento No. 15, for String Orchestra and Rimsky-Korsakow's "The Russian Easter." Tomorrow afternoon the "New World" Symphony, by Dvorak, will be given.

A special concert for children will be given today at 4 o'clock in Carnegie Music Hall.

In Talkie

George Jessel and Margaret Quimby in "Lucky Boy," coming to Aldine next week.

Jessel, In Vocal Film, Coming Next Week

George Jessel and Margaret Quimby will be seen in "Lucky Boy," Jessel's first starring sound and talk screen production. It is coming to the Aldine Monday. Jessel's father, Joseph A. Jessel, was a composer, a playwright and an accomplished musician. But his lovable character included little business ability and George began "helping out" in the theater program gaps when he was only 8 years old. His sporadic dramatic appearance gradually merged into the profession of song writing, and then singing songs in motion picture theaters. Then he went into vaudeville and later on the legitimate stage. Now he is singing in the picture houses again—but this time as a star of a song and talk screen drama.

Employes of State To Honor Gov. Gore

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 15.—Governor Howard M. Gore will be honored at a dinner to be given by all state employes the evening of February 27 at the Scottish Rite temple here.

It will be a farewell event for the governer, whose term expires March 4. Governor-elect William G. Conley will be an honor guest.

MAN MONKEY IS STAGE FEATURE

Nathal, known as "the man monkey," in a realistic makeup, will duplicate a performance usually presented by an educated chimpanzee, on the Davis stage next week. He also includes athletic work in his act.

Opening Monday evening, February 18, Myron C. Fagan will present his new play, "Indiscretion," in the Nixon. Minna Gombell will be supported by Arthur Vinton, Betty Lancaster, Louis Kimball, Harland Tucker, Harold Elliott, Lora Rogers and Diantha Pattison.

The one-week engagement, beginning next Monday evening, of "My Maryland," based on the legend of Barbara Frietchie, of Civil War times, will include matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Monday and Tuesday evenings the operetta will be played in Syria Mosque, the attraction moving to the Alvin for the Wednesday matinee and the remaining performances of the week.

There will be but three more performances in the Pitt of the Isadora Duncan Dancers, headed by Irma Duncan, tonight and Saturday matinee and night.

TAKE SALTS IF RHEUMATISM IS BOTHERING YOU

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat no sweets for a while, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, and is often generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburgh, So Far as Society Is Concerned, Is Keeping Lent

THOSE glowering pessimists who decry the modern generation for its laxity in religious observances must admit that Pittsburgh, as far as the social world is concerned, is abstaining from entertaining here in the city during the Lenten period. At least no ray from a galaxy of social function has gleamed here for several weeks. Those who are still in town may permit themselves an occasional informal bridge or small luncheon. But such indulgences are rare.

Down South, though, the social world is seeing the gleaming side of life. When the sun is shining its prettiest and the whole world is green and gold, who could repress gay spirits?

From Palm Beach, from Ormond Beach, and all the beaches of Floridea news of delightful entertainments is reaching us constantly.

Mrs. Stephen Porter, of Greenwich, entertained at a luncheon Wednesday, I've heard, down at Ormond Beach. The guest of honor was Mrs. C. H. Barth, wife of Lieut. Barth, U. S. A., who has been visiting her father and mother, the Edward M. Speers. And among the guests were two Sewickley girls, Virginia and Ruth Willock, daughters of the Frank Scott Willocks. Virginia came out this winter, but Ruth is still a sub-deb.

Mrs. G. Horton Glover, who's from New York, I believe, gave a luncheon at the Everglades Club, Palm Beach, on Wednesday in honor of her house guest, Mrs. James Childs Rea, of Woodland road.

While speaking of Palm Beach, I recall that the G. Faber Downeys, of Sewickley, will arrive at that resort next week to be the guests of Mrs. Henry R. Rea, of Sewickley, one of the social leaders of Palm Beach society.

At Miami Beach the season is at its height. Among the events there on Wednesday was a bridge luncheon given by Mrs. William H. Walker, of Pittsburgh.

The Howard C. Heinzes, of Morewood Heights, arrived at Nassau, the Bahamas, this week, did you know?

A DELIGHTFUL winter trip is planned by the Furey family. Virginia English Furey and her father and mother, the William M. Fureys, of Wilkins avenue, will sail Saturday on the California for the state of the same name. Later, I understand, they'll visit Honolulu. They'll be gone several months, I understand.

Florence Carroll, daughter of the Walter C. Carrolls, of College avenue, is enjoying a Mediterranean cruise. Her companion is Virginia Dixon, daughter of the Homer Dixons, of Chicago. Virginia has been in Pittsburgh on several visits, you know. Florence was a debutante of last season.

Traveling in the South are the J. Frank Drakes, of Pembroke place. They'll return home with many other absent Pittsburghers in early March.

Florida has attracted Mrs. John G. Frazer, of Amberson avenue, and her sub-deb daughter, Katherine. Katherine will not come out until year after next, I understand.

The Thruston Wrights are now in New York, stopping at the Berkshire. Mrs. Wright has been in Europe for some time, you know.

Georgia is attractive to our local folks, too, it seems. The Charles Frederick Holdships and the Christian Ihmsen Shannons, of Sewickley, left on Wednesday to spend several weeks on St. Simons Island, Ga. Later, Mrs. Holdship will go on to Charleston, S. C., for a short visit.

THIS is the day of the Junior League marionette show in the parish house of the Church of the Ascension. The adventures of Bobby Jones will be portrayed before the delighted eyes of the young folks, beginning at 4 o'clock, and I told you before, didn't I, that another performance is scheduled for tomorrow for the public school children.

Mrs. Charles L. Snowdon, Jr., is general chairman for the show, with Mrs. Herbert A. May as vice chairman.

THE marriage of Miss Marion G. Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dickson, of Middletown road, Sheraden, and Samuel B. Heppenstall, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Heppenstall, of Heberton avenue, will be solemnized tomorrow at 4.30 o'clock in the First United Presbyterian Church of Sheraden. Miss Margaret Dickson, sister of the bride; Miss Caroline Heppenstall, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Jane Richards; Miss Louise Elliott and Miss Maisie Rintoul will be the bride's attendants. John Sheedy is to be best man, and the ushers will include Max and James Heppenstall, Frank Dickson and Harrison Gleason. Miss Caroline Heppenstall will give a dinner in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club tonight for the bridal party. Among those who have entertained for Miss Dickson are Mrs. C. W. Heppenstall, Miss Margaret White, Miss Richards and Miss Elliott, and Mr. Gleason gave a dinner dance for Miss Dickson and Mr. Heppenstall in the Pittsburgh Country Club.

MISS ELLEN HORNE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Horne, of Spring Hill, North Side, and Harry C. MacQuown, of Forrest Hills, were married Tuesday at noon in Sagamore, Pa., by the Rev. Charles E. Held, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Sagamore. Only the families and a few friends were present. The bride wore beige silk lace with a corsage of Pernet rosebuds and lilies of the valley, while her maid of honor Miss Hulda B. Bergmann, appeared in French blue silk lace with corsage of pink tea roses and sweetpeas. Mrs. Robert Stewart, as matron of honor, wore tan georgette with a corsage of pink roses and sweetpeas. The flower girls were Betty MacQuown and Rita Stewart. A dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Held followed the ceremony, and later, Mr. and Mrs. MacQuown left for an eastern trip. They will be at home in Cascade road, Edgewood Acres, after May 1.

Emily R. Kneubuhl To Be B. P. W. Guest

MISS EMILY R. KNEUBUHL, of New York, executive secretary of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will address the Pittsburgh club at a banquet the local women will give on Thursday evening in the Fort Pitt Hotel. James Malone, president of the City Council, will welcome Miss Kneubuhl to Pittsburgh.

Following her graduation from the University of Minnesota, Miss Kneubuhl became principal in one of Minnesota's largest schools. In 1918 she became an organizer with the War Camp Community Service. Later she joined the staff of the Minnesota League of Women Voters as organizer and lecturer, and shortly that of the National League. During her residence in Cincinnati she was active in the movement for city manager government and conducted Cincinnati's campaign for a city charter in 1924. Similar campaigns she conducted for Rochester and her home city, Minneapolis.

Before joining the National Business and Professional Woman's Club staff, she was a faculty member of the school of citizenship and public affairs at Syracuse University.

...Stop Colds QUICK!

Get Rid of Colds Before They Weaken You, Make You Liable to More Serious Troubles

Nowadays it's important to stop your cold quick before it weakens your resistance to more serious trouble.

Any of the older treatments will bring relief—after a time. But thousands say this new way is the quickest of any.

Begin when you feel a cold coming. Take a tablespoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water, morning, noon, and night, the first day. Do same the second day. Then only at night. Colds reduce the alkaline balance of your system. That makes you feel achy, feverish, weak. Phillips Milk of Magnesia relieves this, and restores the alkaline balance.

Doctors prescribe Phillips Milk of Magnesia; hospitals use it. Millions know how it relieves sour stomachs, gas, indigestion, constipation and other symptoms of too much acid. Get the genuine.

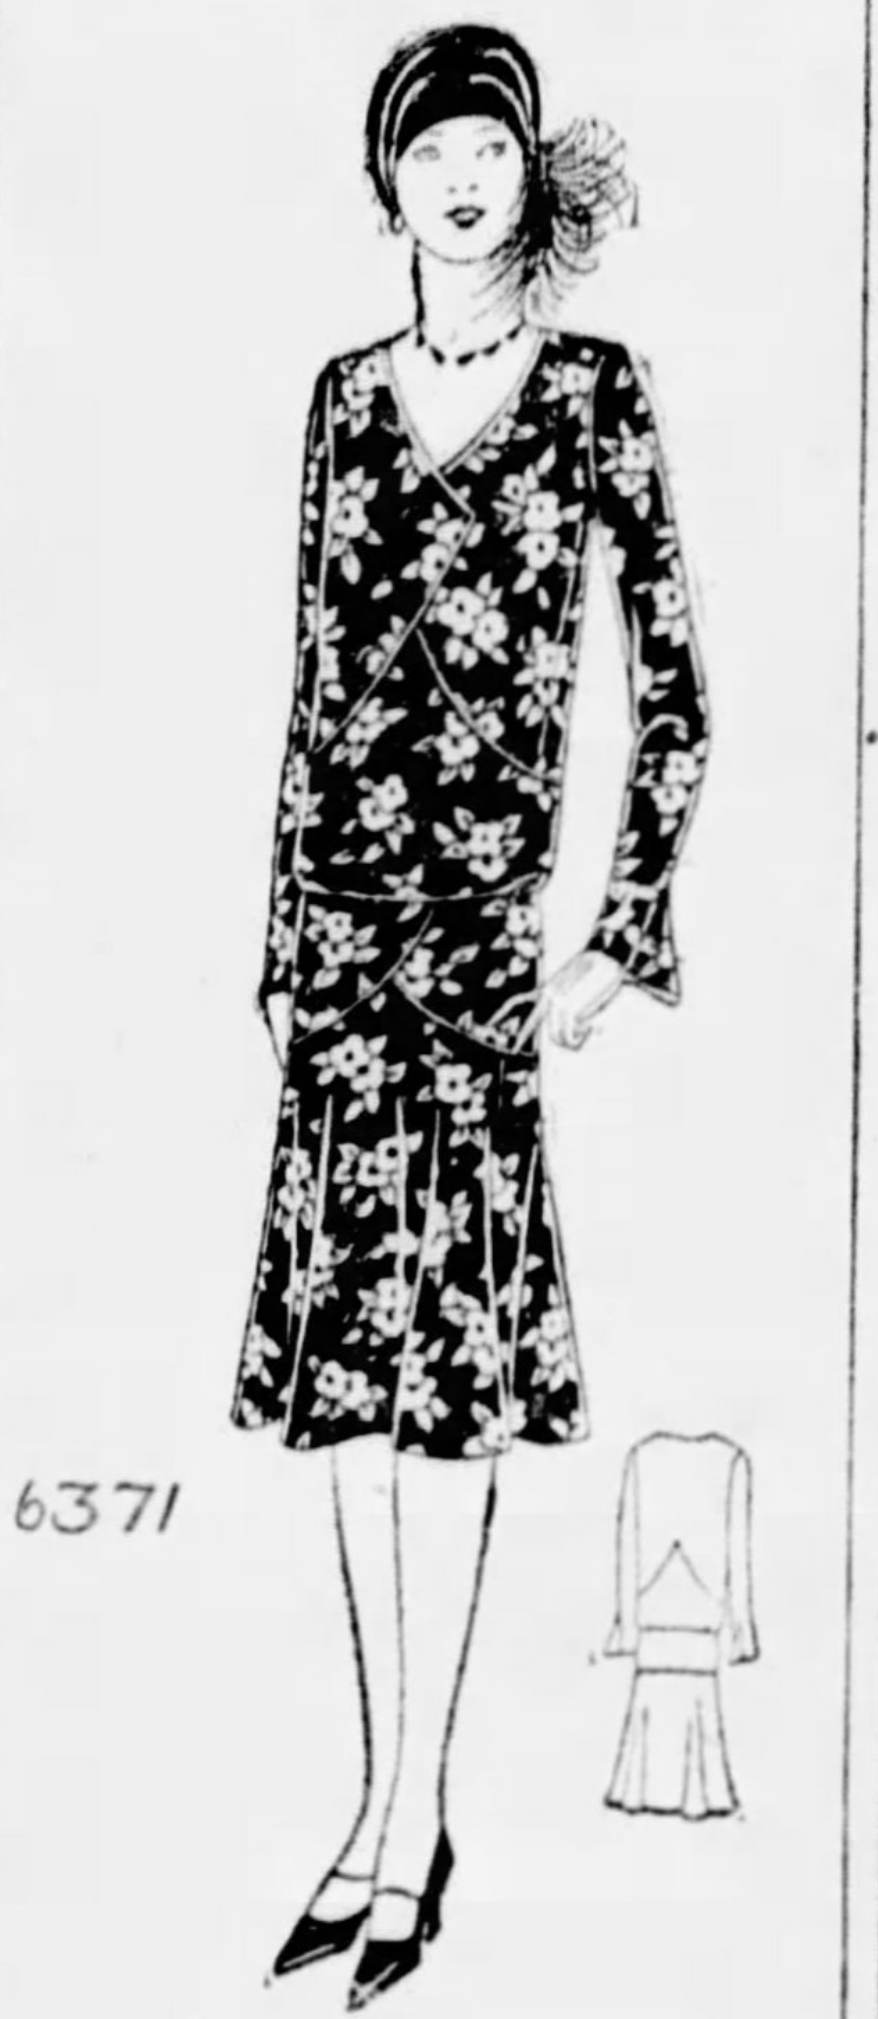
The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A CHARMING AFTERNOON DRESS.

Printed silk was used for this attractive model. The upper part of the waist portions are joined to the lower part in split curves. Similar shaping is shown at the joining of the flare skirt to the hip yoke. The sleeve is close fitting and finished with a flare insert below the elbow. Rayon, celanese, printed chiffon and velvet are all suggested for this style.

The pattern is cut in three sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. To make this design for an 18-year size will require 3½ yards of 39-inch material. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fullness extended is two yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

KILL THAT COLD

Guard Against 'Flu' and Pneumonia

Don't fool with a cold. Use tried and safe method to fight "flu" and colds.

Medical authorities have issued warnings against a recurrence of the recent "flu" epidemic, similar to the second wave which followed the terrible scourge of 1918. They advise everyone to take no chances with a common cold, no matter how trifling it may appear.

Do the right thing now—take a cupful of steaming hot Bulgarian Herb Tea twice a week during these danger months. It will assist nature to quickly up colds, and will fortify your system against the "flu" peril. Bulgarian Herb Tea is recommended by druggists everywhere

Meditations of a Wife

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Diagnosing Love

LOVE, like a common cold, is awfully hard to diagnose. Nobody can tell you how it started, whether it is serious or superficial, or just how long it will last.

One reason why a man is not as curious as a woman is because a woman leaves him nothing much to be curious about.

* * *

Making a girl believe that she is the only woman in your life is no feat of diplomacy. Try making her believe something that she doesn't WANT to believe.

HELEN ROWLAND

Why is it, that when a man is suffering from loss of appetite, a woman always insists on offering him an enticing meal—and when he is feeling a touch of sentimental indigestion, she rushes to offer him more kisses?

"The only real beauty is of the mind"—but it has to be awfully brilliant to outshine a shiny nose or to blind a man to a pair of wrinkled hose.

What the average man does with his "love life" reminds one of what a playful kitten does with a ball of yarn. He begins by recklessly chasing around—and ends by getting all tangled up.

The strangest phenomenon of this jazz age, is that its young lovers have managed to watch John Barrymore, John Gilbert and the late Valentino, night after night, without learning a single thing about the real art of love-making beyond a rudimentary knowledge of puppy-petting.

* * *

Petting is the childish pastime of the sentimentally unemployed and the emotional bankrupt.

For the Lovelorn

The Eternal Triangle

DEAR MISS GALE:

Mine is not a triangle of married lives for no advice could help in such a case, but a triangle of young lives, unmarried and in love. Miss Gale, here is my plight. I am waiting for your advice before I make any decision. The people involved are Bill and Bob, as I shall call them, and myself. Bill and Bob have been the best of friends, more like brothers, for 14 years. Bill and I have been keeping pretty steady company for almost a year. He is madly in love and tells me so very often. Of course, since Bill and Bob were such wonderful pals, I was in both their company many times. We had very good times, we three. These boys love each other and it will be hard for them to decide. I thought everything would go along nicely. At the time when I was introduced to Bob he had just been given the air by his sweetheart and was taking it very deeply, he was even ready to die. I spoke to Bill about him and asked if it wouldn't be well for us to try and cheer him up and help him forget. He said it would be and then Bill was even happy when I took interest in Bob, hoping I would help him. Bill often works at night and has an outside job, so quite often Bob would ask me to go along to see Bill. I always went, and Bill was always glad to see us. He never once said anything about being jealous. Now comes the disaster. Last night Bill was working and Bob and I went to see him as usual. We stayed several hours, and then came back to my home. Bob came in as usual and we did not seem to have much to say. I mentioned Bill and he said that he was beginning to hate him. I could hardly believe my ears. Finally, after much persuasion he told me, that for the last five months he had hoped that something would happen to Bill or something that would separate Bill and I, for he said he loved me. He coaxed me to do something, but what can I do? I have told Bill that I love him and he loves me madly, and if he suspected, there would be something dreadful happen. I cannot very well tell Bob that I can do nothing, for he is of a revengeful race and would stop at nothing. Please, Miss Gale tell me what to do. I love Bob as a brother, but only Bill can fill the spot in my heart as a lover. Until I hear from you, I will still be in

THE ETERNAL TRIANGLE.

Can't you explain to Bob that you love the other boy and that nothing can change that? If he isn't man enough to accept your decision and to keep away from his best friend's sweetheart, then he is not worth protecting, and you should tell Bill about it.

YOU frequently hear the expression, but how seldom you see it actually portrayed! For the last six weeks he's, figuratively, been there. Ever since he decided that she was the ONE and ONLY girl in his life. And she knows it, the little witch, but how loath she is to let him know she knows.

And at last, she has him on his knees before her. True, it's only to fix the ski strap which has so conveniently come unfastened. But there he is—and what's more, there he's going to stay. For she knows now how he feels, and he knows that he's going to stay there. But that's love! Ever adoring, ever ready to render the smallest service. And he's perfectly content in the thought that for the rest of his life he'll be "at her feet!"

Marion's Jealousy Causes Katherine to Become Alarmed

KATHERINE is too close to me to feel compelled to hide her real feelings beneath the professional mask with which her years as a nurse have armed her. There was real anxiety in her voice and eyes as she asked me if anything besides the Brixton letter had disturbed Lillian during the day, and the knowledge that she was worried broke down the reserve I might otherwise have felt at speaking of Marion's actions.

"Yes, she has had rather a trying day with Marion," I said, "and an exciting one all around."

"Do you mind telling me about it?" Katherine said quietly, drawing forward a chair for me. "You know I wouldn't ask it if I didn't think it necessary for me to know what is troubling Lillian."

"Why, do you think—?" I began, startled.

"I think we may have another nervous breakdown on our hands such as she suffered several years ago, remember?"

Did I remember? I caught my breath at the memory of that time when Lillian's life and reason hung in the balance for weeks.

"I see you do," Katherine commented grimly. "Don't look so alarmed. The thing isn't inevitable, nor imminent. I'm sure we can ward it off if we can get at what's worrying her. But, if she keeps on driving herself with as taut a rein as she's using now, she'll take a header before very long."

"I think the whole trouble lies in Lillian's adoration of Marion and her exaggerated, almost morbid sense of duty toward the girl," I said slowly. "And Marion is acting like a spoiled baby. She resents every familiar nickname Harry uses toward Lillian, every bit of comradely conversation he carries on with her."

I retailed swiftly the incidents of the day, with Marion's purposeful dawdling over the shopping, Lillian's effective discipline, and the girl's gracious capitulation concerning the motor car.

"But she couldn't keep it up," I said sadly. "Whenever Harry spoke to Lillian on the way home, in that way he has, Marion's back straightened as if somebody had just thrust a steel bar down the length of her spine. Of course Lillian saw it, and was distressed, accordingly."

"Yes, I know that 'way' he has," Katherine said. "Pity he couldn't tone it down a little when he knows the effect it has on Marion. He ought to remember that, to a sensitive girl, it's almost like having her mother die to have to share her with a stepfather. Oh, I know, Marion ought to be switched soundly, but—I can see her point of view, too."

"So can I, but I think you do Harry an injustice. I'm sure he's doing everything in his power to conciliate Marion. And—I'm violating a confidence, but I must do him justice—he was determined to go away—told me about it only a few days ago because he thought the situation was impossible. I persuaded him to change his mind only by convincing him that Lillian needed him."

"Which she does," Katherine commented. "But isn't that just like a man—be ready for a big stunt of renunciation like that and overlook the fact that he's constantly raising blisters on Marion's jealousy by his manner toward Lillian. Look here, you've always had a lot of influence with Harry. Suppose you tell him to lay off the 'let's-go-old-pal' stuff until after Marion has gone back to school. It's her innings now, let her have her mother as much as possible. In the meantime I'll take the young woman aside and throw the fear of God into her about her mother's nerves and health."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Ring Finger

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. I have a small diamond ring which I wear on the third finger of my left hand. This is, I believe, the engagement ring finger. It looks best there. Is this correct?

2. Is this writing paper correct for a young lady's use?

3. Is my handwriting good?

ESTHER.

THERE really isn't anything incorrect about wearing the ring on this finger, but I should not think that you would want to wear it on a finger that is so "significant." Aren't comments constantly being made about this ring? Aren't you "accused" of being engaged?

Won't this take away from the glory of the ring that some day will be put on this finger—with meaning?

2. Yes. But your ink is of too light a shade of blue.

3. Very good.

Return Her Visit

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

If a lady makes her first visit to my home and I am not at home and she leaves her card, am I expected to return that visit?

M. M. M.

YES, within 10 days or two weeks.

The Best Form

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly give me the form for the marriage announcement for a girl whose father is dead and whose mother lives in a distant town? The girl has been away from home for a number of years.

E. A.

THE announcement would, in the best form, be issued in the name of the girl's mother. It makes no difference that the girl has been away from home for several years—indeed, this is an added reason why the mother should make the marriage announcement.

Call on Him

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I should like to join your Good Manners Column! Is it proper for a girl to go to a hospital to see a young man with whom she has been out only a few times? Or is it better to send him flowers instead of going to see him?

WORRIED.

INDEED, it is proper, and generous-thoughted, for you to go to the hospital to see the young man. But take some friend with you, or a sister or your mother, to give the proper "appearance." And send him books or magazines, instead of flowers.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Dust May Be Cause of "Cold" Symptoms

SNEEZING, coughing and hoarseness are found at all seasons of the year. They are not symptoms of winter or summer, but may be experienced in any month of the year.

DR. COPELAND

Not every case of sneezing comes from "taking cold." Many cases of running nose and sore throat come from breathing dust and smoke. A long automobile trip through the country or a visit to a mill, may produce so much irritation that the eyes and nose run and the throat feels as if it had been sandpapered.

People differ materially in the way irritating vapors and dust affect them. Some persons appear to have such hardened tissues that they are not affected. On the contrary, others are so susceptible to mechanical irritation that even a small amount of dust in the atmosphere may prove disturbing.

No matter how you live, you come in contact with germs. A test of the secretions of the nose will reveal in almost every instance the presence of pus-producing and disease-producing germs. They will be washed away with the secretions and never give any evidence of their presence. Even though they are "dangerous germs," they are carried away without leaving bad effects.

All of us possess certain powers of resistance. We are not readily infected by germ life. It is only when our powers of resistance are lowered for some reason that trouble is likely to follow.

If you spend hours in sweeping your house or work for a long time in a dusty field or a dusty building, the nose becomes irritated. In that event the germs, which were harmless before, become harmful because a doorway has been opened for them.

The point I want to make clear is that, so far as can be done, everybody should avoid spending hours at a time in the dust or smoke. Of course, you can become hardened to this sort of life, and, unfortunately, it is necessary for some person to become so hardened. There is work that must be done, and somebody must do it.

Do not think because the weather is warm that you can expose yourself to drafts and wind and dust and iritating vapors. You must protect your body in such weather just as you do in the winter. You must exercise care and common sense at all seasons.

Fortunately, in order to keep cool, the windows are widely opened, but if you happen to have a cold, don't hesitate to leave the windows open and depend upon extra covers to keep you warm. Your good health and the avoidance of colds depend upon your having fresh air all the time.

Answers to Health Queries

L. L. Q.—What can I do to make the muscles of my legs larger?

A.—I would suggest plenty of exercise such as walking, running, skating, dancing and bicycle riding.

I. M. Q.—What will help neuritis? I have taken medicine to no avail.

A.—First of all try to locate the source of infection causing the trouble. Baking, electricity, baths, diet and medication all have value as treatment depending upon the cause in each case.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, February 16

A FAIRLY active state of affairs is the augury based upon the secondary aspects of inciting planets to the moon. The energies will be moderately keyed to initiative and enterprising, but a certain restless tendency and yearning for precipitate change may defeat the best endeavors. Despite restlessness and longing for action, the mind will be alert and capable of constructive thinking.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a fairly active year with some initiative, but not enough to satisfy the quickened energies, restless spirits and keenly alert mind, unless they have the indomitable resolution to push things to a self-satisfying degree.

A child born on this day may have fine energies and capacities for successful undertakings, with an alert and clever mind, but it may be innately nervous, restless and fond of change and adventure.

Strength of mind is exercise, not rest.—Pope.

Take Hill's for that Cold!"

No one wants sneezers and snifflers around. So avoid close contacts while you have a cold—and for your own good take HILL'S CASCARA-QUININE as quickly as you can. HILL'S CASCARA-QUININE tablets break up a cold in one day because they do the four necessary things in one—(1) stop the cold, (2) check the fever, (3) open the bowels, (4) tone the system.

HILL'S CASCARA-QUININE

Every cold requires prompt and decisive action, for you can't tell where a cold will lead. HILL'S combines the four necessary helps in one tablet. So be sure it's HILL'S you ask for and HILL'S you get.

This New Way of Fadeless Washing

This Priceless Gold Encrusted Dinner Service Washed 347 Times Without Slightest Wear!

This Exquisite French Hosiery Washed 45 Times Without Injury!

A New Discovery That Ends Ruining Fine Things Regardless How Often Washed—And Cuts Washing Time of Clothes and Dishes ONE-HALF or More

A DISCOVERY has been made that can save the average family many dollars . . . an utterly new way of saving fabrics from wash tub fade and wear, and fine china from dishpan fade.

Yet—a way that cuts the actual labor of that work in half. You wash exquisite things times without number—without slightest sign of soap-fade or wear. You use any kind of ordinary soap, in gentleness and safety.

It marks a new era in housework. Women are flocking to its use. Believe or not what is claimed for it—but try it. Find out what it does—you'll never be without it.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene. A scientific discovery that acts in two ways:

That takes the harshness out of the worst "hard" water; the hardness that makes extra rubbing and the superfluous use of strong soap necessary to get things white and clean.

That turns that harsh "hard" water INSTANTLY into water so soft that it does the work with ONE-FOURTH the amount of soap you now use.

Then, that due to bland cleansing qualities in itself, DISSOLVES all dirt and grime. And thus again cuts the amount of soap you use. And cuts washing time—in either dishpan or washing machine—50 per cent or more. Consider what that means in saving wear and spoil.

10¢ packages (12 OZ.)

CLIMALENE

You just add two tablespoons to a tub of water. That is all. Use any kind of soap you are accustomed to. Then see for yourself the amazing results.

Laboratory Proved

To prove those points, we wash fine things all day long. French lingerie, for instance, we wash 40, 50 times with this preparation and ordinary soap or washing flakes. Even the most delicate colors do not fade.

We wash fine colored table linens up to 80 times—WITHOUT fade. We take gold encrusted china of almost priceless value and wash with Climalene hundreds of times. And never a sign of gold worn away.

We pay $5 for fine stockings of light tint color. Then TRY to fade them with repeated washings. And only when we fail in fading them, does this amazing preparation go to you.

AND—it acts actually as a BEAUTIFIER to the hands. Never before have you seen a cleanser so gentle.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages.

Influenza Remedy Reported Found

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Two professors of the University of Berlin have reported to the Berlin Medical Association the discovery of a symptomatic remedy for grip, known more commonly in the United States as influenza.

The professors are Dr. Louis Lewin, toxicologist, and Dr. Paul Schuster, neurologist.

The drug is described as an alkaloid of a creeper or liama indigenous to Mexico and Ecuador, which plant is used by the Indians as a narcotic. It was stated to be particularly efficacious in cases of cerebral influenza.

Fire Destroys Mine Tipple

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The tipple of the Komajko Coal Company mine, near here, was destroyed by fire last night. Damage was estimated at $35,000. No one was injured.

Alfonso Considering De Rivera's Removal

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Travelers from Spain say that information obtained from reliable sources indicates King Alfonso is planning to hold a series of conferences on whether to retain the present government in power. He will consult with prominent members of the army, politicians, financiers and social leaders.

Some of the travelers said they thought these conferences might mean a change of government in case the majority of the parties interviewed by the King declared themselves against Premier Primo De Rivera's continuing in power.

"Vatican City" Name Given New Papal State

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The use of the new geographical designation "Vatican City" now is considered the most accurate way of indicating the place of origin of news stories concerning the activities surrounding the papal household.

As specified in the Italo-Vatican accord, the Vatican, with nearby buildings, now forms an independent state by itself under the name Vatican City.

The papal authorities are understood to favor this practice since it demonstrates throughout the world the complete independence of the newly carved out papal state from any temporal sovereignty and emphasizes the freedom which the Pontiff now enjoys.

Plea of Sickness Delays Jail Term

John Miller, Negro, member of the election board of the Twentieth District of the Fifth Ward, probably will be examined by Jail Physician Charles J. Ellis today to determine if his condition warrants his serving out a six-month sentence on election irregularity charges.

Miller was sentenced to jail with other members of the board December 7, but as he was recuperating from an attack of influenza, Dr. Ellis believed it unwise for him to begin his term at that time.

Miller reported for commitment yesterday, still claiming his physical condition was bad. An examination was ordered.

Child Dies of Burns

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 15.—Verna Lumanik, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lumanik, of Vestaburg, died last night of burns suffered Monday when her clothing was ignited at an open grate.

Man Taken in Bank On Forgery Charge

Arrested as he is alleged to have attempted to cash a forged check, in a downtown bank, Dennis Murphy Day, 38, of 6310 Marchand street, was lodged in Central Police Station on a suspicious person charge yesterday.

The name of W. E. Motheral, downtown business man, had been forged on the check, according to city detectives who arrested Day.

Bad Check Suspect Praises Detectives

"You're the first detectives to catch me," remarked Fred W. Morgan, 47, of 1136 Western avenue, to City Detectives Michael Tortorelli and Murray Edlis after he had been arrested on a charge of passing a worthless check. Morgan, detectives say, eluded them several days ago by jumping from a second-story window of his home.

He will be arraigned in Central Police Court today.

Miner Found Guilty Of Murder at Dance

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 15.—John France, a miner, of Bertha, near Burgettstown, was convicted of second degree murder yesterday in connection with the killing of Paul Hendrix, at Bertha, during a quarrel at a dance.

Land in Rome Bought By American College

ROME, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Land has been purchased by the American College on which to build dormitories that will house 300 theological students. The plot was part of a tract that originally was purchased by the college for propaganda of the faith.

Woman Hurls Water And Routs Intruder

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Feb. 15.—Mrs. William Edie, of Goshen avenue, routed an unidentified assailant who seized her when she went outside her home to get a bucket of water, by throwing the water on the intruder, who fled, she reported to police.

Real Estate

A tract of land including 48 lots in the Frankstown avenue district, has been sold through Charles E. Jackson to C. Winston Blake. The purchaser will improve it with small homes. Mr. Jackson was the broker in the sale for Michael D'Amico to Garfield W. Lee, of a duplex and three-car garage on 30x100 feet at 6424 Meadow street, Twelfth Ward, for $15,000.

Z. L. Eisner has leased for the United Cigar Stores, Inc., to the Sonia Shoe Company, the storeroom and basement at 208 Stanwix street for a long term. The tenant will take possession March 1.

Eugene S. Reilly & Company has conveyed to Samuel T. Campbell, 25x102 feet, improved, in Sylvania avenue, Eighteenth Ward, for $9,725.

A property in Rugby avenue, Ingram, lot 25x105 feet, has been transferred from Theodore Hess to Edwin White.

In Brookline, Ivar Swanson has sold to Elmer E. Beggs, 59x100 feet in Pioneer avenue.

In Mt. Lebanon, the Betterbilt Homes Company has sold to David M. Brill a house on 50x128 feet in Pennsylvania boulevard.

Building permit applications included:

Fourth Ward—F. L. Street, brick and tile apartment and garage, 301-09 Atwood street, $61,000.

Eighth Ward—Emma Weber, brick and tile store, 112-14 South Negley avenue, $8,500.

Nineteenth Ward—S. Lerda, brick dwelling, 1128 Tropical avenue, $6,000; J. T. Costello, brick and tile dwelling, 1079 Fordham street, $5,500.

Thawing Water Pipes With Gasoline Fatal

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN ENTERED IN FLAG CONTEST

Flag Day are eligible to compete, but those whose birthday comes before that date are ineligible.

2. Boys will compete only against boys and girls only against girls, each receiving identical awards.

3. Contests will be conducted in the various communities of the United States by public high schools or their equivalent in private or parochial schools, or by patriotic or civic organizations in the community. Each school or organization conducting a contest will be known as a "Local Contest Unit."

ALL SUPPLIES FREE

4. There must be at least 25 contestants in each contest unit. They may be all boys or all girls, or if a unit is conducting a contest for both boys and girls, at least six of the contestants must be either boys or girls.

5. Any school or organization may obtain authority to conduct a Flag Contest by writing to the Flag Contest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and stating the approximate number of contestants they will have. All supplies and information will be furnished free.

6. Boys and girls wishing to enter the contest should talk to their teachers or the heads of patriotic organizations and to their parents, urging someone to conduct a Flag Contest in their community.

7. As many Flag Contests as there are schools or organizations in a city or community that wishes to conduct them may be held, but no boy or girl may enter more than one contest.

MEDALS TO BE GIVEN

8. Winners in school and organization contests will be awarded the "Old Glory Medal" of the United States Flag Association and life membership in the Order of the Flag, the Legion of Honor of the United States Flag Association, of which Lindbergh was the first member. Their papers will be sent to the offices of the sponsoring Hearst newspaper in their territory to be judged by a jury of prominent men and women.

9. The boy and girl chosen by the Regional Juries of Award as Regional Flag Champions will be given a free trip to Washington and other patriotic shrines and the Cross of Honor of the United States Flag Association. Their papers will be judged in Washington by a National Jury of Award and the three boys and the three girls receiving the highest marks will recite their essays in a competition to determine the National Flag Champions.

10. The National Flag Champions will be given a free trip around the world, accompanied by women of national prominence, a complete traveling wardrobe, including trunks and hand luggage, and $200 in spending money.

11. Complete rules and regulations governing the Flag Contest will be sent to the heads of schools and organizations upon receipt of an application to conduct a contest.

Meal Tickets Halt Riot of Unemployed

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—After the police had been armed with tear bombs and every available policeman in the city placed on duty around the Parliament buildings, a threatened riot by Edmonton's unemployed failed to materialize.

Instead of creating any disturbance, the men quietly paraded yesterday to the buildings and the provincial police authorities handed out meal and bed tickets.

Schoolgirl at Study Slain by Accident

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 15.—Ruby Ramey, 14-year-old schoolgirl of Vestaburg, was accidentally shot and killed last night while studying her lessons at the home of a neighbor. Michael Kozub, a boarder at the home, fired a rifle which he had thought unloaded and the bullet struck the girl just below her shoulder. She died in a few minutes. Kozub was held pending a coroner's inquest. The victim was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ramey.

New Trial Refused Woman in Rum Sale

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 15.—Judge R. L. Hildebrand refused the application of Miss Katheryn Klee, secretary of the New Castle Fair Association, convicted at the last term of court of selling liquor, for a new trial.

School at Maxwell Damaged by Flames

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 15.—Three hundred school children were deprived of a school house at Maxwell, near here, early yesterday, when flames, caused damage of $4,000. It will require several weeks to repair the burned building.

"What a Miracle that would be ... a Coughless Audience,"

Says Morris Gest,

world famous producer of "The Miracle," and also Balieff's "Chauve Souris."

MORRIS GEST

"Many times I have stood in the wings and watched my unfortunate artists out there, struggling against a volley of coughs. The annoyance of the audience, and the embarrassment of the coughers, created a most unhappy situation.

"Peggy Wood and Eddie Cantor blame harsh tobacco as the chief cause of theatre coughs. And recommend OLD GOLDS. I join in that ... for OLD GOLDS are most kind and considerate to my throat. If I ever stage 'The Miracle' again OLD GOLDS shall be given out with each ticket ... for a quiet house. And what a miracle that would be!"

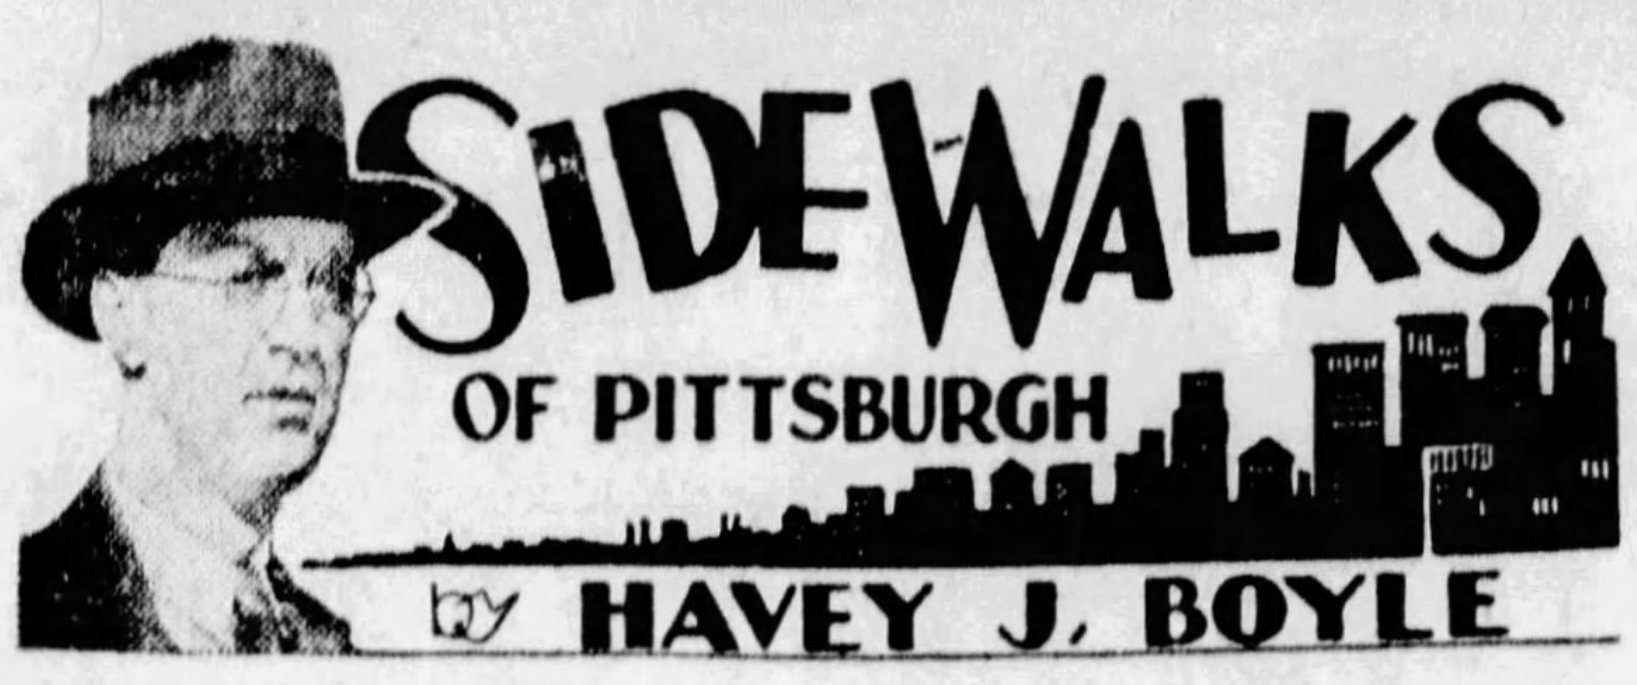
20 Meetings to Protest Blue Law Change



SIDE-WALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

JOE BARTON, publicity man for the Republican State Committee, in Harrisburg the other day was called on to don the soup and fish to attend a certain state reception in the capital. He had so much difficulty adjusting his necktie properly that at last he called upon the man in the next room of his hotel to assist him. With a great deftness the man adjusted Mr. Barton's tie in even less than the well-known and time honored jiffy. Upon leaving Mr. Barton the man left his card. He happened to be an undertaker.

In an East End home there were no children. As is not unusual in such circumstances much was made of a French poodle. A married daughter recently returned to this Pittsburgh home, with a baby, and the grandparents, of course, spent a great deal of time asking the baby to say such foolish words as "Goo, Goo," and generally cut up as grandparents are apt to do. Temporarily, the French poodle was forgotten. It proved too much for the canine. One evening he crept under a bed and the next morning he died. "Broken heart," said the terse statement from the veterinary, called in, alas, too late. A client asked me to investigate the case and two veteran investigators were sent out at once. They reported the fact that the dog was 10 years old likely had more to do with its demise than inattention.

HE WAS ONLY 10 YEARS OLD !
SNIFF SNIFF
ONLY 10 ?

THE newsboy who sells papers at Liberty avenue and Wood street is recovering from blindness. He was in darkness until one eye began detecting shimmers of light. At present he can see only headline type, but he is grateful for a look at the sun and the moon and human beings. Former employment in a box factory gives way to vending news.

The current indignation over the death of a Sanitago workman arrested by the coal and iron police recalls to a veteran of the town a similar disturbance in the long ago when Santiago was considered a tough spot. Lawlessness was so rampant that the authorities despaired of bringing order out of chaos. An enterprising newspaperman of the time, the late Charley Kirkpatrick, sent a reporter, Sam Kennedy to the town to write of conditions. The first line of that story was not exactly a flop. It ran: "The Devil is the Mayor of This Hell Hole." A quotation, it was, from the mouth of a prominent resident. Conditions were exposed and from that time until this Santiago has been virtually free of crime news of any dimensions.

THE recent killing at Santiago has moved the district attorney to call it the most brutal killing in his experience and prompts County Detective Robert L. McMillen to say: "In 28 years of county police work I have seen nothing to approach this crime in brutality."

The fact that case-hardened reporters, who are accustomed to all kinds of human beings and who refuse to be shocked considerably by anything, are moved to write in this case as crusaders is an indication that the present affair will result in a movement to eliminate chances of repetition.

The movie people may be in a quandary as to whether the public likes the talkies better than the silent pictures, but if my vote settles the whole question the movie people will abandon the silent ones and go in exclusively for the talkies. Never a movie fan of the rabid type I am consequently no expert, but after seeing and hearing "Weary River," I can't see how there can be much argument on the question of the talkies and the silent ones. "Weary River" is a talkie of considerable excellence.

BIDS FOR OLD FIRE HOUSES AND POLICE STATION MADE

Bids for three obsolete buildings offered for sale by councilmanic resolution have been received by B. L. Succop, city sales agent, and James M. Clark, safety director. The bids will be submitted to Council.

Bidders, buildings and prices were: Edward C. Brainerd, $80,000, and the Independent Wall Paper Company, $65,520, for No. 8 Fire Engine House, Highland avenue and Broad street; George Jaffe, $22,000, for No. 15 Fire Engine House, Penn avenue, near Fourteenth street; B. Goldenberg, $14,000, for No. 6 Police Station, Frankstown avenue.

Council recently notified Succop to withhold action on No. 15 Fire Engine House as it was to figure in negotiations with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the widening of Penn avenue. The notice was late, as the advertising had been arranged. Council, however, has the right to reject any or all bids, it was said.

The Independent Wall Paper bid was submitted 10 minutes after the legally appointed time and will not be considered, Director Clark said. Brainerd's bid was submitted personally to Director Clark instead of to Succop.

To Speak

FREDERIC A. GODCHARLES

Godcharles, state historian and librarian, will address the Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the annual Washington's birthday luncheon in Hotel Schenley.

Vags Sad as Judge Denies Them Jail, Food

"You can't make a loafing place out of our jails!"

With this announcement of Magistrate John Orie in Central Police Court this morning, instead of the hoped for "30 days," two gentlemen of now and then leisure, Frank Kolauski, 60, and Victor Gabrella, 40, "took the air," literally and actually.

"Hand-outs" have been thrown in with a night's lodging at Central Station, and nearly 300 spent last night in comparative comfort and warmth behind the bars.

Frank and Victor pleaded guilty to vagrancy before Magistrate Orie. They asked to be sent to jail.

"Nothing doing," observed the magistrate. "You fellows expect too much—outside and no eats!"

They were given the "bum's rush!"

Two North Side Boys Released in Robbery

Two of eight North Side boys arrested in connection with the roundup of a gang of house robbers and purse snatchers were discharged in Morals Court today for lack of evidence.

They are Edward Nisodlak, 17, of 401 Maline street, and Frank Cotton, 19, Negro, of 1 Dornestic street. The others were held for investigation.

Boy's Jaw Injured In Coasting Crash

Albert Milano, 10, 126 Bangor street, received a probable fracture of the jaw when his sled in which he was riding collided with another sled operated by an unidentified boy, on Wilbert street, Mt. Washington, yesterday. After receiving first aid at the St. Joseph's Hospital, Milano was taken to his home.

Bleakney to Speak At Newark, Ohio

The Rev. Edward Bleakney, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church of Dormont, will be the principal speaker at a community banquet to be held in Newark, O., Tuesday evening.

To Sing

EDITH M. GEORGE

Miss George, soprano, soloist tonight at the Allegheny County Christian Endeavor concert in the North Side Carnegie Library.

PARK IMPROVING PLANS READY

Plans to improve the Negley avenue entrance to Highland Park will be presented to Council next Monday by Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works.

The plan provides for the construction of a plaza between Negley avenue and Mellon street which would form a traffic circle to route traffic one way only.

Lang is considering an offer for beautification received from Mrs. Violet Sanford Bausman, state regent and member of the conservation and tree planting committee of Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The organize wants to finance and supervise the planting of trees and shrubbery as a memorial to persons who have rendered conspicuous service to the nation.

Roomer Fined for Causing Disturbance

James Harris, 35, likes his former rooming house at 706 East Ohio street so well he returns against the wishes of Mrs. Zelda Ingram, proprietress, it was testified in Morals Court when Harris was arraigned for the fourth time within two weeks. Mrs. Ingram testified he returns during the nights and by whistling and stomping in the hallways, disturbs the roomers. He was fined $25 on a suspicious person charge.

Mrs. Elizabeth Burgum, 4343 Stanton avenue, disposed of a $14,500 estate by terms of her will filed for probate. She leaves her home to her daughter, Elizabeth, and two houses at 5226 Holmes street, to her son George. The latter is named executor.

Says Wife Cruel, Sues for Divorce

Charles Guest, Sheridan avenue, North Braddock, is suing Mrs. Elizabeth L. Guest, 44 Hart street, Wilkinsburg, for divorce on grounds of cruelty. The libel, filed in Common Pleas Court, sets forth they were married December 26, 1913 and separated January 24, 1920.

Men's Class Will Give Entertainment

An entertainment under the auspices of the Men's Bible class of the First Christian church, Montgomery avenue and Arch street, North Side, will be given tonight in the church room. Ralph R. Kohler will speak on "Life in the Arctic Region."

N. Side Husband Sues for Divorce

John Anderson, 518 Taylor avenue, North Side, has filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas Court against Mrs. Mabel Anderson, Western avenue, charging desertion. They were married July 14, 1921, and lived together until February 8, 1925.

4 N. BOROUGHS OUT OF WATER 12 HOURS

Four of the North Boroughs were without water for 12 hours—from 2 p. m. Wednesday until 2 a. m. yesterday—all because engineers drilling test holes in the Spruce Creek ravine, Ben Avon, penetrated a main.

Residents of Ben Avon, part of Avalon, Ben Avon Heights and Emsworth resorted to wells and springs, melted ice or trekked to Bellevue or the Ohio River for their water supply.

Workmen of the Pittsburgh Suburban Water Service Company had difficulty locating the break and labored through the night to make repairs. The test holes were being made preliminary to construction of a bridge on the route of the proposed Ohio River boulevard.

MAINE HEROES HONORED

Members of all camps of the United Spanish War Veterans of Allegheny County today are paying their annual tribute to the heroes who lost their lives when the battleship Maine went down in Havana Harbor. The commemoration opened this morning when a committee of veterans placed memorial wreaths on the Spanish War Veteran and Col. Hawkins monuments in Schenley Park and on the Maine memorial in North Side Park. A wreath also laid on the grave of Lieut. Friend W. Jenkins—Pittsburgh officer who lost his life on the Maine.

The feature event of the day will be a memorial service at the North Side temple of B. P. O. E., Cedar avenue, tonight. The service is under the auspices of Merrill Allen Camp No. 15. Addresses will be made by Department Commander J. Clark Mansfield, City Councilmen Daniel E. Winters and Harry J. Little and the Rev. M. F. Bierbaum.

Missionary Society Elects New Officers

Officers were chosen yesterday by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Bellevue Presbyterian Church at a luncheon-meeting in the church parlors. The following were elected: President, Mrs. Milton C. Phillips; first vice president, Mrs. Etta McCandless; second vice president, Mrs. Mrs. C. J. C. McDowell; secretary, Mrs. J. M. Doremus; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. R. Gerber; treasurer, Mrs. E. C. Slater; assistant treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Brooks. The Rev. Ralph Hall, a missionary, of New Mexico, spoke and a missionary play was presented by members of the society.

Fall Down Stairs Fatal to Woman

Mrs. Marguerite Frame, 68, of 7715 Hamilton avenue, died last night in the Columbia Hospital from a fractured skull suffered a week ago in a fall down the stairs in her home, according to the coroner's report.

CITY DETECTIVE MAKES SHIP MODELS AS HOBBY

DETECTIVE HARRY C. WILLIAMS AND THE SHIP HE BUILT

Williams, precinct detective attached to the West End Police Station, has a hobby that fills his leisure periods. He makes ship models, of which his favorite "Hudson's Halfmoon."

CRASH IGNITES GAS; 4 HURT

Blinded by the lights of another automobile, Peter Copetas, 31, of 519 Hastings street, early today drove his car off the road and crashed into the front of the Superior Garage and Storage Battery Company, 1463 West Liberty avenue.

*The impact shattered a gas line in the building and an explosion followed. Flames spread through the garage and to the wrecked car.

Hurled from the machine, Copetas and three other passengers were injured.

Other motorists turned in a fire alarm and took the victims of the wreck to Mercy Hospital.

Copetas suffered head injuries; Mrs. Gus George, of 5 Utica place, bruises and cuts; James Petrolias, 34, of 307 Colfax Square, an injured leg, and Mrs. Olympia Kastrantas, of 339 Omega street, a sprained ankle. All were sent home.

Firemen extinguished the blaze at the garage after the flames had caused $2,000 loss. Damage to Cope-

North Side Baker Hangs Self in Shop

Leonard Glock, 60, a baker, of 1261 Juniata street, North Side, was found hanging in the basement of his shop this morning. Ill health is said to have prompted him to end his life, a coroner's report states.

City Drive Nets 23 'One-Eyed' Motorists

Twenty-three "one-eyed" motorists were "nabbed" at the Point Bridge and West Carson street, from 8 to 11 o'clock last night by a picked squad of motorcycle police headed by Patrolman Frank Smith, in conjunction with a city-wide crusade of automobile violations.

All violators were taken to the West End Police Station, where they deposited a cash forfeit for their appearance in Traffic Court tomorrow. They were all charged with violating the automobile laws. Violators arrested on the South Side for driving with only one headlight, were fined $10 each in Traffic Court, yesterday.

STAGE-STRUCK WIFE HELD

Stage aspirations of Mrs. J. T. Fitzsimmons, 32, pianist, and William Walters, 28, who strums a banjo, both of Olean, N. Y., ended today in Morals Court.

The two were arrested last night in the downtown postoffice as they appeared at the general delivery window for mail. Today Mrs. Fitzsimmons admitted she left her husband, a railroad fireman, and came here to meet Walters to practice for a theatrical act. Walters confirmed this. They had been living for two days at 1040 Fifth avenue, they said.

"I'm sorry," said the wife. "I want to go back home."

Magistrate A. D. Brandon held both over.

Pastor Will Speak On "The Church"

The Rev. R. L. Hutchinson, pastor of the South Side Presbyterian Church, South Twentieth and Sarah streets, has chosen "The Church" for the topic of his Sunday morning's sermon. "An Impossibility" will be the subject of his evening sermon.

"Man's Need of God' was chosen by the Rev. Dr. Charles C. Cribbs, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, West Prospect avenue, Ingram, for the morning sermon. In the evening, union service will be held and the topic will be "Opportunity's Call."

S. Side Man Held In Radio Theft

Paul Halenda, 17, 1005 Carson street, arrested in a South Side electrical store when he tried to dispose of a radio valued at $150 for a few dollars, was held over for further investigation by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court yesterday.

Threatened With Knife, Wife Declares

Their marital troubles culminating in the husband threatening to kill his wife with a butcher knife while they were living in a camp at Oakmont, Mrs. Minnie Cain, 37, 740 Kelly avenue, Wilkinsburg, testified before Judge Frank P. Patterson in Common Pleas Court against her husband, William J. Cain, of Swissvale. They were married in 1909 and have two sons, 16 and 19. The wife testified her husband left in 1925 and said he owes her $1,900 on a desertion and non-support court order.

CITY DETECTIVE BUILDS BOATS

Pounding sidewalks is not all that Harry C. Williams, precinct detective of the West End district, can do. He also finds time to build ship models. His favorite is the "Hudson's Halfmoon."

His latest "Halfmoon" took him one month to make. One hour a day was the average in the making. It is 18 inches from stem to stern, 14 inches from keel to top of main mast. The ship was constructed with 118 pieces of wood and more than 100 feet of "rigging" is used.

It contains 6 masts, namely: main, top, flag and forecastle masts bow spread and stern spread. It is complete with strakes, life boats, lubber holes, windlass, steps and forecastle guns.

Detective Williams, who lives at 24 Mt. Oliver street, uses a penknife, coping saw and file.

Two Deny Bologna Theft, Fined $25

Two young men denied in Morals Court today that they had stolen 15 pounds of bologna from the Pittsburgh Provision Company plant, Herrs Island. However, George Roth, an employe of the company, testified that he saw William Lezen and Paul Skanderson, of 2931 Mulberry way, stuff the bologna in the backs of their overcoat and run. He captured them on the bridge. Magistrate A. D. Brandon fined each $25.

Semple Expedition Subject of Lecture

J. Kenneth Doutt, assistant mammalogist at Carnegie Museum, will lecture tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, in Carnegie Lecture Hall, on the recent John Semple expedition to Labrador. His lecture on "Thirty Days in Canadian Labrador" will be illustrated with pictures of plants and animal groups.

Judge Trimble New Orphans' Court Head

Judge Thomas P. Trimble was sworn in as presiding judge of Orphans' Court today to fill the vacancy caused by the death last Sunday of Judge J. J. Miller. The oath was administered by Judge H. Walton Mitchell, of Orphans' Court.

10-YEAR HUNT FOR FAME CLIMAXED BY BANQUET

Ten years ago Fonce Kellams left Braddock to seek fortune and adventure on the high seas—last night in the Knights of Columbus clubhouse, Braddock, residents of the district paid homage to him at a banquet and hailed him Braddock's sea hero.

Speakers told of the heroic rescue effected by Kellams and others of the crew of the liner America January 23, when they went to the aid of the men and officers of the stricken Florida, and proudly acclaimed Kellams as Braddock's hero.

Tokens of his neighbors' appreciation, a purse, medals and a portrait by a youthful Braddock artist, Angelo Di Vincenzo, were presented Kellams with such feeling as to make an expression of gratitude a difficult task. James L. Quinn made the presentation.

Congressman Clyde Kelly, State Legislator M. A. Musmanno, Dr. Finley K. Whitfield and W. Titus Hodder gave addresses. The welcome was given by Burgess W. L. Callahan. Malcolm Goldsmith was the toastmaster, while the invocation was given by the Rev. Guy D. Wallace. Thomas G. McCleary was the chairman of the banquet.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.

They are already claiming it's against "precedent" and that Hoover shouldn't enter Washington while Coolidge is "headman." Well, I am with Hoover. Fished all the way to South America and all the way back. Now they want him to fish till March. Any guy that can fish over a week and be satisfied is not the one we want for President.

This busy man's vacation is a lot of "boloney," anyhow. The bigger he is the less he enjoys a vacation. It's always a bird that never does anything that enjoys a vacation.

There is nothing in the world as hard as playing when you don't want to.

100 CHURCHES JOIN STATE WIDE MOVE

The Sabbath Association of the Pittsburgh Area today announced a series of group mass meetings in 20 Allegheny County churches Sunday afternoon and night to protest against proposed legislation for the modification of the Sunday laws.

Charging that the proponents of modification are misrepresenting the Sunday laws, the Sabbath association has announced a statewide campaign of education.

United efforts in more than 100 congregations have been started to bring out a great attendance at the mass meetings. Chairmen have been appointed in the downtown districts and in all the suburban communities to work up sentiment supporting the pro-Sabbath movement. The Rev. Dr. Robert M. Blackwood, secretary of the Sabbath Association, has announced the following meetings:

City Buys Machine To Sign Pay Checks

A labor-saving check-writing machine, costing $875, for signing warrants for current accounts, was ordered today for the city controller's office. Mayor Charles H. Kline and Controller Henry O. Evans approved the purchase of the device after witnessing a demonstration.

The time required for the hand signatures takes several days each semi-monthly period, whereas the new device will sign 1,000 an hour. An existing ordinance providing for hand signatures will have to be amended to legalize the use of the new machine.

Repairs on Federal Lines Stop 'Phoning

Telephone communication from the Federal Telephone Exchange, which comprises McKees Rocks, Stowe Township and surrounding territory, was disrupted more than an hour this morning when repairs necessitated by rerouting trunk lines into the city. Service was restored shortly before noon.

Former Bank Cashier Acquitted of Thefts

FRANKLIN, Pa., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Edmond L. Flick, 27, former cashier of the Citizens' Bank of Pleasantville, was acquitted yesterday of charges of burglary and breaking and entering in connection with the robbery and an attempt to burn the bank on September 24.

A charge of arson is pending against Flick and he is to have a hearing soon on four charges of forgery.

Rochester Boy Hurt As Sled Hits Auto

ROCHESTER, Pa., Feb. 15.—When his sled collided with an automobile driven by Carl DeWhirst, of 1515 Third avenue, New Brighton, James Duff, 7, son of S. B. Duff, Rochester, was injured on the head and body and is in a serious condition in the hospital here. DeWhirst was released on his own recognizance.

Lame Back or Lumbago Pain

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

Use applicator attached to cork, and brush "Heet" over the pain area. Immediately, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of your lame, aching back. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes circulation.

"Heet" instantly relieves rheumatic or neuritis pain in any joint, muscle or nerve, whether in the arm, shoulder, neck, legs or body. "Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate.

Man Dead in Woods With $6,000 Gone

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 15.—State police are investigating following the finding of the body of Blaaz Ahazic, 59, of White Valley, near Export, in a strip of woods near the mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company after he had disappeared from his home on February 3 with $6,000 in his pockets. Only a few pennies were found on the body.

"Don't COUGH Your Energy Away"

Exhausted . . . .
Because of a Cough

A STUBBORN cough can wrack your whole body—sap vitality. Each spasm not only irritates the delicate membranes of your throat but puts a severe strain upon your chest, stomach and other vital organs.

Your health demands that coughs be checked. They feed upon your strength—lower your resistance—expose you to more serious infections.

At the first sign of a cough or throat irritation, take PERTUSSIN. It helps Nature free the air passages of germ laden mucus, soothes the irritation and quiets the cough. PERTUSSIN has been prescribed more often for coughs than any other advertised remedy.

PERTUSSIN is safe even for small children and convalescents—a good remedy for "coughs that hang on". It is free from dope—does not upset the stomach and can be taken as often as necessary.

Your Sunday Dinner

By PRUDENCE PENNY

Roquefort and Pimento Cheese Canapes.
Roast Duckling.
Potato Croquettes.
Waldorf Salad.
Black Walnut Cake.
Coffee.

IF you are a connoisseur in the matter of Canapes, here's a special one for you: Mix equal quantities of Rocquefort and Pimento cheese, blending until the mixture is perfectly smooth. Spread on salted crackers, and see if it doesn't spur the appetite.

Roast duck doesn't need any inducement to make one enjoy it, but a delectable canape does lend a piquancy to the appetite that makes any course to follow more delightful. To prepare the duck—I know I've given these directions before, but there's a new crop of housewives each week, you know—dress, clean, stuff and truss the fowl.

Place on its back on a rack in a dripping pan, rub the whole surface with salt, and spread breast and legs with three tablespoons of butter, rubbed until creamy and mixed with two tablespoons of flour. Dredge the bottom of the pan with flour. Place in a hot oven, and when the flour is well browned, reduce the heat, then baste. Continue to baste every 10 minutes until the duck is cooked. Use ¼ cup of butter, melted in 2-3 cup of boiling water for the basting, and when that is gone, use the fat in the pan. Turn the duck frequently, so that it will brown evenly. Dredge the bird two or three times with flour, to get that nice, crispy crust. When the breast meat is tender, the bird is sufficiently cooked.

FRENCH CRULLERS—Cream a cup of butter with 1½ cups of powdered sugar, the yolks of 4 eggs; sift 4 cups of flour with 3 teaspoonsful of baking powder, ½ teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon of nutmeg and cinnamon mixed, add 4 beaten egg whites; make a dough stiff enough to roll out a quarter of an inch thick, cut in strips four inches long and one-half inch wide and fry in deep hot fat, till well browned; drain and roll in powdered sugar and cinnamon.

LIVER is a most important food. The inclusion of liver in the diet of those suffering from anaemia—whether the anaemia be in a mild form, or in its worst, most pernicious form—has accomplished wonders!

I know of a man who was a sufferer from pernicious anaemia—a disease for which no cure has ever been found. He was given up as a hopeless case by his physician; he went to a famous specialist, in the vague hope that something could be done for him.

He was put on a diet exclusively of liver—and in six months' time there wasn't a trace of anaemia left. So much of liver! It contains vitamins A and B in goodly amounts are most necessary to health.

Let me give you some choice liver recipes—and then serve liver more often in your household!

CREAMED LIVER—Cut two cups of cold, baked liver into small cubes. Put it in the cream sauce—using one cup of this sauce—and cook for ten minutes. Serve on toast. This makes a most delightful luncheon dish.

Bootleg Raids Net Wealthy Patrons' List

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Prohibition authorities had in their possession today a list of wealthy persons who they believe were patrons of a raided firm of bootleggers.

Raiding the premises of the Monroe Lamp and Equipment Company, in Manhattan, and the International Postal Supply Company, in Brooklyn, the agents said they found the customer list, $500,000 in high-grade liquors and documents indicating the firms supplied the bulk of the liquor for big dinners and social affairs.

WILKINSBURG BOY POET, DEAD BY POISON, BURIED

George Miller, 17-year-old Wilkinsburg poet, whose body was found by hikers on Lamentation Mount, near Meriden, Conn., several days ago, was buried in Woodlawn Cemetery today. Funeral services were at the home of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 419 South avenue, Wilkinsburg.

By his body, when found by the hikers, was found an empty bottle which was believed to have contained poison. He had been dead several weeks.

GRADUATED IN 1928

Classmates of Miller at the Wilkinsburg High School, from which he was graduated last June, recalled today a poem entitled "Melancholy," written by him and published in the school review last year.

In "Melancholy" the young poet revealed the sad tincture of his temperament in the following lines:

List to the dolorous chords of the sad lament,
Moaning its bitter tristesse and pouring is plaint;
The sorrowful symphony's melting, melodious flow
Unseals the deep fountain of hidden pathos and woe.

Shortly after graduating from high school Miller went to New York. He planned to get a newspaper position and to earn money with which to pay his way through Yale University.

But his efforts to "catch on" were futile, and he wrote his mother that things looked black.

From a time table, on which he had scribbled a verse of the melancholy poetry that distinguished him, police were able to fix the date of his death as December 31, 1928.

He is survived by his mother, a brother, James, 13, and a sister, Betty, 3.

HOMES BENEFIT BY WILL

Three Lutheran institutions, the Passavant Hospital, Passavant Memorial Home, Rochester, Pa., and the Orphans' Home at Zelienople, are given $2,000 each by the will of Charles F. G. Fetzer, of 360 South Pacific avenue, filed for probate today. His estate is valued at $52,500. To his brother, John J. Fetzer, Jr., is given the testator's interest in the Fetzer block, Broad street and Sheridan avenue. Twelve nieces and nephews are given $1,000 and 10 of them are made heirs of the residuary estate. The Fidelity Title and Trust Company is named executor.

STATE'S SCHOOL CHIEF ILL

Dr. John A. H. Keith, state superintendent of public instruction, is today recovering in Mercy Hospital from an operation performed yesterday. He came from Harrisburg Wednesday to address a meeting of the Vesle Post, V. F. W., in McKees Rocks, Thursday. While visiting schools with Dr. W. M. Davidson, superintendent of Pittsburgh schools, he was stricken with acute stomach trouble and was taken to the hospital. Dr. Keith formerly headed the State Teachers' Training College at Indiana.

Flying Mother Plans To Set New Air Mark

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Mrs. Lelen Sheridan, blonde aviatrix of Minneapolis, arrived here yesterday with the announcement she would try to better the woman's flight record of 17 hours and 18 minutes recently set by Bobbie Trout, 21-year-old girl flier.

"I am going to set up a record that will stand until my air-minded daughter, Precious, who is 6, will have a chance to set a new one," Mrs. Sheridan predicted.

Boy Coaster Dying; Hit by Boxer's Car

AKRON, O., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Vincent Cotterril, 9, was dying in People's Hospital today from injuries received last night when he was struck by an automobile driven by "K. O." Christner, heavyweight boxer, according to police. The boy was speeding along in front of his home on a coaster when the accident occurred.

The Cotterrils are neighbors of the prize fighter.

Steamer Aground Off Boston Sends S O S

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Aground on Handkerchief Shoals, off Chatham, the steamship Pacific with 46 men aboard sent out an SOS call today.

The distress signals were picked up by the coast guard. The cutters Acushnet, from Woods Hole, and the Tuscarora, at sea, immediately started to aid. The patrol boat Antietam, on duty in Nantucket, also responded.

WHO'S GUILTY????

CAN YOU SOLVE THIS DETECTIVE STORY?

A NOTE ON THE CENTURY

By EVELYN JOHNSON AND GRETTA PALMER

WILLIE had none of the faults that make card-playing the starting point of so many nasty arguments. Willie never held post-mortems, discoursed on how the hand should have been played, or insisted on explaining his views of the intricacies of the game. He avoided all such discussions and profited thereby. Profited greatly, for it must be borne in mind that Willie was a professional gambler, and his hypothetical heaven would have been entirely populated by novices at games, who might be a trifle near-sighted to boot. But he did not demand any great degree of myopia in his victims, for he had the nimblest, quickest fingers imaginable. He and his beloved Ethel depended for their bread and butter on his lightning dexterity, and they both liked their bread well buttered. Ethel was Willie's girl, and she was joining him at Harmon. Ethel was a swell girl, and they had stuck together through a hard apprenticeship of pickpocketing before Willie discovered that his clever fingers were particularly adept at handling cards.

Ethel was funny though, in some ways. She could wear the clothes and jewelry that he bought her as well as any lady, and she was of great use to him in many of his activities, and yet she never seemed to be able to break entirely away from her old habits and early training. Ethel had been brought up a "dip," and she had been an uncommonly good one, as her lack of any police record would testify, but she had failed to give up her vocation with Willie's change of fortune. She still came home bearing spoils from the subway; watches and chains of all styles, wallets and handbags. Willie had had trouble more than once in disposing of those watches. She could not resist them.

AS Willie swung onto the Twentieth Century out of New York, he gave vent to a sigh of decent proportions. If New York were hot that July day for most of its population, for Willie it had taken on the aspect of a veritable oven.

As the train whirled past Tarrytown, Willie arose elaborately and sauntered toward the smoking compartment with a newspaper under his arm. The fat family man of German appearance who had the seat across the aisle from him had moved over opposite him to get out of the sun. From his bristly mustache and pendulous jowls to his massive gold watch chain, he was an unprepossessing sight as he snored into Willie's disgusted countenance. So Willie had risen and picked his way up the aisle.

As he neared the end of the car, he paused and then stopped short. From long schooling his hands carried on a mechanical search of his pockets: an observer would have noticed that a well-dressed man had seemingly mislaid his cigaret case. Then he faced about sharply and carefully retraced his steps. In that brief moment, Willie had seen a most disturbing sight. He had seen a broad back, a neck, and a bruised ear that he had particularly not wanted to see. Atop the figure had been a hat that could only belong to Detective Sergt. Regan.

WILLIE seated himself opposite the fat German-American and unfolded his newspaper in such a manner as to screen his face from view. He allowed himself the luxury of a scowl and a muttered curse, and indulged in some rapid and intensive thinking.

The first stop would be Harmon where Ethel was to join him. He could not leave her to worry about his disappearance all the long way to Chicago, and subsequently run the risk of open communication with her in the matter of this unforeseen contingency and the resultant change of plans. And yet it was imperative that he quit the train as unobstrusively as possible: before the train were fully stopped, if he could. Ethel must be notified of his change of plan. His mind was made up as to what he would do after leaving the train; he would repair to a certain unobstrusive sanctuary in Vermont, and let the affair blow over. But he could not run the risk of being seen with her for even a moment. Lucky that he had not gotten on at Harmon with her, as it would have been most natural for him to do. In desperation he scanned the other occupants of the car. The porter was out of the question; Regan would be sure to check up on that.

THERE was an elegant young lady whose arrogance of mien seemed to designate her fellow-passengers collectively as typhoid-carriers. There was the fat gentleman with the mustache; there were two highly vocal women from the Middle West and a nuisance of a child of four. There were four bridge-playing bond salesmen. There were two serious-looking youths with horn-rimmed spectacles deep in success magazines and weighty-looking tomes of current biography.

At this point, Willie had an inspiration. He hastily scribbled a note to Ethel, left it where she would be sure to find it, and swung off the Century just before Detective Regan decided that he would be at hand to receive Willie at Harmon.

For Detective Regan had made sure that Willie and Ethel would get on at the engine transfer. He was therefore very much surprised to see Ethel's smart figure climb on alone. She went to the section where the plump Teuton was still slumbering, and looked about her in some amazement. At this point, however, Detective Regan decided that he had better phone headquarters. He received the information that Willie, contrary to all expectations, had been seen getting on the Century at Grand Central. Inspector Regan cursed volubly and decided that the best thing for him to do was to keep his eye on Ethel. Willie was bound to communicate with her sooner or later.

WHEN he got on board again she was sitting calmly in her seat reading a magazine and she did not stir until they were well beyond Poughkeepsie, when she went to the washroom in the wake of a lady in an elaborate beige traveling costume.

He decided that she was temporarily out of his jurisdiction, and settled down to read. He was aroused five minutes later by the frantic conductor, who was cognizant of his official status. Two ladies, explained the conductor, had been in the lavatory. One of them had been washing her hands at one of the wash basins. She had taken off a very valuable table diamond ring in order to wash her hands. The other lady had been about to rinse hers at the other basin. The lady with the valuable diamond had turned her back for a moment to take a towel and when she had turned around her ring was missing. It certainly had not taken wings, and she had rung for the porter immediately, asking the second lady, who was busily washing her hands by the time she turned around, kindly to wait there until the jewel had been located. The porter had summoned the conductor, and all three were now awaiting the official presence of Officer Regan.

OFFICER REGAN entered the sacred precincts marked "Ladies" and bowed politely to his friend Ethel. While she sat on a chair in the corner, clutching her vanity case, Regan made a search of the tiny, bare washroom. Nothing remotely resembling the diamond ring came to light. All the victim could say was that she had turned her back for a moment to get a towel and when she turned around again the ring was gone, and Ethel was washing her hands.

Officer Regan looked at Ethel knowingly.

"Come along girlie," he said, "we get off at Albany. You will hear from the police shortly, madam, if you will leave a forwarding address for the ring. I pride myself that the ring could not be any place in this lavatory without my finding it. I know this lady and I will guarantee that she has it."

"I suppose you don't mind if I take my comb and my soap," said Ethel, opening her well-equipped little vanity.

"JUST so long as you bring everything along to h.q.," said Mr. Regan grimly. Ethel and Regan got off at Albany.

A week later Detective Regan was a pretty angry man. Not only had Willie made no attempt to communicate with Ethel, when they had let her go on her way to her destination in Chicago, after submitting her to the most rigorous personal search, but the diamond had never been found. They had torn her vanity case and all her clothes to shreds, they had watched the phone and every mail. She had not received any communication; not even one that could have been in code. And when Ethel had come into headquarters with a new vanity case and sneeringly stuffed her toilet articles into it and departed, the diamond was still missing.

How had Ethel gotten Willie's message and what had become of the diamond?

Solution of Yesterday's "The Museum Murder"

AT the tomb during the afternoon Von Grubau was horrified to find that Eric had removed a valuable emerald ring found on the tomb and was planning to sell it to pay his gambling debts. A quarrel ensued and Eric stunned his father with a detached leg from a Third Dynasty chair that lay handy, and shot him with the professor's own gun. He wiped off the finger prints and replaced this in his father's pocket. He hid the body in a mummy case and transported it to the Museum with the treasure. He asked the faithful Hawkins not to disturb them and set to work in the cellar to wipe the blood off the chair leg and mummy case with his father's handkerchief and to arrange the wooden box to suggest that some of its trinkets had been stolen. He carried on a conversation, sometimes using his own voice, sometimes imitating his father's gruffer tones for the watchman to hear. At 12:30 he went upstairs, spoke to the watchman, and was seen out the front door. Then he hurried down to the basement door, opening it with his father's key, slipped into the hat, coat and glasses of the professor and went up to tell the watchman to call him at 2, impersonating his father. He returned to the cellar, left the clothes and slipped the key into his father's pocket. He hurried to the Casino, arriving only a few minutes later than was natural. But he had not noticed that his father still clutched the setting to the emerald ring or that he had forgotten to replace the glasses which should have been worn by Von Grubau at the time of death. Moreover, the advanced state of rigor mortis proved that the professor had been dead more than an hour.

Cash Awards for Best Mystery Story Solutions

EVERY day the Sun-Telegraph will print a mystery story on this page. The correct solution, written by the authors, will appear the day following the publication of each story except the one printed on SATURDAY.

Each SATURDAY there will be printed an original, or PRIZE STORY, by the same authors, the solution of which is in a sealed envelope. Prizes will be paid only on stories appearing on that day. Everybody is invited to send in their solutions of the SATURDAY PRIZE STORY. For the best three solutions in point of accuracy, brevity, clarity and completeness, the following cash prizes will be awarded:

FIRST PRIZE.........$10.

Three prizes of $5 each for the next three.

Contestants for the PRIZE STORY AWARD will have from Saturday morning until the following THURSDAY night at 6 o'clock, to send in their solutions. Letters postmarked after that time cannot be accepted, as judges must be able to render their decision on the prize winners in time to make the following Saturday's editions, when the correct solution of the PRIZE STORY, along with the names of the winners, will be printed with another PRIZE STORY for you folks to tackle.

Address your solution to the Mystery Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

NANCY DEANE

Nancy Is Discouraged With Wescott After Maybelle Talks About Him

CHAPTER XXXV.

HOW the days were flying. How full they were.

Soon it would be Thanksgiving and after that would be no time at all until Christmas. And then Nancy would be going home. Already she had started a savings account, just a dollar to begin with, but in the flying weeks it had grown more than she had expected. She would be able to buy Mud and Darry much better presents than she had ever given them before. How she would love to buy Mud a new coat. A nice, black cloth coat with a good big, warm fur collar.

And Darry, for him she'd buy—"

But what was the use of hoping too much. She didn't dare let her imagination run ahead of the bit of savings she was putting by. Well, she'd see.

Such happy, happy days now.

Though it wasn't December yet, the shop windows were beginning to display their holiday wares. Every night as she hurried along Liberty and then turned on Wood street she enjoyed thrill upon thrill.

Sometimes one of the girls from the accounting room would walk down the avenue with her, and once in a great while Harriet would. Whoever it was, she would squeeze their arms black and blue with delight and excitement at the beautiful things in the shop windows.

It was dark at 5 now, and the avenue was blazing with millions of dancing, sparkling light. The florist shops were banked with great nodding chrysanthemums. The jewelers' shops were brilliant with jewels and glittering temptations.

How she longed to be rich. If only she could go into one of those shops and point to a frothy dancing frock, a chain of pearls, or a platinum wrist watch, its saucy little face framed with diamonds, and say, "I'll take that please. It's quite pretty. How much is it?"

Sometimes Nancy was ashamed of her longing for these beautiful things. Once she had said to Mary Moody, one of the accounting room girls—"you'd think I was always used to things like that, to hear me rave about them. But there's something in things that shine, and lights and spangles, and all that, that makes me crazy to have them. Sometimes I have a mad urge to deck myself with every glittering thing I see, and to hang beads and bangles around my neck and to dance and dance until I'm exhausted. It seems that would be the only way to satisfy that hungry feeling that comes over me."

Mary was a girl who looked drab no matter what she put on. She was never quite able to follow Nancy's ecstatic flights. She had no color hunger, no imagination. She might just as well have been a post walking along the avenue with Nancy.

But Nancy seemed not to care whether the person with her enthused. When she was exclaiming this way she never listened to replies anyway.

"Don't you ever get hungry to gobble up all the pretty things in the world? It just seems if I could eat them, they'd be a part of me and I would have them always and always" she once said to Mary as they stood in front of a flower shop on the avenue.

Mary, poor, drab Mary Moody, with as much animation as a potato, answered—"no."

Well, what was the difference. Nancy didn't hear anyway.

This evening Mary was unusually unresponsive — she even walked too slow to suit Nancy's mood. So the latter experienced no regret when she said she'd have to leave her. She was going down into the bargain basement to buy her "Ma" a flannel nightgown.

As soon as Mary had gone, Nancy skipped along, in and out among throngs of laughing, chattering women. She went into an arcade, lingering at every window, her eyes devouring one display after another, making imaginary selections of this thing or that, weighing the beauty and good taste of one against another.

Her taste was perfect. All the girls with whom she had walked along the avenue, all except the dull Mary, agreed to that.

"Perfect and expensive," Maxine Monroe had said. And once Nancy had nearly let her tongue slip to the extent that she had inherited her love for spangles and gleaming lights. It was on the tip of her tongue to say—"Well, my mother loved colorful things too. She performed in a circus."

She checked her tongue. But she couldn't check the knowledge that it was her mother from whom she had the passion for jewels and all those other pretty things that attracted her.

She stopped in front of a gift shop window to admire a string of crystal beads, was feasting on the rose and blue and green lights they reflected, when someone put an arm through hers. It was Maybelle Montague.

Another girl was with her, another model, Nancy judged. Both were dressed flashily, Maybelle in a leopard skin coat.

"Meet my friend, Flo Malone," Maybelle said.

Her voice was like honey. She actually gushed and Nancy couldn't believe her own ears for she remembered all too well how she had treated her at the style promenade. She remembered how she had said: "I'll nip that romance if it's the last thing I ever do. Ain't it just like some baby face that don't know enough to come in when it's rainin' to get a guy like Wescott. Ain't men fools?"

She was actually cooing now, and Nancy didn't know what to make of it.

"Oh, Nancy," she gushed. "I've just discovered that we live in the same apartment house—on the same floor—next door—isn't that wonderful?"

She leaned close and whispered in her ear:

"Just a little love nest. O-o-la, la. I saw your guy coming out of your apartment just about 12 the other night. I was down the hall an' I got the surprise of my life when I seen him coming out. Just caught a glimpse of your head, and say, I'd know that yellow hair anywheres, an' I said to myself, say, that kid ain't so slow. An' then I took a good look at the guy and I seen it was Wescott. Say, he's a millionaire, ain't he? Say, you ain't so dumb.'

She poked Nancy with her elbow and gave a knowing wink. She put her hand up to her mouth, as though she were going to say something very confidential, and then evidently changed her mind. She dropped her hand.

"Say, you want to come in and visit me sometimes. I'm in apartment 708, and you're in 707. Say, bring your boy friend in some night. Just drop in any time. We'll have a party."

Nancy stood as if struck. This gush from Maybelle, the sudden interest, the very fact that she was living in the same apartment house, on the same floor, next door made her head reel.

And she had seen Howard Wescott coming out of the apartment at midnight. Nancy knew what that meant. She knew Maybelle had spread the gossip right and left. She knew Maybelle's sweetness was just hypocrisy. She wished Ginger were there. Ginger would know how to handle her.

"She's dangerous," Ginger had said, "pay her in her own coin."

But what was her coin? Ginger knew what the coin of people like Maybelle was. It was too hard for her to put herself on a level with the Maybelles of the world. She knew she couldn't cope with them.

A shudder of repulsion, or horror, almost, passed through her. She wanted to fly from these girls with their smothering perfumes, their goggling eyes. She didn't even want to be seen talking to them. Yet she knew that she couldn't obey her impulse to run. If they were impossible, crude, she mustn't be impossible and crude. She tried to be as tactful as she could.

"Bring your boy friend over some night. We'll have a party!"

To this Nancy had said, "Thank you, Maybelle."

"Her guy!" How disgusting that sounded. Howard Wescott, her guy!

What an ocean of class separated Wescott and his family from people like Maybelle Montague. Maybelle and her own "guy." An ocean that could never, never be bridged. They were worlds apart, and Nancy shuddered at the thought of bringing Howard into Maybelle's apartment. Wescott—why, he was a gentleman! He had the breeding of generations. A Wescott!

It was a funny world. A funny, funny world, Nancy thought after Maybelle and her gaudy friend had left her. She walked up the avenue, slowly. She had no eyes for the gay windows now. The spangled frocks and the jewels and the flowers might not have been there for all she saw them. She wanted to walk and to think.

"Bring your boy friend in some night."

Howard Wescott was a gentle man. Oh yes, he had delightful manners. He had the gift of fascinating conversation. He was handsome, and now, that he had settled down to business, his wild days were over, everyone thought.

A gentleman he was—and yet, what makes a gentleman? Is it just the advantages that wealth can give? Truthful, ever truthful to her own conscience (Nancy had well learned Maggie O'Day's lesson about being true to one's own conscience). She wrestled with the thought that perhaps, after all, Howard Wescott wasn't such a gentleman after all. The thought hurt, but she refused to dodge it.

Maybelle had her "guy."

Well, wasn't Howard Wescott just a "guy" too?

"Be truthful, truthful," the inner voice kept beating against Nancy's consciousness.

Wasn't he a guy who happened to be educated, handsome, rich, a guy who had been allowed to wander over the world until he chose to settle down and was then placed right in a velvet carpeted office all prepared for him—a compelling guy, a fascinating guy, a guy who made her head swim—but a guy, a guy!

Nancy began to walk faster, and the faster she walked the faster thoughts like these came piling one after the other into her brain.

Was John Blair a guy?

Why. Oh, why, must she think of John Blair? Suddenly she remembered what a contrast there was between John and Howard Wescott. And somehow John always made her think of home. She recalled her first meeting with him, how kind he was that day when he helped her with the coffee tank that wouldn't work just right.

He had asked her to marry him honestly from his soul because he loved her. Howard Wescott had made passionate love to her—he had spoken of marriage vaguely, of a trip. He had given her presents. He was allowing her all kinds of privileges in the office, giving her afternoons off to study her secretarial work. He had raised her pay, making it possible for her to find living quarters outside of The Carmondy.

He had insisted upon giving her the coat she was wearing. It had been sent up to her apartment one night by a blue-coated messenger boy, in a big box, tied with a wide blue ribbon.

"Where's this from?" she had asked.

"Reckmeyer's, lady," he answered politely.

"It's a mistake. It's not for me."

"Your name is Nancy O'Day, isn't it? An' this apartment 707, ain't it? Sure it's for you. Would you sign here, lady?"

That little scene was as clear in Nancy's mind now as though it had just happened. And how vividly she recalled the scene when Wescott had overruled her demand that the coat be sent back, that she could not accept such a gift from him, from anyone.

"For riding, not so hasty now. It's for riding in my open car," he said.

He kept his voice low, calm, soothing, in contrast to her own which had become excitable, high. Before he had come that evening she had tried to steel herself to insist in refusing the coat and again he had broken down her every resistance.

"Here, let's try it on," he had said, holding it up, coaxing her to come to him, slip her arms through the satin of the sleeves.

"Come on, like a good little girl, please. For me. Won't you please, for me?"

He looked almost like a boy, a handsome, black-eyed, black-haired, pleading boy. His eyes were glowing, yet she knew he wasn't a boy, but a man of the world. She knew that for all his youthful looks, his boyhood was gone. Every man she had ever known before was either too old or too young. Those with whom she had gone to dances in Washington were boisterous youths given to pounding each other on the back, awkward, shy. It would be a long, long time before any of them could offer her the things Wescott had already given.

And so she had given in, surrendered before his glowing eyes, that looked as though they could devour her. Like some timid creature being coaxed to take sugar from a hand, her fears were scattered and she found herself deep in the warmth of the raccoon coat.

"There! Just the thing you need for riding. Any girl who goes to work these cold mornings ought to have a warm coat."

He stood back, admiring her, and then held out his arms for her to come to him. And she had gone to him, crushing, pushing away the voice of her own conscience.

A guy! Was Wescott her guy?

Nancy could hardly wait until she could get into her own apartment, behind her own four walls, where she could think it out.

He was coming to see her this evening; she dreaded his coming—why? She couldn't tell.

SMALL STATURE HAMPERS JAP STAR

THE action of Catcher Roy Spencer in booting away a chance to return to the major baseball leagues, at an increased salary, inability to agree on terms with him leading the Pittsburgh club to sell him back last night to the Indianapolis club of the American Association, draws attention to the striking contract between the attitude of a few rookies just breaking into the big show this spring and that of some of the veterans.

Roy Spencer

It did not appear to mean a great deal to the Bucs whether Spencer remained on their roster or not. He seemed to have improved, but in reality might not have been any more useful here than he was when he was dropped after the 1926 campaign. In any event, no club is going to be helped by a dissatisfied player, and as Spencer seemingly was not overly keen about playing here again, perhaps it is just as well that he has been let go. It may have opened Spencer's eyes to learn that no other big league club wanted him, all waiving readily.

But the case is interesting, as stated above, as showing the difference between the attitudes of some youngsters and certain veterans this spring.

EVIDENTLY there is a feeling at both ends that youth must be served. One side is willing to concede that point and to submit to the decree, whereas the other is determined to make the most of the situation and to play the advantage for all that it is worth. At least that is the conclusion to be drawn from the difference between the actions of certain old and young players.

For while some seasoned campaigners are making haste to accept contracts at whatever terms are offered, even accepting salary cuts without an audible murmur, several recruits facing their first tryouts in the big show, and with nothing but their self-confidence to assure them that they are going to make good, have scornfully turned up their noses at the stipends proffered and sent back the pacts unsigned with a demand that fatter figures be inserted. That's the difference between having a career behind you and having one ahead of you.

ACCORDING to reports from the East, Max Carey, former Pirate captain and outfielder, is the latest veteran to bow to the inevitable and sign at a reduced salary. Carey was drawing down $16,500 here in 1926. He suffered a cut with the Robins last season and his salary was given a further slashing for this year, but seemingly Max feels that it is worth while to stay in the upper set, even at reduced pay, so he has penned his name to the document tendered.

Prior to Carey's signing, Dave Bancroft accepted a cut on the same club, and Bob O'Farrell enrolled with the Giants at a reduced salary. Several other vets also have accepted reductions.

OUT on the other side of the fence, Infielder Lyn Lary, Outfielder Roy Johnson and Outfielder Dick Porter, who have never played a game in the big leagues, have spurned the contracts sent to them by the Tigers, Indians and Yankees and demanded new and higher terms, despite the fact that they have yet to show they are worth even what was originally offered. It's great to be young.

IT would appear to be a source of no little pride to a diamond athlete if he were one of the few players who ever made good in the big leagues without having previously received some schooling in the minors. But George Uhle, former Cleveland pitcher, now on Detroit's roster, can't see it that way at all.

Uhle is one of the baseball rarities that jumped straight into the majors from the sandlots and stuck. But he isn't boasting of that success. On the contrary, he believes it was a blunder rather than an achievement.

George Uhle

"IT was a great mistake," Uhle is quoted. "I'd have been developed much more quickly if I had had a chance to work in a minor league. There I'd have been called on to work every fourth day, and would have learned something and improved from game to game, but during my first two years with Cleveland I was rarely used. I spent my time sitting on the bench.

"All that you can get through sitting on the bench is theoretical knowledge, and that doesn't help you to climb out of any holes when you're out there in the box. The result is that when a boy gets into a real game he doesn't know what to do in emergencies, or fears to take chances.

"FOR instance, the average inexperienced youngster is afraid to try a curve or a slow ball in a pinch, when the count is three and two on the batter. He puts everything he has on the ball and tries to throw it past the hitter. If he had been properly schooled and developed he would not make that mistake. On the other hand, the experienced pitcher in a similar situation generally slows up and uses a change of pace, screw ball or curve in the pinches. Personally, I'm in favor the change of pace over the screw ball, unless it's the kind of screw ball pitched by Garland Braxton, of Washington. Braxton's screw ball is better than any change of pace."

FRANK TABERSKI and Ralph Greenleaf are the foremost two players in the world at pocket billiards at present, but cue critics in Rochester, N. Y., predict that they will not long have the championship argument all to themselves. They believe their city has a future bidder for the crown.

The newest titular prospect is Howard (Whitey) Gray. He holds the professional championship of Rochester, and recently he started tongues wagging by running 122 balls without a miss. Moreover, he did it on a 5x10 championship table, with small pockets, and the feat is held to entitle him to recognition as a coming title contender.

Kinrey Matsuyama

HAS it occurred to you that, when his small stature is taken into the reckoning, the strong bid that Kinrey Matsuyama made for the world 18.2 balkline billiard championship before Jake Schaefer finally won the tournament and the title this week, was even more remarkable than it appeared to be on the surface?

Matsuyama knocked off Edouard Horemans, Felix Grange and Erich Hagenlacher in the order named before losing to Welker Cochran and Schaefer, and that stands out as one of the greatest feats of any billiard era considering the physical handicap under which the little Jap has to play. He might become champion if he were of average size. For Kinrey stands only 4 feet 11 inches in height, and as a billiard table is 32 inches high the top of his head is therefore only 27 inches above the table, as compared, for instance, with the 40-inch elevation that favors the six-foot Schaefer.

THAT disadvantage works doubly against Kinrey, for not only does it interfere with his play in a physical sense, but he starts under a sense of physical inferiority and to that extnt is handicapped psychologically, as well as bodily. Matsuyama says

MORE THAN 700 ATTEND BIG BANQUET

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

More than 700 leaders and lovers of sports of all sorts partook of the dinner and entertainment held by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America at the William Penn Hotel last night. The event was a testimonial in honor of John Gruber, for 35 years official scorer of the Pittsburgh baseball club, and at its conclusion the fans in attendance declared the vari-colored reunion to be the most interesting sport-gathering in the history of the city.

Some of the most prominent men of baseball, football and other sports were on hand to lend enchantment to the affair and to pay a deserved tribute to the humble worker who has been a model of efficiency and courtesy throughout his long career.

WAGNER HAILED

Uncle John had another rugged character at his side who stole much of the show and who caused the vast assemblage to rise to its feet. John Honus Wagner was there in all his natural simplicity, and when the toastmaster, Attorney Joseph N. Mackrell, introduced Wagner, he sounded a new note that should find a responsive echo in the hearts of all those who appreciate what the Flying Dutchman of unsullied honor meant, and still means, to the game.

There was a strong suggestion in the words of the toastmaster relative to recognition by the National League of Wagner's meritorious service. Too long, indeed, has the league tarried in putting Honus in a position where he belongs. Mackrell hinted last night that something was on the way and the fans heard the announcement with extreme pleasure. There's nothing too good for Carnegie's bowie-legged son, who many experts aver is the greatest all-around player the sport has ever developed.

Another high spot in the evening's enjoyment occurred when the toastmaster introduced Glenn (Pop) Warner, former coach of the University of Pittsburgh football team, who is the present mentor at Stanford University. As Pop arose a salvo of cheers swept the big dining hall.

Getting back to Uncle John Gruber and the big feast and entertainment, it would be hard to chronicle all the events in a justifiable manner. Excellent speeches were made by a host of big characters in various sportive fields, including E. S. Barnard, president of the American League; John K. Tener, former governor of Pennsylvania; Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pirates; Wagner; Judge Walter P. Steffen, coach of the Carnegie Tech football team; Capt. Biff Jones, coach of the Army football team; Dr. John B. Sutherland, coach of the University of Pittsburgh football team; Sam S. Willaman, coach of the Ohio State football team; Elmer Layden, coach of the Duquesne University football team; Dr. Clifford H. Carlson, coach University of Pittsburgh basketball team; Frank B. Calder, president of the International Hockey League; Ross Loeffler, president Board of Game Commissioners; Chester H. Lehman, president of Western Pennsylvania Golf Association; Judge Frank B. Patterson, of Common Pleas Court; Havey J. Boyle, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, and member of the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission, and Uncle John himself.

GRUBER LAUDED

Practically every speaker paid tribute to the guest of honor, who was quite overcome with his feelings late in the evening when called upon to respond. But the veteran of many a game gradually warmed up to the task of thanking his friends, his speech of gratefulness and appreciation being one of the big features of the evening.

Uncle John was the recipient of two revered gifts. The first, a symbolic scorebook was presented by Judge Patterson, who many years ago was an assistant sports editor under the honored one. The reminiscences brought out by Judge Patterson were of a humorous nature for the most part, they bringing down the house.

Havey Boyle at the finish of his address presented Uncle John with a fine radio-tone photograph on behalf of John's brothers of the pen.

DREYFUSS INTERESTING

Speaking in the place of his dad, who left last night for California, Sam Dreyfuss won many new friends by his highly interesting talk on the guest of the evening and on baseball in general. Sam recited several comical incidents in the career of Uncle John, who was sitting in on judgment before the son of the Pirate owner came upon the scene.

President Barnard, of the American League, took a few sly digs at the National League in his well-received speech. The head of the rival circuit could be pardoned for his joshing remarks in view of the performances of his Yankees over the Pirates and Cardinals in the past two years.

Barnard also told of the good that is being done by the major circuits in promoting and financing the American Legion baseball plan for boys. The A. L. prexy recited some appealing data in this direction, much of it being a revelation to his hearers, who did not think

Van Ryn-Hunter To Tour South Together

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Johnny Van Ryn, youthful conqueror of Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, will start South next week in quest of new tennis laurels. He and Hunter will pair together in doubles in the leading Southern tournaments, he said, in addition to competing in singles.

In defending his championship of South Florida at Miami, February 25, and the All-Florida title at Palm Beach, March 4, the veteran Hunter will have plenty of opportunity and incentive to reverse the verdict obtained by the former Princeton captain on Monday.

PETTY SIGNS; WANERS ONLY HOLDOUTS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

With Jess Petty and Joe Dawson turning in belated contracts, the Pirates today were reported all signed, barring the Waner Brothers who will be in the holdout class provided they do not get onto the wagon before the departure of the second squad for Paso Robles.

Petty, big southpaw pitcher who came to the Buccos in the Wright deal, walked into Barney Dreyfuss' private sanctum last night and tendered a signed document to the owner of the team. The act was a welcome one, so far as the elder Dreyfuss was concerned, as he was about to leave on a trip to California.

DAWSON IN FOLD

Dawson, aviator-pitcher, also returned his signed contract, thus cutting the unsigned athletes down to the brother outfielders, who apparently are after big advances over their 1928 salaries.

The figures in the Petty contract were not made known, but it is believed that Big Jess was given a sum well over $10,000, as he was reported to be drawing better than that amount in Brooklyn last year.

The session between Dreyuss and the new lefthander was short and happy. At the conclusion, the owner of club wished the erstwhile Dodger every success during the coming year.

Petty, who with Al Mamaux is appearing in vaudeville at the Davis Theater this week, will finish up his theatrical engagements Saturday in order to be among those present Monday night when the advance squad of Buccos, consisting of the pitchers and catchers, Manager Bush and Coach Ens, leaves for Paso Robles.

SPENCER SOLD

The Pirate management last night announced a rather astonishing release when it was given out that Catcher Roy Spencer had been sold back to the Indianapolis club. Spencer, it develops, was dissatisfied with the terms offered him by the home management, the disagreement bringing the climax of release.

That the disposition of Spencer has weakened the club will be the argument advanced in some quarters. Roy had a big year with the Hoosiers, it being felt up to now by Pirate fans that he would be a big factor in the receiving department, as he has had more experience than any other catcher on the club with the possible exception of Charley Hargreaves.

The release of Spencer reduces the catching staff to Hargreaves, Rolly Hemsley, John O'Connell and Claude Linton.

BARNEY DREYFUSS JESS PETTY

Petty, the new lefthand pitcher recently obtained by the Pirates from the Brooklyn Club, visited Forbes Field late yesterday and signed his contract for the 1929 season, following a conference with President Barney Dreyfuss, who left shortly afterward for New York to sail, via the Panama Canal, for the Pirates' training camp at Paso Robles, Cal. Photo shows the pair consummating the big business of the day.

Hib Milks, Tex White, Frank Frederickson and Roger Smith played stellar roles as Benny Leonard's ice Pirates defeated the Boston Bruins, 2 to 0, at Duquesne Garden last night.

Milks registered the Bucs' first goal, after 12 minutes of play in the first period, after taking a neat pass from Frederickson, and White added to the locals' advantage when less than a minute of play remained in the final stanza. Tex took a pass from Drury and lifted the disc over Thompson after neatly feinting the Hub goalie out of position.

LOWERY MAKES DEBUT

Jerry Lowery, who became a Pirate this week when Harold Cotton was traded to the Toronto Leafs, played his first game in a Pittsburgh uniform and was well received by local fans. Jerry is a player of the Nels Stewart type in that he does not do much useless skating, but makes it a point to be in the right place at the right time. Although Lowery did not figure in the scoring, he played a strong defensive game and his well-timed

LAFAYETTES COUNTY LOOP LEADERS

Duquesne Lafayettes climbed into first place in the Allegheny County League last night when they defeated the Goldensons of the South Side, with which they were tied for the top-notch honors until last night's engagement in the South Side Market House. The score was 39 to 34.

The teams played a comparatively even battle during the first half the Goldensons holding their Duquesne opponents to a 17-16 score. During that time, however, the Minnickmen retained a slight lead.

Minnick and Ramsay went well, while Joe Drotar was cast in the star role. Boots Klinzing set the scoring pace for the Goldensons.

In a second County League battle, the Enoch Rauh's title hopes were shattered when the Mieles nosed them out, 27-26, on the Columbus Temple floor. Hen Tracy was fouled with a half-minute remaining, and caged both shots to win the game for his team. The lineup:

New York Honors Wild Bill Mehlhorn

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Wild Bill Mehlhorn, who has won four of the tournaments of the winter golf tour, is scheduled to arrive in New York this morning with Joe Kirkwood from Pensacola, Fla.

Mehlhorn will be received at City Hall in honor of his recent golfing triumphs.

BUCKY O'NEILL COACH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Valen (Bucky) O'Neill, of Pittsburgh, has been signed to succeed Larry Kopf, as coach of the Georgetown University varsity baseball team. O'Neill is a former football and baseball star at Georgetown and at present is a member of the freshman football coaching staff.

Walker to Defend Title Against Ace Hudkins

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The Evening Express says that Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion, has been signed by Tom Kennedy, Los Angeles promoter, to defend his title at Las Vegas, Nev., July 4, against Ace Hudkins, Nebraska wildcat. Hudkins, according to Kennedy, has been signed for some time.

LOCAL GOLFER IN FINAL

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 15.—A Pittsburgh golfer, C. J. Claudon, is playing his concluding match in the annual South Florida championship tournament over the Palm Beach Golf Club course today. He is opposing Clarence Hall, of Washington, in the final of the third sixteen.

In the championship flight Jack Butler, former Notre Dame star, is matching strokes with Albert R. Hakes, Fredonia (N. Y.) school boy, for the title. Butler is a slight favorite due to impressive performances he turned in all week. He eliminated R. H. Hopkins, of Boston, winner of the qualifying medal in the first round.

Claudon won his semi-final round match from A. C. Sunstein, of New York, by 5 and 4. He completely outplayed the New Yorker, who trailed from the start when the Pittsburgh player garnered the first two holes in succession and increased his margin as the match progressed.

Alexander Miller, Old Catcher, Dies

Alexander Miller, aged 52 years, one-time catcher of the Martin club of the South Hills, the old Pittsburgh Lyceum team of the Allegheny County League, Washington Field club and several other former independent nines in this district, died in the Mercy Hospital yesterday after a short illness.

Miller was one of the best receivers in local sandlot circles 20 years ago and his passing came as a shock to his numerous friends. He leaves his wife, one son and two daughters. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning. Services will be held at the Epiphany Church.

Penn State and Pitt, Waynesburg and Duquesne, Bethany and Westminster, Geneva and Thiel and West Virginia and Temple—there you have the college basketball program as it concerns the tri-state district for tonight.

The leading contest of the evening is the Pitt-State affair out in the Stadium, where Deutschland Uber Alles Hermann, director of the basketball destinies of the Nittany Lions will attempt to put a further kink in the tail of the Pitt Panther. Deutschland Uber Alles takes great delight in twisting the tails of State's basketball rivals when they least expect said twisting. Let us hope, as loyal Pittsburghers, that he fails tonight. Ahem.

WOLFPACK HERE

Pitt took Wash-Jeff in a fairly easy contest here Wednesday evening, the night before last night's rousing sports dinner at the William Penn. It will be some time before this city will recover from that affair and still longer, I think, before some of the participants return to normalcy. Pardon the digression.

State isn't the only invading ball club this city has to repel tonight—Waynesburg's Wolfpack, known as the Yellow Jackets before Frank Wolf became coach and the boys got a chance to ring in the "wolfpack" crack, is here for a Conference contest with the Dukes. Duquesne returned from a four-game invasion of the East yesterday morning after having won two and lost two.

Waynesburg took two on the whiskers from old Duquesne in last year's contesting. The Jackets, or Wolfpack, do not appear to be exceptionally strong this season, either, and the Dukes figure to take 'em tonight.

A second important Conference battle this evening will feature Westminster College's Titans against Bethany in a return battle at Bethany. Last week the Green Bisons suffered their first and only defeat of the year at the hands of the Blue and White at New Wilmington. They are after revenge this time. A win for the Titans will give second place in the Conference to Geneva, provided the Covenanters take Thiel in a third Conference setto at Greenville. And the Beaver Falls club figures to do that right enough.

West Virginia, rambling about along the seaboard, hooks up with the tough Temple University quintet in Philadelphia. Grove City and Allegheny meet in a return setto at Meadville. Allegheny defeated Grove City at Grove City earlier in the season.

PROFIO STOPS RUDY

Dominick Profio, of Cecil, knocked out Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the last round of their 10-round windup of the Majestic Club's weekly show in the Palisades rink, McKeesport, last night. Only eight seconds remained when Rudy was counted out. A hard right to the stomach completed the trick.

Throughout the contest was interesting, and the large crowd was on its toes for the greater part of the time the main-bouters were in the ring.

In the sixth stanza, when Rudy was showing at his best, Profio hit him while on the ropes and sent him down for a count of nine. He regained his feet and pounced on Profio like an enraged tiger—but he was dropped again, the bell saving him at the end of the second count.

Following the bout, his best performance so far, Profio lost the services of his manager, Reed Brown, who declined to act further in that capacity in view of the fact that Profio, whom he has brought along since his days in the amateur ranks, refused to sign a contract with him. The pair have been at odds for some time.

Phil Scello, of McKeesport, got the verdict over Jackie Murray, of Pittsburgh, in the six-round semi-final bout. It was a slow affair throughout.

One foul and warning marked the second bout, a rough brawl between Johnny Windsor and Lee Sala. Windsor was said to have hit Sala low in the first. Sala was given the decision in six rounds.

Bob Collura and Johnny Brown fought to a draw in the six-round opener.

RUTH'S PUTTING OFF

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—A putting slump checked Babe Ruth's bid for golf championship honors here. He was a favorite to enter the final, but fell before H. C. Peck, of Richmond, Va., in the second round, 6 and 5, yesterday.

NEW LEADERS IN TENPIN TOURNEY

The singles leaders were the only boys to hold their place after the fourth day's rolling in the annual Tri-state Tenpin tournament at the Club Alleys yesterday. The [illegible] tally which placed Marome and S. Kuchler at the head of the list still stands. While new leaders showed up in both the doubles and five-men events.

NEW HIGH GAME

St. Joseph's Lyceum No. 1 of the South Side went into the lead in the five-men competition when that team rolled 2764. A new high single game score of 1002 was rolled by Wherthlich of Pittsburgh.

Martin and Kiener, Altoona bowlers, gained the top in the doubles when they rolled 1150, while J. Lauterbach and Hirtz stand in second place with 1128. The high singles game in the doubles for the day went to the same pair, 457.

The highest mark in yesterday's singles bowling was made by O. Kincaid, 564, who also had the high single game, 225. H. Keener has the high single game for the tourney, having rolled 244.

KEYSTONE A. C. NAMES LEWIS COACH

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

William A. (Billy) Lewis, of the North Side, has been named boxing coach of the new Keystone A. C. Announcement of his appointment, effective today, was made this morning by Harry Hainsworth, athletic director.

Lewis is admirably fitted for his new post. A former amateur and professional boxer in New England, he also coached young boxers there prior to coming to Pittsburgh in January, 1921, and since then has been employed as coach at the Mesta Machine Works in Homestead and with the North Side Athletic Club. He also has been a manager of boxers and referee of amateur bouts in this section. In Boston he managed K. O. (Joe) Leonard, a knockout sensation, and in Pittsburgh he has handled Kid Crutchfield, Jackie Murray, Harry Dudley, Hugh Fetzer and others.

IS OF FIGHTING STOCK

The new coach of the Keystone Club comes from fighting stock. His father, George Lewis, now dead, was a good middleweight boxer in Providence, R. I., and an uncle, Kid Lewis, was a good bantamweight in the days of Champion Johnny Coulon, whom he met, among others.

Lewis is of English-Irish extraction, 33 years old, married and lives at 534 Chester avenue, North Side. For some years he has acted as correspondent of the "Ring," the boxing magazine. His first work as a boxing coach was at the North Dorchester (Mass.) Athletic Club, where Clarence DeMar began his career as a star marathon runner.

In addition to acting as boxing coach, Lewis will be available for private boxing lessons for club members.

It's hard to tell whether Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling or their kids are going to fight that battle in Florida, judging from the pictures that are coming out of the camps. Strib's little boy and Sharkey's little girl are hogging the spotlight while their old men play golf and swim. It's one of those fights.

"VICTORY" FOR HARDY

Dr. Sumner Hardy, of California, who had Bill Tilden barred last summer, has scored a great moral victory. Bill's back on top as an amateur and they've just dug up the dirt on the good doctor, which is that his California Tennis Association demanded and got 50 per cent of the gate for an appearances of Helen Wills in a match in Detroit last September, the "cut" amounting to $1,750. Like a lot of other folks, we often wondered what became of the gate reciepts of big tennis tournaments and exhibition matches.

Jack Dempsey says Jess Willard hit him the hardest sock of his ring career. That is, up to the time he undertook to put over the Sharkey-Stribling thing.

The best crack of the Gruber dinner came after it was over last night, when Jew Murphy, in company with Owen McManus, orated that "us Irish must stick together."

Boy, 16, Suffers Broken Neck in Cage Mixup

RUSSELL, Ky., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Curtis Hern, 16, of Russell, was unconscious in an Ironton hospital suffering from a broken neck received during basketball practice in the Russell High School gymnasium yesterday. Philip Robi, 16, another high school student, was under arrest on a warrant sworn out by Hern's uncle, who alleged Robi struck his nephew with his fist.

MISS NORELIUS BREAKS OWN RECORD

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Martha Norelius, national and Olympic swim champion, clipped more than three seconds from her own 500-yard dash in an exhibition event here last night. Her time was 6 minutes 29 seconds flat against her previous best mark of 6:32 2-5.

Miss Norelius' new record was set at a water carnival held in her honor, preparatory to her entry in the National championships at Chicago next month.

A. A. U. sanction for the record trial was received only at the last minute.

All regulations, such as registration of starters, judges and timers were complied with and the backboards were officially measured, checked and approved, so the record now will stand.

It was four years ago when Miss Norelius was only 16, that she made her first record, and it was in the same pool in which she established her record last night. She has been training at Palm Beach, where her father is swimming instructor.

STAGES BENEFIT SHOWS

A percentage of all receipts of boxing shows staged by the Fred W. Stockham Post of the American Legion, St. Louis, go to the veterans' hospital and needy families of veterans.

No Championship Dogs, So Judges Refuse Award

PETERSBURG, Va., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The running in the National championship of the Amateur Field Trials Clubs of America came to an end at Camp Lee, with the judges declining to name a champion on the ground that no dog in the stake had shown championship form.

he would like to be allowed to stand on a folding platform, which, after he finishes his innings, could be put under the table. He declares that with such a concession he would challenge the world. Of course, that is out of the question, however, unless the rules are changed, as the regulations always have required that a player keep at least one foot on the floor.

"FROM the height of Schaefer, Hagenlacher, Cochran or Horemans, there is a much more comprehensive view of the table and the balls than be gained by so little a chap as Matsuyama," says a billiard veteran. I have studied the Jap's play carefully, as it shows how skill can overcome seemingly insurmountable handicaps. Just think: Matsuyama can reach only 22½ inches, whereas Schaefer can reach 32 inches. That's a tremendous handicap.

"In situations where he cannot get the same sight of the balls that a taller man would get, the Jap must play by a sort of subconscious estimate of the distance and necessary force. While the rules do not permit such a thing, it would be interesting in the extreme to see what this little cue wizard could do standing on a platform that would give him the same view of the balls and that men of average height enjoy."

Mickey MacKay

MANAGER LESTER PATRICK, of the New York Rangers, does not concur in the assertion made by Cecil Hart, pilot of Les Canadiens, that Aurel Joliat, of the latter team, is the smartest player in hockey, but he admits that Joliat is one of the smartest.

"There are other smart ones who cannot be overlooked," Patrick said. "Three of the smartest I ever saw were Mickey MacKay, Jack Walker and Duke Keats. Walker and Keats passed out of the big league last season, and I fear that MacKay is nearing the end of his career since Pittsburgh let him go. You should have seen MacKay a few years ago, when he was at his best—moving with almost incredible swiftness and thinking as swiftly as he moved. He still thinks as swiftly as he did then, of course, but he no longer can execute all the plays he has worked out so finely in his mind."

that the idea had taken such a big hold throughout the country.

STEFFEN WELL RECEIVED

Whenever Judge Steffen arises to talk the audience is bound to get a thrill and Wally lived up to past performances as he led the parade of gridiron satellites. Wally took note of the fact that Sam Dreyfuss, in a prediction on the coming race in the National League, left out his home town—Chicago. Dreyfuss gave the Giants and Pirates the advantage, but Steffen put in a good stroke for those Bears of his home burg. Biff Jones' talk had to do with the development of the grid sport. Sam Willaman talked entertainingly in a serious-comic manner. Dr. Sutherland and Elmer Layden got rid of a few wise cracks that left the listeners in laughter.

Through the courtesy of the Davis Theater interests and Gene Connelly, a vaudeville program was given that added much to the evening's fun. Connelly provided a number of corking acts from the Davis, Harris and Sheridan Square, including Al Mamaux and Jess Petty.

NOTABLES ATTEND

At various intervals in the evening's program, the toastmaster introduced scores of peoples whose names are frequently in the public prints. The list included:

William B. McKechnie, manager Rochester; former manager Pittsburgh and St. Louis pennant winners; Deacon Phillippi, former Pirate pitching star; Jimmy Smith, former National League shortstop; Carl Frey, new Pirate outfielder; John O'Connell, Pirate catcher; Steve Swetonic, local boy, now member Pirate pitching staff; Joe Dawson, aviator, Pirate pitcher; Jewel Ens, coach Pittsburgh Pirates; Sam Watters, secretary Pittsburgh ball club; Whitey Alperman, former star second baseman, Brooklyn Nationals.

Greensburg Swim Team Wins Meet

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 15.—By placing first in five out of seven events, the Greensburg Y. M. C. A. swim team defeated Uniontown Y, 37 to 25, last night in the local Y tank.

Barnard copped honors in the 40-yard free style while the fancy diving and 110-yard free-style features were won by Welty and Moore, respectively.

Uniontown staged a threatening rally in the 40-yard backstroke event when Carney beat McColly to the finish. To continue the good work the visitors placed first and second in the 40-yard breast stroke. The concluding 220-yard free-style found Barnard a comfortable winner.

BILLY LEWIS

BUCS BLANK BRUINS

FREDERICKSON STARS

Frederickson, playing his first game against his former Boston mates, traveled at top speed throughout the fight and turned in one of the best games of his career as a Pirate. Roger Smith, a tower of strength at defense all season, broke up every Hub drive that came his way, and his checking was hard and sure.

Like previous Pittsburgh-Boston engagements, the battle was full of furious action from start to finish. The victory, the first that the Bucs have turned in at the Bruins' expense this season, occasioned much rejoicing among local fans and a capacity crowd probably will be out to see the Pirates tangle with the Ottawa Senators at the Garden tomorrow. The lineup:

Pittsburgh		Boston
Miller	G	Thompson
McCaffery	D	Hinchman
Smith	D	Shore
Frederickson	C	Gainor
Milks	W	Galbraith
Darragh	W	Oliver

Spares—Pirates, McCurry, MacKinnon, Leonard, Drury, White, Holway, Lowery; Boston, Clapper, Denneny, MacKay, Lane, Owen, Carson.

Scoring—First period: Milks (Frederickson), 12:45. Penalty, Smith, tripping; second period, no scoring; penalties, Oliver, slashing; McCaffery, tripping; third period, scoring, White (Drury), 19:24; penalties, Frederickson (picking up puck); Shore roughing; referees, Rodden and O'Leary.

Pittsburgh Soccer Club in Benefit

The Pittsburgh Soccer Club has been substituted for the Union Switch and Signal eleven as the foe of the German Sport Club at Leslie Park tomorrow afternoon in the benefit game for Otto Zetel, the captain and center half of the Sport Club who suffered a broken leg earlier in the season.

The Sport Club is trying to stage a comeback, and since the team has been reorganized under Karl Weisenberg another good club is expected. The Pittsburgh Club, very much in the race for the national amateur cup, will field its best eleven, so a good game can be anticipated. The game will start at 3 p. m.

Farrell to Attend Big Fight for Commission

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Harry Farrell, of Nanticoke, a member of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, will be the commission's official representative at the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling heavyweight bout in Miami Beach, Fla., February 28, Frank Wiener, chairman of the Pennsylvania board has announced.

Wiener received two tickets for the bout from Jack Dempsey, who is helping to promote it.

"Mr. Farrell is going down to observe how the bout is staged," Wiener said, "and to note any improvements that may have been developed in the manner of handling large crowds at sporting events."

DUNN, RODGERS IN BATTLE TONIGHT

Two of the best bantamweights in the Pittsburgh district will cross gloves tonight in the 10-round main bout of Francis Flynn's third show in the ring of the Moose Temple in Penn avenue. They are Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, and Jackie Rodgers, of the North Side. Rodgers has been meeting the best of them since his sensational battle with Dan Billick at Motor Square Garden last New Year's Day, while Dunn is a great little boxer and crowd-pleaser, who has displayed his wares with credit in Buffalo, Erie, Toronto, Wilkes-Barre, McKeesport and other rings and gained the windup here tonight by walloping Joe Elrene, of the North Side, in the main bout at the Moose Temple two weeks ago. He can be both a boxer and a fighter on occasion and is one of the cleanest punchers in these parts.

The illness of Red Ryan, of Washington, Pa., who was to meet Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, in the semi-final, has caused a change in this bout. Freddie Shaffer, of McKeesport, will take Ryan's place. The balance of the card stands as arranged, with Patsy Young, of Beechview, boxing Andy Stahura, of Braddock, and Nat Litfin, of the Hill, opposing Georgie Tomosky, of Wilmerding. The first bout is scheduled for 8:30. The boxers will weigh in at Flynn's gym, Sixth street, at 3 p. m.

DAVIES VS. MAYBERRY

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, has landed a pip of a bout for his windup next Thursday night, having signed Willie Davies, of Charleroi, to battle Howard Mayberry, of Donora, at 116 pounds.

Osk Till, of Buffalo, meets Harry Ebbetts, of New York, in the semi-final to the Jackie Fields-Baby Joe Gans bout in Madison Suare Garden, New York, tonight. Georgie Levine and Nick Testo clash in another 10-round bout on the card.

Tommy (Kil) Murphy, of Trenton, N. J., boxes Sam Bruce, of Buffalo, at Buffalo tonight. Tuffy Griffiths meets Leo Lomski at Detroit and My Sullivan and Billy Light trade punches in a grudge battle at St. Paul.

Eight local amateur boxers will compete in an inter-city show at Wheeling next Tuesday night.

STRUB BOXES SHUPACK

Maxie Strub boxes John Shupack and Tug Phillips meets Joe Corelli in bouts at Erie tonight.

Joseph F. Barber, of Youngstown, manager of Jackie Powers, of that city, writes to deny reports from East Liverpool, O., recently that Sammy Paris, of the Hill, defeated Powers in a bout there, and encloses a clipping from a newspaper which says Powers won all the way, despite a handicap of four pounds in weight.

Jack Barry is about ready to reenter the ring. He is training daily in the Pittsburgh Lyceum ring and expects to wage a vigorous campaign before spring. He received an offer to fight Paul Pirrone in Cleveland next Tuesday, but was not sufficiently advanced in condition to accept. He holds one victory over Pirrone, who is a Cleveland favorite.

Dan Billick, Duquesne featherweight, has been matched to box Oscar Goodman in a six-round bout at the St. Nicholas arena in New York Monday night.

Tom Burke, Great Veteran Runner, Dies at 53

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—One of the greatest middle distance men of all time, Thomas E. Burke, who won the 100 and 400-meter races at the first of the modern Olmpic games at Athens in 1896, is dead from a shock he suffered last Saturday.

Burke was 53 years old. For a time he practiced law, but his health failed him. In 1906 he was track coach at Mercersburg Academy, and later was a sports writer on several Boston newspapers.

Gitlitz Stops Baker in Eighth

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Murray Gitlitz, 176½ pounds, of New York, scored a technical knockout over Gene Baker, 173 pounds, of Newark, N. J., in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night.

Lynn Jordan, 160, of Johnstown, won a technical knockout over Tommy Farrow, 161½, New Castle, in the fourth round. Johnny Chiodo, 128, Johnstown, won a referee's decision over Johnny Haggerty, 125½, Johnstown, in six rounds.

RACE BILL INTRODUCED

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—A bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races in Michigan was introduced in the lower House of the Legislature today. Its sponsor, Representative Alonzo R. Green, of Alpena, declared it was designed primarily to allow betting on county fair races. It would authorize, however, two licensed tracks in Wayne County, (Detroit).

SCHOOL TEAMS IN ACTION TODAY

Real contests are slated for today in the City Senior League and in the W. P. I. A. L.

Oliver High, at the top of the Section II race, takes on Carrick, one of the "close-to-the-bottom" teams, in a contest in which it hopes to strengthen its title chances.

Perry High plays Langley on the Corliss floor. South Hills High, with its title hopes gradually fading, meets Allegheny Vocational on the Tunnelites' court.

Section I games will find a good battle between South High on the Schenley court. Both are at the heels of Fifth Avenue High, defending champion, which is even now setting the pace.

Fifth Avenue High travels to Westinghouse in another test, while Peabody High may meet with unexpected tough opposition in Ralston on the latter's floor.

EXPORTS MAKE NEW MARK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—January exports from the United States, announced today by the Commerce Department as $491,000,000, set a new record for the month since 1921.

They were balanced by imports of $371,000,000, leaving a favorable balance of trade for the United States of $120,000,000. In January, 1928, American exports were $410,420,000 and imports $337,612,000, while the favorable trade balance was $72,808,000.

The January export total was exceeded several times by monthly figures of last year, but not by any other January records since 1921.

The international gold movement for the month was likewise shown to have gone heavily in favor of the United States, the country exporting $1,378,000 and importing $48,577,000. In January of 1928 American gold exports were $52,086,000 and imports $38,320,000, leaving a net loss of gold for that month of $13,766,000. The reversal of the gold flow has been generally attributed to rising interest rates in the United States during the last half of 1928.

Silver exports for January were $8,264,000 and imports were $8,260,000. For January, 1928, silver exports were $6,692,000 and imports $6,395,000.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 6 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables, while there was also covering and some local or commission house buying on a belief that yesterday's selling had improved the technical position. The advance to 20.40c for May and 19.44c for the new October contract was checked by a renewal of liquidation and the price dropped back to 19.98c for that position, with the general list ruling about 1 to 4 points net higher at the end of the first half hour on a moderate volume of business. Private cables reported trade and buying of near months by leading spot houses in Liverpool and India, but that yarns made from both American and Egyptian cotton were freely offered.

Demand increased somewhat just below the 20-cent level for May contracts, and the market steadied up later in the morning. Early liquidation had evidently been absorbed as the market responded quite readily to comparatively small buying orders. May worked up to 20.07c, or about 10 points net higher. This bulge was not fully maintained and the market was quiet later in the morning. The tone was steady at midday, with active months showing net advances of about 7 to 8 points.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Raw sugar was unchanged early today, with no sales reported and buyers and sellers fractionally apart. Refiners were willing to pay 3.71c for spots, duty paid, but holders asked from 1-64 to 1-32c more.

Fluctuations in raw futures were narrow. Prices at midday were about unchanged from opening levels and 1 point higher to 1 point lower than last night. There appeared to be a little covering in near months, which accounted for the steadiness. Houses with European connection sold distant deliveries. On the whole trading was light and most of the business consisted of changing from near to more distant positions.

No improvement was reported in the demand for refined, although withdrawals on old contracts were fair. Prices were unchanged at 4.90c for fine granulated.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Call Money 10 Per Cent.

Retention of the 5 per cent rediscount rate by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York has a "worry value" that was plainly reflected in today's market and may prove of sufficient influence to bring about the brokerage credit adjustment the Reserve Board is so anxious to achieve. The market was buoyant at the start on buying attracted by the drop of $101,000,000 in the weekly loan account and by the news that the bank's directors had made no change in the re-discount rate at yesterday's protracted meeting. Subsequently, however, a selling movement started and broadened out as the Street heard reports of heavy loan calling and advances in the rates on acceptances, the credit medium occupying the brackets just above the regular commercial discount paper. Call money advanced abruptly to 10 per cent when banks called in more than $60,000,000 loans. While no Federal Reserve director was directly quoted on yesterday's meeting, it was the impression in the Street that the re-discount rate was only one of many important questions before the board. All aspects of the domestic and international credit situation were discussed, it was inferred, and a decision was reached to press for further restriction of the use of Federal Reserve credit in speculation until such time as a sound and normal condition prevails.

Bethlehem Steel.

Bethlehem Steel has been well supported in recent reactions. It is recalled that a short time ago strong Chicago interests were heavy purchasers of Bethlehem. The vast expansion program involving the expenditure of $130,000,000 has been completed, the common stock is again on a dividend basis, operations are running at a high rate and earnings are on the upgrade. Forecasts are now made that earnings in first quarter will range between $3 and $4 a common share and probably approximate $12 a share for the full year.

Brokers Expanding Facilities.

Expansion of the brokerage business in this city has necessitated the acquisition of new or additional office space by several of the prominent houses here. A. E. Masten & Co. will open a branch office in the Koppers Building and J. H. Holmes & Co. will establish a branch in the William Penn Hotel. C. D. Halsey & Co. will remove from their present quarters in the Benedum-Trees Building to the new Investment Building in Fourth avenue, adjoining the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange, and will also remove their branch office from the Clark Building to the Monongahela Bank Building at Sixth and Wood. J. E. Bennett & Co., now on the third floor of the Benedum-Trees Building will take the first floor space vacated by Halsey. R. V. Nuttall & Co. will move from the First National Bank Building to the Granite Building at Sixth and Wood and it is understood A. B. Leech & Co. and J. E. Reynolds & Co. will take quarters in the Grant Building.

New Issue February 15, 1929

Berlin City Electric Company

INCORPORATED

(Berliner Staedtische Elektrizitaetswerke Akt.-Ges.)

Thirty Year 6½% Sinking Fund Debentures

To be dated February 1, 1929 — To mature February 1, 1959

Authorized and presently to be issued $15,000,000. Coupon debentures in denomination of $1,000, registerable as to principal only. Interest payable February 1 and August 1. Principal and interest payable in United States gold coin at the principal office of Dillon, Read & Co., New York, without deduction for any taxes, present or future, levied by German governmental authorities. Holders may, at their option, collect principal and interest in London at the office of Guinness, Mahon & Co., in pounds sterling; in Amsterdam at the office of Mendelssohn & Co. Amsterdam, in guilders; in Zurich and Basle at the offices of Credit Suisse and Societe de Banque Suisse, in Swiss francs; or in Stockholm at the office of Skandinaviska Kreditaktiebolaget, in Swedish kronor; in each case at the buying rate for sight exchange on New York on the date of presentation for collection. In addition to being redeemable for the sinking fund at 100% and interest, debentures are to be redeemable as a whole, or in part by lot, on thirty days' notice, on any interest date, at the following prices and interest: to and including February 1, 1934, at 102½%; thereafter to and including February 1, 1939, at 101%; and thereafter at 100%. Central Union Trust Company of New York, American Trustee. Deutsche Kreditsicherung A. G., Berlin, German Trustee.

The city of Berlin owns all of the company's capital stock and has entered into an agreement with the company, extending beyond the maturity of these debentures, empowering the company to fix rates for the sale of electricity adequate to cover all operating expenses, interest and amortization of loans, depreciation and other proper reserves, and providing that, upon termination thereof, the city shall assume all obligations of the company, including interest and amortization of loans.

The indenture is to provide for a sinking fund, calculated on an accumulative basis, sufficient to retire the entire issue by maturity, to operate by semi-annual call by lot (first redemption August 1, 1929) at 100% and interest.

These debentures are listed on the Boston Stock Exchange and the company has agreed to make application in due course to list them on the New York Stock Exchange.

The following information has been summarized by Dr. Lange, Treasurer of the city of Berlin, and Dr. Kauffmann and Dr. Adolph, Managing Directors of Berlin City Electric Company, Incorporated, from their letter dated February 14, 1929, copies of which may be obtained on request, and is subject to the more complete information contained therein:

BUSINESS

Berlin City Electric Company, Incorporated was organized by the city of Berlin in 1923 to operate, under lease from the city, the electric works which since 1915 had been operated directly by the city. The company sells about 90% of the electric current supplied in Berlin, which, with a population of more than 4,000,000, is the third city in size in the world. Customers, numbering approximately 700,000, include the surface and underground railway systems of Berlin and German National Railways, as well as purchasers of current for domestic and industrial purposes. A large majority of the industrial concerns in Berlin are customers of the company, including the Siemens concern and Allgemeine Elektricitaets Gesellschaft (General Electric Company, Germany). In 1928 the company produced more than 68% of the current sold by it.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

The proceeds of the sale of these debentures are to be used to liquidate all current borrowings of the company except approximately $3,900,000 due during 1929, to make extensions to the leased properties and for other corporate purposes.

CAPITALIZATION

Upon issuance of these debentures, the company's funded and other long-term debt and capital stock will be as follows:

Thirty Year 6½% Sinking Fund Debentures, due 1959 (this issue)	$15,000,000
Twenty-Five Year 6½% Sinking Fund Debentures, due 1951	20,000,000
7% Swiss Franc Loan, due 1940	5,731,521
8% Goldmark credit, due serially 1932 to 1935	5,997,600
Capital Stock (15,000,000 Reichsmarks par value)	3,570,000

In addition, in consideration of the application to the extension of the leased properties of the proceeds of approximately 72% of the 6½% External Loan of 1925 of the city of Berlin ($13,909,000 now outstanding) and of approximately 39% of the 6% External Loan of 1928 of the city of Berlin ($14,908,000 now outstanding), the company has obligated itself to pay to the city of Berlin interest and amortization upon such proportions, respectively, of these loans.

EARNINGS

Net earnings of the company after rentals, taxes not based on profits, depreciation and payments under the Dawes Plan, but before deducting interest and appropriations junior thereto, for the four-year period ended December 31, 1928 (December 1928 estimated), have been as follows:

Year	Net earnings as above
1925	$6,379,599
1926	6,563,383
1927	7,492,081
1928 (December estimated)	8,266,565

The maximum annual interest requirement of the company as of January 31, 1929, but adjusted to give effect to this financing, including $264,834 of interest on current borrowings but excluding interest payments ranking junior to interest on these debentures, was approximately $3,772,934. This interest requirement includes interest on more than $24,000,000 of indebtedness from the proceeds of which no substantial benefits are reflected in the above earnings.

Conversions of German and Swiss currencies into United States currency have been made at par of exchange (one Reichsmark equals 23.8 cents; one Swiss franc equals 19.3 cents).

A substantial amount of these debentures has been withdrawn for offering in Europe, including offerings in Holland by Mendelssohn & Co. Amsterdam, Nederlandshe Handel-Maatschappij and others.

Information herein contained has been received in part by cable.

We offer these debentures for delivery if, when and as issued and accepted by us, subject to approval of legal proceedings by counsel. It is expected that delivery will be made on or about February 28, 1929, in the form of temporary debentures, or interim receipts of Dillon, Read & Co.

Price 93½ and interest. Yield to maturity 7.02%
(Average yield, based upon retirement through sinking fund, 7.16%)

Business Is Doing Nicely Talks With Leaders Show.

By B. C. FORBES

MOST of our business and financial men throughout the country feel encouraged over the way things have been going businesswise thus far this year. Some of them feel apprehensive over possible mishaps in Wall Street, and they don't relish the clamor raging in Congress for action and legislation aimed at existing banking laws.

Leaving this whole hectic phase of the national situation out of the reckoning, satisfaction and confidence are widely entertained I find as the result of sounding representative leaders in divers lines of industry.

CARL F. DANNER, president of the American Hide and Leather Company, of Boston, says:

"It now seems certain that the speculative enthusiasm of 1928 was not altogether unwarranted in view of the increased profits of certain industrial units, which resulted from a better organization of production and consumption.

"The only danger signals at present seem to be in a depression such as has usually followed a period of high money, or a serious decline in the stock market with the possible accompaniment of a credit crisis. Rates on prime commercial paper in New York City are higher than they have been during the past six years, and the cost of doing marginal business may become prohibitive. However, with careful management, and freedom from possible credit strain, general business activity should show progress.

"The problem of unemployment in the leather industry is assuming serious proportions. The relative cheapness of foreign labor enables foreign leather manufacturers to market successfully their product in this country at a price which the domestic tanner cannot hope to meet. This has forced tanners in this country to cut down operations and reduce payrolls. Unless the industry receives adequate protection without the handicap of a tariff on raw materials, only leather that meets a style of specialty requirement can expect to be sold at a profit."

FRANK A. KETCHAM, president of the Graybar Electric Company, New York, says:

"Have just returned from an extensive trip through the Middle West, the South and the Southwest. I met and talked at length with a number of prominent men representing a wide range of business activities, and practically every one expressed the firm belief that we are facing a highly favorable outlook. This position checks with my own views. Our budgets call for a marked increase in sales, and from our many years of experience we know that our own activities seldom are at variance with general business conditions."

GEORGE M. VERITY, president of the American Rolling Mill Company, Middletown, O., states:

"It seems to me that I have never known when all of the conditions which make for continued and satisfactory business both at home and throughout the world are better than they are now. What has transpired so far this year with us is fully up to that standard. I am sure we are going to have a very satisfactory year."

C. W. KELLOGG, president of the Engineers Public Service Company, observes:

"Serving through its subsidiaries three important areas, each from 250 to 300 miles in length, in Tidewater, Va., along the Gulf Coast in Louisiana and Texas and in the Puget Sound district as well as sections of Nebraska and West Texas (in 14 states in all), Engineers' Public Service Company covers a territory of countrywide diversity. It finds business activity strong and prospects excellent."

K. L. AMES, Jr., president of the Yellow Cab Company, Chicago, says:

"In my opinion we can look forward to six months of continued prosperity as a minimum and I would not be surprised if it continued for several years, although no man is safe in forecasting beyond four or five months. The United States is prosperous as a whole and the few sections of the country in which there is not full participation in this prosperity do not greatly detract from the appearance of the whole picture."

R. W. McNEEL, head of McNeel's Financial Service, of Boston, states:

"The business outlook is extremely promising. Not since the war has prosperity been so well distributed. Only two factors seem to hold threats for the future: One is the rising cost of capital which may tend to slow up new building and engineering projects; the other is the fact that so many people have been benefitting financially by the rise in the stock market that a considerable part of our population is likely to want to work less and play more. Prosperity is only created and supported by hard work."

THAT last warning, against depending upon speculative profits rather than upon industrious attention to business, should not be ignored.

Col. Ayres on Steel.

Reports from the iron and steel industry seem to bear out the year-end expectations of marked industrial activity in the opening months of 1929, says Col. Leonard P. Ayres, noted statistician and vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company. An important evidence of industrial activity is the increase in the percentage of available furnaces in blast from 58.7 at the end of December to 61.8 at the end of January. This is the first time since the spring of 1927, two years ago, that the percentage has risen above its long-time normal of 60. Before the inception of the Federal Reserve System, and to some extent since that time, the rising of the blast furnace percentage above its long-time normal has had a further significance. It generally has been indicative of an industrial activity above normal that required such credit accommodations that interest rates were increased and security prices, in turn, declined.

Loans Drop $101,000,000.

Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending February 13 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today as $5,568,000,000, a dcrease of $101,000,000 as compared with the preceding week. The loans for the week ending February 13, 1928, aggregated $3,819,000,000. The detailed distribution of the loans over the three weeks dealt with in the board's report was:

	Feb. 13, 1929	Feb. 6, 1929	Feb. 13, 1928
For own account	$1,097,000,000	$1,116,000,000	$1,152,000,000
For account of out of town banks	1,859,000,000	1,931,000,000	1,531,000,000
For account of others..	2,612,000,000	2,621,000,000	1,136,000,000

Rail Express Plans.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized the newly incorporated Railway Express Agency to issue 100,000 shares of capital stock without par value, and $32,000,000 5 per cent serial bonds, series "A." The stock will be sold at not less than $10 a share to participating railroads on the basis of proportion of express business handled by each. The bonds will be sold at 97¾ and accrued interest. Funds from the sale of securities will be used for properties of American Railway Express Company devoted to the express business, which the railroad will take over on March 1.

Housing Shortage Caught Up.

Indications that residential construction has caught up with the demand are seen by many expert observers in the present trend of construction statistics, according to a digest of opinion on construction activity made by Gage P. Wright, New York, president of the Business Economic Digest. Such opinions appear to be borne out by the reports of the F. W. Dodge Corporation, Mr. Wright points out. These reports for January show that, with due allowance made for seasonal slackness, the average daily value of contracts for residential construction reached the lowest point of any month during the past four years, and were approximately 40 per cent below the record point reached during the residential building boom of 1923. "A slight but important tendency towards lower rents in some classes of residential buildings has become apparent," Mr. Wright states.

TIGHTER CREDIT PUTS SKIDS ON STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Further tightening of credit conditions, accompanied by the calling of $60,000,000 in bank loans, turned the course of stock prices reactionary today after an opening bulge based on the retention of the 5 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank, and the declines of $101,000,000 in brokers' loans. Early advances of 1 to 8 points were cut down, or wiped out, and a long list of issues sank 1 to 11 points below yesterday's final quotations.

For the second time this week, the rate on bankers' acceptances was advanced, presumably in reflection of the sharp drop in the bill and security holdings of the Federal Reserve banks. Time money also was firmer, some maturities being raised from 7½ to 7¾ per cent. Call money renewed at 6½ per cent but advanced to 7 in the early afternoon.

The early rise apparently was due to heavy short covering, but leading commission houses continued to urge profit-taking on the rallies in the belief that the Federal Reserve Board means business and that further measures to restrict the volume of speculative credit will be taken unless there is a sharp reduction in brokers' borrowings. Heavy calling of loans were interpreted as an indication that banks were co-operating in making the federal reserve policy effective.

Resumption of dividends on Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation common stock, after a lapse of nearly five years, was one of the most important business developments of the day. Trade news continued favorable, and the bulk of the earnings reports published made excellent comparison with the previous year's figures.

United Electric Coal, which recently crossed 81 on pool manipulation, broke 11 points to a new low for the year at 56. Radio converted an early gain of 4 points into a loss of 7 and Allied Chemical dropped 6½ points below last night's close. Montgomery Ward, General Electric, Johns Manville and American Railway Express sold 3 to 4 points under last night's closing quotations, and American and Foreign Power lost all of its early gain of 6½ points. Union Tank Car, North American Company and Marine preferred moved into new high ground in the early outburst of strength.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Curb market prices today turned reactionary at midday after a vigorous advance in the opening hour in many stocks. Considerable uneasiness was displayed by traders over the advance in bankers' acceptance rates to above the rediscount rate and the long drawn out meeting of the Federal Reserve Bank directors yesterday. Banks called $50,000,000 in, adding to the apprehension over the complex credit situation. Call money renewed at 6½ per cent, but was expected to go higher.

Trading in the mining shares was featured by a 12-point drop by Phelps Dodge, which recently had a sharp rise. General Electric of England was one of the few industrials to improve. In the specialties Fox Theaters sagged to a new low at 29⅛.

Activity, however, was chiefly centered in the utility group. Electric Bond and Share in the early trading rose 2 points to 264 and the new stock ranged within narrow limits above 89. American Gas and Electric declined a point and American Light and Traction dropped more than a point. United Gas Improvement ran up to 179⅞ and then reacted to 176.

Oils were heavy, Standard of Indiana yielding to 90¼ under pressure.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

WESTERN PUB. SERVICE IN STRONG DEMAND HERE

Western Public Service, in the outside list, was the active issue on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, rising to a new high in the early dealings on a sharply increased turnover.

Buying of the stock was based on reports that the company will have its gas lines in operation from the Wyoming-Montana producing area to the marketing districts in and around Salt Lake City sooner than had been anticipated. The company is one of the so-called Crawford concerns, being sponsored by the Crawford interests of this city, the Ohio Oil Company and Prairie Oil and Gas.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt showed no change from yesterday's average level but met good support around $25 a share for the new stock today. Aluminum Goods was off slightly from the previous close but was not in heavy supply. The company's 1928 report, issued yesterday, showed earnings equivalent to $1.42 a share on the stock.

D. L. Clark Company continued to change hands at a fraction under 19, the range in which it worked during the greater part of yesterday's trading.

Westinghouse Airbrake was strong here in reflection of the strength displayed by the issue in the New York market. While the company is not expected to show earnings barely covering the dividend for 1928, the outlook in the railroad equipment industry has changed considerably in the past few weeks and the Westinghouse Company will receive its share of the new business. Through its subsidiary, Union Switch and Signal, it will also participate in the safety and block signal installations in connection with the electrification plans now being carried out by major railway systems.

BANK RESOURCE 30 BILLION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Combined resources of the 7,635 national banks of the nation have reached $30,589,156,000.

Comptroller of the Currency Cole, reporting today on the returns from the call for reports on the condition of the banks issued on December 31, said the resources exceeded by $1,663,576,000 those held on October 3, 1928, the date of the previous call. They were $2,424,937,000 greater than the amount reported December 31, 1927.

Loans and discounts, including rediscounts, on December 31 amounted to $15,279,631,000, an increase of $385,270,000 since October. Total deposit liabilities on December 31, 1928, were $24,347,380,000, exceeding by $1,342,069,000 the total deposits on October 3, 1928.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Notwithstanding that Liverpool wheat quotations showed a tendency to lag, the Chicago wheat market today established a new high-price record for the season. Advices continued to tell of unusually severe cold in Europe, and to cause fear of crop damage. Starting ⅝c off to ⅝c up, Chicago wheat later developed a general upward bent. Corn, oats and provisions were easy, corn opening unchanged to ⅜c down, and subsequently holding near to initial figures.

Commission-house buying of wheat was strongly in evidence at times today, and was ascribed largely to foreigners and the Northwest, as well as to Eastern sources. On the other hand, selling to realize profits for recent purchasers was also apparent, and was given some stimulous through forecasts of better weather abroad and from reluctance which the Liverpool market displayed in responding to price upturns on this side of the Atlantic.

Friends of high prices for wheat put considerable stress today on a Washington crop summary which was construed as very bullish as to the Russian situation in particular. The summary stated that the Russian was giving indications of alarm over the outlook for the growing crops in Russia. Meanwhile, British cable advices said that although the forecast is for rising temperatures in Europe, apprehension remained that the cold wave would rest in considerable abandonment of acreage sown to winter grain, especially in Palond and Russia.

Dividend Notices

AMERICAN WINDOW GLASS COMPANY.
Pittsburgh, Pa., February 11, 1929.

The regular semi-annual dividend of three and one-half per centum (3½%) has been declared on the Preferred Stock of this Company, payable March 1st, 1929, to Stockholders of record February 19th, 1929. Checks will be mailed.

W. M. BONESTEEL, Secretary.

What Will She Do With Your Insurance Money?

When your wife receives your insurance money, what will she do with it? Will she spend it for unnecessary luxuries? Will she know how to invest it, so that it will provide an income for many years, or will she seek advice from well-meaning but inexperienced friends and relatives?

Insurance money quickly disappears when left in inexperienced hands. Thoughtful men no longer leave their insurance payable outright to their wives. They realize the unfairness and risk in asking a woman not equipped in matters of investment, to manage a large sum of money. They are leaving their insurance in the form of an Insurance Trust, under which the proceeds of the policies are safely invested and the income distributed according to their instructions.

An Insurance Trust affords ample protection for your family and offers an opportunity to provide for unusual conditions which might arise.

We have several very interesting booklets explaining the Life Insurance Trust. Call or send for copies.

SPANG MERGER INCREASES PROFITS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

SPANG, CHALFANT & CO. earned $8.85 a share on its 750,000 shares of common stock in the first year of operations following the merger with the Standard Seamless Tube Company.

Net profit after interest, taxes and depreciation in 1928 was $3,226,188. The extent of the improvement in the company's business in the latter half of the year can be seen in the fact that in the first six months of 1928 net was $1,077,275 or 97 cents a share on the common stock.

The net income represented an increase of 24 per cent over the combined net of the two companies in 1927 when they were operating as separate organizations. The full benefits of the consolidation were not shown last year since several months were necessary to co-ordinate the efforts of the two companies.

THE combined net of Spang, Chalfant and Standard Seamless Tube in 1927 was $2,599,963, compared with $4,660,130 in 1926 and $3,353,458 in 1925. The slump in 1927 was due to poor demand for pipe in the oil fields, a condition which was not corrected until the summer of 1928.

Following the policy of other Hillman organizations, Spang, Chalfant & Co. has started the retirement of its funded debt. A year ago when the merger took place $10,000,000 of 5 per cent gold bonds were sold. By the end of 1928 the bonds outstanding had been reduced to $9,330,000. This was brought about through sinking fund payment of $190,000 and the purchase of $480,000 of the bonds for the company's treasury. At the end of the year $13,750,000 of 6 per cent cumulative preferred was also outstanding.

SINCE dividends paid on the preferred stock amounted to only $719,000, a substantial increase took place in current assets as compared with the statement made a year ago after giving effect to the merger and the incidental financing.

Current assets on December 31, 1928, totaled $13,337,597 against current liabilities of only $2,504,019. A year before current assets amounted to $5,730,000, compared with current liabilities of $1,861,673.

At the end of 1928 the company had money loaned on call amounting to $1,500,000 and cash of $535,888. This was in spite of the fact that a growing volume of business made large increases in inventories and accounts receivable necessary.

An expenditure of $727,023 was made for additions to plant facilities during the year. A large amount of improvement work is now under way which was not reflected in the statement. After charging off depreciation of $690,753, physical properties were carried at $20,036,269.

NO CHANGE was shown in the investment account of $3,696,449 which included the company's holdings of 100,000 shares of Oil Well Supply Company common stock in addition to other securities. Although the price at which the Oil Well Supply stock is carried has not been made public, it is quite probable that the market value has depreciated below the original cost. The price of the stock declined due to the depressed condition of that company's business during the latter part of 1927 and early 1928.

Regardless of the market price, however, this stock is worth its original cost to Spang, Chalfant, since it makes Oil Well Supply's 90 stores available as distributing points for Spang pipe. Oil Well Supply's business improved substantially in the final six months of 1928 and it is continuing to be satisfactory in spite of the somewhat doubtful prospects for the oil industry.

SPANG, CHALFANT'S present operations are at about 80 per cent of capacity with a good volume of day to day business. The backlog of unfilled orders, however, is small.

YESTERDAY the Sun-Telegraph published the earnings of the Weirton Steel Company for 1928 in round numbers. An official of the company then stated that the figures were incorrect but refused to divulge the official report.

A check with another source has made the exact earnings of the company available and has shown that the figures published yesterday were substantially correct.

WEIRTON'S actual net sales after eliminating inter-company transactions were $55,062,000, compared with a figure of $55,000,000 given yesterday.

Actual net profit was $6,869,000, compared with $6,800,000 published yesterday.

Earnings per share were $29.15 on a total of 235,620 shares compared with $28.99 a share on 234,670 shares published yesterday.

BANK TO SELL HOME

We are appointed exclusive selling agents by a prominent bank for a beautiful home they have been compelled to take over. This is a seven-room all brick home, English living room type, has hot water heat and two-car garage. To a responsible party, splendid terms can be arranged and the price is just what the bank has in the property. There is no excuse for paying rent with this opportunity waiting for you.

FULL LENGTH LIVING ROOM

This new six-room all brick home is the best value in Mt. Lebanon—large front and back cement porches, on level lot. This home has everything in it that you can find in the higher priced homes and you will wonder how it is possible to build it for the price we are asking. $11,000 and terms that will please.

INVESTMENT PLUS

We offer for sale a new apartment building consisting of fifteen 4-room apartments, 100% rented which shows a 20% income. Can be bought with a small amount of cash and would consider other small income property for equity. This is a real investment and an opportunity that does not often present itself. Call us for appointment.

Contract No. 3. Heating and Ventilating.

2. All bids must be made upon prepared form of proposal to be obtained at the office of the Contract Clerk, Room 429 City-County Building, on and after February 14th, 1929, upon presentation of receipt for deposit required for contract plans and specifications. Proposals containing any additions, erasures, omissions, alterations, additions not called for, or additional bid of any kind may be rejected as informal and no bidder will be allowed to withdraw his bid.

3. Bids tendered for the Raising of Streets in the North Side Flood District, Contract No. 1, shall be accompanied by a bond in the amount of $20,000.00 with a satisfactory surety or trust company as surety conditioned upon the bidder agreeing to do said work and entering into a contract therefor in the form provided, and furnish a bond in the amount of fifty (50%) per centum of the contract price with a satisfactory surety or trust company as surety conditioned upon the bidder faithfully performing all the work provided in said contract, and faithfully complying with the provisions thereof. Separate bond must accompany bids for all other improvements in the amount of fifty (50%) per centum of the respective estimated costs thereof duly and legally executed with a surety or trust company which has complied with the City ordinances relating thereto. Said bonds shall be in the form of bond furnished by the City of Pittsburgh.

4. Blueprint copies of the contract plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of the Bureau of Engineering, Room 440 City-County Building. Deposits in the amount of $25.00 will be required for each set of specifications and blueprint copies of the contract plans for the Raising of Streets in the North Side Flood District, and $2.00 for each of the other above named improvements. Receipts for said deposits will be given and the money refunded upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition and without marking within 10 days of the date bids are opened.

5. The Mayor and Director of the Department of Public Works reserve the right to increase or decrease the amount or class of any portion of the work which they deem necessary, to reject any or all proposals, or to accept any proposal which they deem it to the interest of the City so to do.

BUGS BAER Says

A MAN IS ONLY AS GOOD AS HIS PROXY

Arthur "Bugs" Baer

THE Standard Oil, than whom there is no sassier, continues its influential scrimmage for proxies.

Papa John D. asked Col. Stewart to resign from his chain store system of filling stations last year. The Colonel's negative is still thundering up the valleys and rolling back from the hills.

Junior John D. chose up sides with his daddy and the war of the proxies was on.

Out of deference to Smith and Hoover, the Colonel and John waited until the presidential election was over before they started a REAL contest.

A proxy is a man who represents you when you are unpresentable. Proxies got famous in the Civil War. If you wanted to stay at home and cheer, you could hire a proxy to go to war for you for the courageous sum of $300.

There is a man in New York state who still draws a Civil War pension because his proxy got shot while hastily making historic footprints away from the battle of Bull Run.

To explain it better, you leap up one flight of economic steps and buy yourself a boyish-form suit with two pairs of pants.

Wishing to get full value out of your purchase you wear the outfit as far as possible and hire a proxy to wear the extra pair of pants.

When Colonel Stewart refused to subtract his dots from the dotted line, it established a feeling of hostility that was almost as bad as a peace conference.

While the two Rockefellers were nodding their heads in perfect time like two berries on one stem, the Colonel went into a huddle with his proxies.

John D. Senior hopped to Florida to play golf with a reliable proxy. Colonel Stewart rushed out to Indiana to sing Paul Dresser's beautiful ballad, "Oh, the banks of the Wabash have been merged."

The younger John left for Egypt on an archeological stampede. He was last seen digging around the Rameses parking spaces in the hopes of digging up an ancient dynasty of proxies.

Mr. Hoover will take the oath of office on March fourth. The playboys of the Standard Oil will breathe deeply for three days after that. Then, thoroughly invigorated by the minority reports, they will rush into the Battle of the Proxies on March seventh.

We feel deeply over this matter. We were refused admission in the Daughters of the American Revolution even though we proved that we had a proxy on the Mayflower.

Although Colonel Stewart marches up his proxies by squads, companies and regiments, we would hate to be the proxy who has to run the gauntlet of the consolidated Rockefellers when call money is singing in the twilight.

And sentiment would prevent us from battling John D. Junior.

We knew his father.

Experts, meeting in Vienna, have decided that the effects of monotonous noises on the nerves of city people can best be minimized by other contrasting noises.

For example—if your car squeaks or rattles, set off a bunch of firecrackers.

Grand Jurors in All-Night Vigil

These men work night and day to make city safe.

WASHINGTON.—Two members of the Grand Jury, William Hem and Andy Haw, last night made a secret investigation of the Peeping Tom charges that have been circulated against Congressman Frisby since he started his Day and Night Non-Stop Endurance Walk.

After dark they climbed the fire escape outside the apartments of Miss Gertie Abercrombie, complaining witness, to study the various angles of the case.

A complication arose when Miss Abercrombie made a second complaint to the police, who found the grand jurors making their survey.

The trio, after serenading Miss Abercrombie, was surprised to discover it was a quartet. And the fourth man turned out to be none other than Congressman Frisby, who was obviously startled. "Where am I?" he asked, and went on to explain that he must have been walking in his sleep.

RESEARCH DEPARTMENT

This is our Mr. Schwaebe, who is compiling some mighty interesting statistics upon the use of the word "daring." Mr. Schwaebe has found that it has been used 165,896,000 times in the last two years in theatrical and literary advertisements. It is Mr. Schwaebe's personal conviction that there is nothing particularly daring about "daring" any more.

Paralysis of Army Air Corps Because of No-Promotion Drawback Demands Prompt Senate Action on Furlow Bill

HOW long is the United States Senate going to withhold from the Army Air Corps the square deal for which Col. Lindbergh appealed nearly a year ago?

Of the present session less than a dozen legislative days remains. Yet we see the Furlow bill, which provides for the Air Corps a separate promotion list and which has twice passed the House unanimously, still denied a vote in the Senate.

And this denial is all the more inexplicable for the reason that the critical condition existing in the Army Air Corps today, which is due to lack of promotion, has long been recognized by the War Department. It has been reported upon by various boards assigned to study the problem. The secretary of war himself, the assistant secretary of war for aviation, and various committees of Congress have agreed that relief is urgently needed by the Army Air Corps.

Col. Lindbergh himself, who was trained in the Army flying schools, is keenly aware of the menace to the Army Air Corps which the lack of promotion provides. He has appealed to the Congress and to the country for the passage of the Furlow bill, or some similar measure, at the present session.

The National Aeronautics Association has adopted a resolution urging the separate promotion list for the Air Corps authorized by the Furlow bill.

The American Legion has gone on record in its national convention in favor of the Furlow bill.

The assistant secretary of war for aviation, in his annual report, has declared that the Furlow bill is unquestionably the best relief measure for the Army Air Corps which has ever been proposed.

No real argument worthy of the name has been made in either house of Congress against giving to the Army Air Corps a better system of promotion, which is all that the Furlow bill attempts to do.

Yet the Senate has held this bill since last year in face of the fact that the Army Air Corps is rapidly losing by resignation many of its best fliers.

If the Furlow bill were not to relieve an emergency, it might go over until the next regular session. But the promotion paralysis in the Army Air Corps is too critical to be trifled with any longer.

The need for prompt relief for our Army fliers has twice been clearly recognized by the House. It ought not to be ignored any longer by the Senate.

Now is the time, and the Senate is the place, for the Army Air Corps to be given the square deal for which the Furlow promotion bill provides. The Senate has turned a deaf ear to the appeal of Col. Lindbergh altogether too long. The Senate has blinded its eyes to the facts of the situation altogether too long.

The Furlow bill ought to be passed at once and go to the President for approval in plenty of time to be signed before adjournment.

Abridging of Free Speech Should Get Court Test

It is hoped a real test case may determine whether the constitutional right of free speech really prevails in this county. Four members of the Civil Liberties Union, arrested when they insisted upon speaking at a meeting for which the police had issued no permit, offer a good basis for such a test. They demanded in police court that they be held for trial by higher court.

It seems evident that the right of freedom of speech is being abridged if permits be required. Supposing no permit is issued?

The best thing authorities can do, if American traditions are to remain in force, is to remember that in matters affecting the right of speech their regulatory power is limited to that of preserving order. Perhaps in times of great stress a meeting would be only an invitation to grave disorder, but it is just as well to keep in mind that even preventing an assemblage of that kind, though justified, is against the letter and spirit of the constitution.

For ordinary meetings of protest it were well that the authorities keep their hands off and interfere not at all unless there be disorder that threatens the peace of the community. The Civil Liberties Union is not an aggregation of "anarchists." It is composed of persons who realize the great danger that is growing up in the attempt to interfere with the rights of people. Few of its members, perhaps none of them, agree with radical views of any kind, but they do agree with the right of any view, radical or otherwise, to have expression.

Resolution Bringing to Date Canal Data Should Pass Congress Promptly

Both houses of Congress should take time before adjournment to adopt the Edge resolution authorizing our Army engineers to correct and complete the survey of the Nicaraguan Canal which our government made years ago.

According to the poll of the two houses recently taken by Universal Service, 63 Senators favor this resolution and only nine are opposed to it. The same poll shows 282 Representatives in favor and only 29 opposed to this fact-finding resolution.

Against this overwhelming majority in both Houses, reinforced as it is by the support of the President and the President-elect, no one-man filibuster staged by Senator Dill, of the State of Washington, or anybody else should be allowed to prevail.

Not only are there votes enough to adopt the Edge resolution, but there are votes enough to break the Dill filibuster.

All that is now needed to adopt the Edge resolution and to send it to the President for approval is the Republican leadership in both Houses to give that measure the right of way.

Surely the American people who have paid $3,000,000 for a canal route through Nicaragua are entitled to have the 27-year-old survey of that route brought down to date.

This canal would directly benefit the three great regions of our country—the Atlantic States, the Pacific States, the Mississippi River and Gulf States.

"It is not an enterprise, therefore," as William Randolph Hearst pointed out in his telegram to Congressman Black, of New York, who read it into the Congressional Record, "which can be opposed because of special benefits conferred upon one section. It will prove of advantage to all sections and should have the support of the representatives of all sections."

It is also an enterprise that would have a stabilizing effect on the five republics of Central America. Not only Nicaragua, but her neighbors, would benefit immediately by the commencement of the construction of this canal.

And that immediate benefit Central America would share especially with the Mississippi River and Gulf States whence would come most of the supplies and much of the building materials for this vast undertaking.

But regardless of when the actual construction of this canal begins, the survey should be completed now. Because it will take a considerable time to build the new canal and the annual reports of the Panama Canal Commission indicate that if the business of that waterway continues to increase as it has during recent years, its capacity will be taxed to its maximum within the next 10 or 15 years.

No new commission would be created by the adoption of the Edge resolution. That resolution delegates to the chief of the Army engineers the authority to carry out the whole work of bringing the old survey down to date.

An overwhelming public sentiment—a decisive majority of Senators and Representatives in Congress, the President, the President-elect, the Secretaries of State, War and Navy, and the director of the budget favor the adoption at the present session of the Edge resolution.

Under these circumstances the Republican leadership of both houses of Congress will be guilty of a grave dereliction of duty to the nation if the Edge resolution is not brought to a vote before adjournment.

Bringing the Nicaraguan Canal survey down to date is too vital to our commerce, to the common defense, to the progress and prosperity of Central America, and to the welfare of the world to be postponed any longer.

Tales That Are Told

Returned With Thanks

A MAN sent a small boy to deliver a note to a young woman who lived a few streets away. He gave the boy 10 cents so that he would hurry.

After a short time the messenger came back, and, returning the money, said:

"Miss Jones says she will be glad to see you tonight, but she didn't want the 10 cents!"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

WOMEN are apt to misunderstand each other if they ain't feeling any too friendly anyhow.

There was a neighbor woman that dropped in on Mrs. Quickish for a little visit. She says, "Are you feeling better now, Mrs. Quickish?"

"Sure, I feel all right, Mrs. Robin."

"Well, I thought maybe you was all right again. Mrs. Bland was telling me she seen you taking a tramp through the park last night."

"Mrs. Bland is a dirty gossip! It wasn't no tramp; it was a friend of my husband."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I HAD a tooth pulled the other day.

You know how it is—for six months I'd backed and filled and heed and hawed and teetered around making alibis and excuses. Then finally I got up enough courage to leap into the office and get the darned thing yanked.

He's a right smart young dentist and he had a grand, nifty office with every conceivable modern do-funny for dental architecture. But somehow none of it comforted me as I watched those demon forceps coming nearer and nearer—

I forgot the glistening array of white enamel—

The shining silver instruments—

The glittering crystal—

The gobs and gobs of scientific atmosphere—

It was a great setting, but none of it registered in that awful moment—

With one despairing gasp I passed it all up—

AND REACHED OUT AND GRABBED THE NURSE'S HAND. AND THAT HELPED!

Now I had never seen that nurse before—

And she was in no way an unusual nurse. She was just a pretty, pleasant girl with a regular size hand. Generally speaking, that hand would have meant nothing to me. I am not given to hand-holding. In fact, I am rather snooty on the subject. I don't believe people should go around hanging onto each other. And I'm quite a little proud of my ability to manage my affairs unaided.

YET AT THAT MOMENT THE TOUCH OF HER WARM, FRIENDLY LITTLE HAND MEANT MORE TO ME THAN ALL MY SMARTY THEORIES OR THAT RITZY DENTAL PARAPHERNALIA.

I've done a lot of thinking since I had that tooth pulled—and, I am, I trust, much humbler and wiser—for I have discovered a great secret.

I have discovered the secret of the fundamental human need.

We talk so much about human nature these days.

We read and write such ponderous tomes on the adjustment of human behavior.

We outline disciplines and deliver sermons and make experiments for regulating our fellow man.

And all the time there's just one thing our fellow man really needs.

There's just one thing that will comfort him in sorrow, or strengthen him in weakness or heal him in viciousness.

AND THAT'S KINDNESS—COMMON HUMAN KINDNESS.

You may flash your glittering battery of science and art.

You may envelop him in psychology and anesthetize him with philosophy.

BUT THE ONLY THING THAT WILL KEEP HIM WHEN FATE IS YANKING AWAY THE UNDERPINNINGS OF HIS SOUL IS THE TOUCH OF A FRIENDLY HAND.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

CONVALESCENCE from an illness is a good time to take a self inventory.

At such a time you are less likely to have flighty day dreams.

You are in sober mood when things present themselves as they are.

For one thing you will realize that you are fortunate if you have good health—to be well, is most important.

You will be convinced that no matter what else you lack, you should not complain if you have good health.

Another thought which should come to you is, how quickly you might become incapable of earning a living.

The latter thought should prompt you to make better use of the days, weeks and months, while you are well and strong and able to work.

As you look back you see weeks and weeks of wasted effort and time.

You might have done something more to improve your income.

You might have gained essential knowledge which would mean increased facilities of brain and resultant gains in income.

You need a saving to be prepared for the future.

If a recent illness gave birth to practical thoughts of the future it was a valuable lesson even if it did cost you something in the way of a doctor's bill.

Bible Passages

Daniel Is Delivered

(Daniel 6, 19-28)

THEN the king arose very early in the morning, and went in haste unto the den of lions.

And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel: and the king spake and said to Daniel, O Daniel, servant of the living God, is thy God, whom thou servest continually, able to deliver thee from the lions?

Then said Daniel unto the king, O king, live for ever.

My God hath sent his angel, and hath shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me: forasmuch as before him innocency was found in me; and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt.

Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den. So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, because he believed in his God.

And the king commanded, and they brought those men which had accused Daniel, and they cast them into the den of lions, them, their children, and their wives; and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones in pieces or ever they came at the bottom of the den.

Then king Darius wrote unto all people, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the earth; Peace be multiplied unto you.

I make a decree, That in every dominion of my kingdom men tremble and fear before the God of Daniel: for he is the living God, and stedfast for ever, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed, and his dominion shall be even unto the end.

He delivereth and rescueth, and he worketh signs and wonders in heaven and in earth, who hath delivered Daniel from the power of the lions.

So this Daniel prospered in the reign of Darius, and in the reign of Cyrus the Persian.

THE TRIBE OF JUDAS

By Herbert Kaufman

GRAFT and corruption are again headliners.

New York's bankruptcy investigation cocks a quizzical eye at both bench and bar.

Chicago is poking the padding out of Sanitary District payrolls.

An Illinois prosecuting attorney has just been sentenced to the penitentiary for silent partnership in the very gang of bootleggers and gunmen whom he helped send to the gallows.

Ohio's State Treasurer stands guilty of conspiring to violate the Volstead Act.

Mr. Rockefeller's campaign to put business ethics above dividend expediency revives nauseous Continental Oil memories. And also reminds the country that its legal nets are still not strong enough to hold big birds of prey.

Colorado taxpayers smell a financial skunk in the Moffat Tunnel.

And Oklahoma, whether right or wrong, is busy impeaching another governor.

Pulpits are thundering how we're plunging to the "demnition bow-wows." The average citizen is wondering if moral fibers haven't begun to unravel.

But calm reflection isn't losing a wink of sleep over the situation.

History, the scandal-monger, recalls repeatedly worse conditions.

Bribery and boodling invaded the Areopagus, and polluted the Roman forum.

John Sobieski, who turned back the tide of Moslem conquest at Vienna, once sold his army—lock, stock and barrel—for Russian gold.

Greed has betrayed the public in every century and government.

Francis Bacon, one of the most profound and illustrious of scholars—successively attorney general, privy councillor and Lord Chancellor in the reign of James I—was "convicted on his own written confession of 23 distinct acts of corruption."

He was the most brilliant man of his day, but he didn't know enough to be honest.

Recent yesterdays exhibit the Tweed ring, the Star Route steals, insurance mal-administration, the Oregon land frauds, the infamous sugar lobby, with its trail of Senatorial seduction, and Spanish War beef contracts.

A certain type and percentage of men will always exploit the opportunity for personal profit.

Temptation incessantly finds work for dirty hands to do—in high places and low.

But character and conscience have so many more servants than rapacity, that an occasional rascal can't destroy faith in the general integrity of rank or file.

All told, Judas left very few descendants.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—Most of us do some "heavy hollering" about the annoyance of tipping in France. As a matter of fact it is nice clean fun if you are stocked up with small change. Compared to American tipping, it is midget stuff. A franc (four cents) tip is equivalent to a quarter tip at home, and received with better grace.

All hotels exact a 10 per cent of the bill tribute, but it doesn't mean anything. You must tip extra when you depart. Servants line up outside the door with palms outstretched, and it takes a braver man than Gungha Din to run the gauntlet.

In cafes, if the pourbois is not considered ample by the waiter he leaves it at your plate as a silent gesture of contempt, and retreats to a far away corner for a good cry. He expects his 10 per cent, as does the wine man. Hotel clerks and often the manager, too, have a sad-eyed look, if you neglect them.

Package boys, in reality gray haired old men, are paid no salaries and consequently if you are out when they make deliveries they return for the tip. A franc is all they expect from an American. From a native 50 centimes or even a sou suffices.

In ordering a round of drinks at a bar, it is customary to leave a franc for the bartender. Few receive salaries. Fitters in the dressmaking parlors expect their five or 10-franc gift. And never, never forget the concierge. If you do, you will probably not get back in the hotel again.

The concierge wears the uniform of servitude, but he is a big shot. In many instances he is a heavy share holder. It is tres difficle to digest the French idea about tipping. Here it hasn't the slightly degrading stigma attached to it in America. They regard it as much their due as the pay envelope at home.

In a barber shop or hair dressing parlor, the attendant who serves walks with you to the cashier's cage. He makes out the check and waits at your side until you hand him his tip. He is not at all abashed by what seems to many bland impertinence. It is the way he was brought up.

One of the most amusing things I have seen in Paris so far is a man's bicycle with a seat of delicate pink plush. Mike Arlen called it the Flossy Fanny.

The most famous cocktail place in the world is a few steps from the rue Cambon entrance of the Ritz. The charm is in its intimacy. It occupies the space of an ordinary hotel room and 10 minutes after it opens at noon and in the late afternoon it is so densely packed no one can get in or out. A gentleman may not enter alone. He must escort a lady. It is patronized chiefly by loose living American divorce set with a sprinkling of Greek and Argentine gigolos. More cocktails are downed here in a day than in all the other American bars combined, and among those glorifying illustrious namesakes are The Mistinguett, The Lindbergh and The Ambassador Herrick. The manager of the cocktail room is Frank Maier, whose autograph book contains the most celebrated roster I ever saw and who is a millionaire.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Of Gifts

I WOULD have youth that gaily goes
Down shining ways, all gold and rose;
That sees hope's rainbow ever bright
When clouds would threaten life's delight,
And finds Earth fair with faith and truth,
Oh, gift of gifts! I would have youth!

I would have power to wrest always
Life's fullest measure from the days,
To taste of all the joys that brim
This glad world's goblet to the rim,
To touch bright dreams to sudden flower.
If I might choose, I would have power.

I must have love . . . youth slips away,
And with it laughter, brave and gay;
The power and pride that make Earth sweet
Must some day crumble in defeat.
Stark cheats at last they will prove;
To meet that hour, I must have love!
